U.S. ULTIMATUM SENT YUGOSLAVIA

British Forces Surround Tel Aviv

Jewish Group Sees "Regime Of Guillotine"

Reported Troop Movement Follows Prediction Of New Operation

SURROUNDING TOWNS SAID TO BE CUT OFF

Stern Gang Threatens Reprisals If 18 Young Jews Are Executed

JERUSALEM, Thursday, Aug. 22 (AP) — Strong British military forces were reported today to have surrounded the all-Jewish city of Tel Aviv and surrounding towns on Palestine's coastal plain.

The reported movement of troops came a short time after a Jewish underground radio station declared that the British were about to start a new operation against the Jews with a "regime of the guillotine and death sentences." The broadcast asserted: "We are prepared to meet this regime."

The residents of Tel Aviv were thrown into a state of excitement by the accidental explosion of a boiler in a mill.

Press dispatches said troops fired flares in various parts of Tel Aviv while strong patrols and mobile police units drove through the city's main streets.

Towns Are Cut Off

The operation was said to have begun shortly before midnight. The towns of Peta Tiqua, Ramatgan, Batian and Rishon Le Zion, were said to have been surrounded and cut off. All roads leading into Tel Aviv were jammed with military traffic.

Spokesmen for Hagana, a Jewish underground organization, told crowds in the city's motion picture theaters that the British were about to start new operations.

The speakers urged the crowds to refuse to co-operate with the Palestine authorities and not to hand over any personal documents.

The Stern Gang, another underground group, has threatened widespread reprisals to Palestine officials, police and British military personnel if 18 young Jews sentenced to death are executed.

Leaflets signed by the Stern Gang appeared on Tel Aviv walls Tuesday night.

"In case you should hang," the leaflets said in addressing their sentenced comrades, "you can be assured that none of your hangmen will survive you."

Special Alert Likely

Meanwhile, the 18 youths, condemned to death by a Haifa court last Friday for firing on British soldiers during a night of sabotage, awaited confirmation of their fate or commutation to life imprisonment by the British commanding officer.

Although Palestine government officials and British military leaders had considered the possibility of underground reprisals following the death sentences, the Stern Gang had remained silent until last night.

There was no immediate indication that any extraordinary precautions had been put into force as a result of the threats, but it was assumed generally that Palestine government officials would be guarded closely and that police and military would be placed on special alert.

U. S., Reds Head For Showdown On Dardanelles

Western Powers-Russian Relations Hit Lowest Point Since War

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—The United States called today for a halt in expansion of Russian power over other nations, emphatically rejecting a Soviet demand seen here as a bid for domination of the Dardanelles.

High officials said the action is a move for a showdown with Russia over expansion of its spheres of control in Europe and Asia. The real issue, they said, is the independence of Turkey and beyond that the sovereignity of Iraq, Afghanistan and other nations on the borders of Indian and possibly China.

Coming on top of the angry dispute with Soviet-supported Yugoslavia over firing on American airplanes, undercovered concern here over the mysterious rocket barrage against Sweden, and conflicts with Communist-dominated Balkan states, the action on the Dardanelles reduced relations between the western powers and Russia to the lowest point since the end of the war.

Mediterranean "Task Force"

As the diplomatic relations reached this stage, a navy spokesman disclosed that two cruisers and three destroyers will accompany the powerful new aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt on its "training cruise" into the Mediterranean. The carrier sailed from Lisbon today.

This will bring the strength of American naval forces in the Mediterranean to one crack carrier, four cruisers and seven destroyers—a medium-sized task force by wartime standards.

The rejection of the Soviet demand on the Dardanelles was contained in a note sent to the Russian government through its embassy here and made public by the State Department. In the note the United States announced its readiness to participate in an international conference on the future of the straits and this was interpreted

Azusa, Calif., Blast Takes Eight Lives

Explosion Wrecks Plant Of Aero-Jet Engineering Corporation

AZUSA, Calif., Aug. 21 (AP)—At least eight persons were killed and more than a score injured today as a terrific explosion of volatile fuels wrecked the Azusa plant of Aero-Jet Engineering Corporation.

The blast, originating in a mixing plant, jarred the Los Angeles area, and was felt within a 30-mile radius.

The plant manufactures jet-assisted takeoff units for Navy aircraft, powerful explosives designed to give heavy bombers and fast fighters additional power on takeoffs by rocket-like thrusts.

Because of the danger attached to manufacture of its products, Aero-Jet built its plant around several structures instead of into one building. Fire, spreading quickly after the explosion, caused considerable damage to the property.

Sheriff's officers said the seven dead were civilian employees and that there might be other victims in the wreckage. The fire was quelled within an hour, equipment from neighboring cities being pressed into immediate service.

Some of the injured were taken to Monrovia, Temple City and Covina.

Navy officers from the Bureau of Aeronautics took charge of the plant. Many of the products of the corporation are classified by the armed services as secret.

Officers of the 11th Naval District at San Diego said no naval personnel was among those killed but that one Navy man was injured. The Navy sources said the fire started in the mixing room where fuels are prepared for jet engines and spread quickly to other combustibles.

Four Die In Oklahoma Blast

TRIBBEY, Okla., Aug. 21 (AP)—Four persons were killed tonight in a butane explosion which occurred when a lighted cigaret lighter ignited gas accumulated in a Tribbey home.

Mrs. Troy West, 35, and her one-month-old son, Carey Lynn, were killed instantly, while Troy West, 40, and Janice Rice, 14, a neighbor, died in a hospital a few hours after the blast.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Hart said the explosion occurred when Kenneth Tate, 19, who was helping Mr. and Mrs. William Parker move into the other side of the West's duplex, lit a cigaret lighter, igniting gas which had accumulated while a stove was being installed.

State Department Accused By Crum

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Bartley C. Crum, former member of the Anglo-American Palestine Commission, today accused "middle level" State Department officials and the British of secretly thwarting efforts to set up a Jewish national home in Palestine.

He said obstructive tactics had been employed in the State Department for 26 years and that the British have an "unspoken alliance" with Arab leaders, based on a fear of "war against a major power—notably Russia."

Crum told a luncheon gathering attended by several prominent government officials, including Secretary of the Treasury Snyder, that he had learned of the State Department attitude after examining "secret files" while a member of the commission.

"We found for every promise made by the President, for every resolution passed by Congress from 1920 on, our State Department in secret cables to the Arabs assured them nothing would be done."

"How is it possible for the President to insist on a forthright policy and then have these gentlemen in the middle level not carry out his instructions?" Crum asked.

Crum asserted that many career officers in the State Department "are in effect captives of the British social lobby in Washington."

Asked if he would name some of the "middle level" officials he referred to, Crum said: "I think it would be a salutary thing if Mr. Loy Henderson's resignation were requested."

Henderson, chief of the Middle and Near Eastern Division, has been one of the main State Department officials concerned with the Palestine situation. He declined to comment on Crum's statement.

U. S. Transport Plane Crashed In Yugoslavia

Wreckage Of Craft Is Found Two Miles From Austrian Border

TWO OF FIVE-MAN CREW PARACHUTED TO SAFETY

Ambassador Patterson To Confer With Marshal Tito Today

BELGRADE, Aug. 21. (AP) — The wreckage of the American military transport plane which was shot down in flames by Yugoslav fighters north of Bled Monday lies approximately two miles from the Austrian border, it was learned tonight.

The wreckage was just inside Yugoslav territory.

(This dispatch did not speculate on whether the air attack which forced the American plane down occurred over Austrian or Yugoslav territory.

(Yugoslavia has based its reason for the attack on the contention that United States aircraft have repeatedly flown over Yugoslav territory despite the protest of Premier Marshal Tito's government).

It also has been learned that representatives of the United States Graves Registration Commission to leave Belgrade and search the wreckage for the bodies of three American Air Force personnel believed to have been killed when the transport crashed to earth and exploded.

United States authorities in Belgrade have received notification from the Yugoslav government that two members of the five-man crew parachuted to safety, thus indicating that both survivors now are in the custody of Yugoslav authorities.

Patterson, Tito To Confer

United States Ambassador Richard C. Patterson personally will confer tomorrow at Bled with Marshal Tito on the shooting down of unarmed American transport planes, an action which the Yugoslav premier strongly defended.

Tito, alleging repeated violations by planes of Yugoslav territory, accused "certain countries" of striving for "an imperialistic peace," and declared Yugoslavia did not want a "peace" at any price such as "is wanted by those who wish to achieve their imperialistic aims at the expense of peoples who have sacrificed for the common cause all they possibly could."

The embassy also pressed for information concerning two crew members who parachuted from the blazing C-47 Monday in the vicinity of the Austrian-Yugoslav frontier, and for the release of seven American crewmen of the C-47 shot down August 9, who now are in their thirtenth day of internment in a Ljubljana hotel.

The Yugoslav foreign ministry's note last night asknowledging the shooting down Monday of the transport which was on a routine flight from Vienna to Udine, said there probably were casualties.

The Yugoslav Army began an immediate search for the two men who parachuted from the plane, and there was reason to believe they had been found, but like the American nationals in the August 9 incident, were being held incommunicado.

Little Hope Held For Trio

Little hope could be held out, in the light of the foreign ministry statement, that the other three members of the crew could have survived the crash. Only five were aboard the ship—three officers and two enlisted men.

(In Berlin, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States European theater commander, announced that United States air transport flights between Vienna and Udine were

Tito Given 48 Hours To Free Yankee Fliers

U.N. Action Will Be Taken If Demands Are Not Complied With

Bitterly Caustic Note Says Forcing Down Of Planes Unjustified

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—In an angry ultimatum, the United States tonight gave Yugoslavia 48 hours to free imprisoned American airmen and to permit this nation's diplomatic representatives to investigate the disappearance of an Army plane near Marshal Tito's summer home.

A bitterly caustic note—the sharpest issued by this government since Pearl Harbor—accused Yugoslavia of a "plain violation" of international law and the United Nations' Charter and said that the Yugoslav explanation was "wholly inadequate" and shocking to the people of the United States.

"If, within that time (48 hours) these demands are not complied with, the United States government will call the Security Council of the United Nations to meet promptly and to take the appropriate action," the note said.

It was handed to Sergije Makiedo, Yugoslav's charge d'affaires in Washington by Undersecretary of State Acheson shortly after 5 p. m. (EST)—a few hours after a transatlantic telephone conversation between Acheson and Secretary of State Byrnes in Paris.

Attack Unjustified

"The use of force by Yugoslavia (in forcing down American transport planes near Trieste)" the note said, "under the circumstances was without the slightest justification in international law, was clearly inconsistent with relations between friendly states, and was a plain violation of the obligations resting upon Yugoslavia under the Charter of the United Nations not to use forct except in self defense.

"At no time did the Yugoslav government advise the United States government if one of its planes, because of weather, be forced a mile

U. S. Appeal Could Make Or Break U.N., Authorities Assert

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Diplomatic authorities said tonight an American appeal to the United Nations Security Council for action against Yugoslavia could make or break that organization.

They noted that it would be probably the supreme test of the veto system of the big powers in the council.

If the United States made a legitimate case against Yugoslavia for shooting down American planes, and if Russia then used its veto to block action by the council—or if it used its veto even to prevent a council inquiry—these authorities said that the council would lose prestige and prove itself incapable of action to a possibly fatal extent.

Retail Meat Price Ceilings Will Be Restored September 9; Porter Pledges Drive On Black Markets

Austria Requests Parley To Settle Tyrolese Dispute

Barrage Of Claims Against Italy Are Loosed At Conference

PARIS, Aug. 21 (AP) —Austrian Foreign Minister Karl Gruber appealed to the 21-nation peace conference today to settle his nations dispute with Italy over the South Tyrol, and to give Austria a part in the international administration of Trieste.

Gruber was one of six spokesmen for for non-member nations invited to the plenary session, several of whom loosed a barrage of claims against Italy's territory and assets—the largest plums before the conference.

Albania, Mexico and Egypt all asked for reparations from the Italians. In addition, Egypt demanded frontier rectifications in North Africa and appealed for recognition of Libya as an independent nation with its administration in transition under a member of the Arab League. Only Cuba had no claims against the Italians.

Flour Ceilings To Be Hiked Seven Cents Per 100 Pounds Friday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Price Administrator Paul Porter announced today that retail meat price ceilings will be restored September 9 and promised to "throw the book" at black marketeers.

"There is no substantial basis for reports that we are going back to widespread black markets," he told a news conference. "I hope packers will devote a substantial part of their energy to make recontrol work —at least as much energy as they devoted to trying to get rid of decontrols."

Industry spokesman and other foes of meat controls already are predicting the possible return of black markets and scarcities.

A statement by the United States Chamber of Commerce declared that "the order unquestionably will reduce the meat supply" because grains, left uncontrolled, will "drain" into "production not under control."

At the same time the CIO released a statement from its president, Philip Murray, contending that "recontrolling of meats means very little when livestock and poultry feed products are left free of controls." Murray announced the CIO will urge the new Decontrol Board to "reinstitute ceilings on all items which it failed to control."

Flour Ceilings To Be Raised

Porter announced that flour price ceilings will be raised seven cents per 100 pounds Friday to reflect a higher parity price on wheat.

He set September 9 as the date for restoring retail ceilings on salad and cooking oils, and September 3 for reimposing ceilings at all levels on soy beans, flaxseed and by-product feed grains.

Porter renewed his previous statements that the new meat price ceiling will be "at or near" the levels of those which died June 30. He explained that increases on some meats probably will be necessary to meet parity price requirements, and emphasized:

"I have been careful to say that the new ceilings will be at or near June 30 levels."

The ceilings will be restored on a staggered plan which will put them into effect on livestock August 29, at the packing house September 1, at wholesale levels September 5, and in the retail butcher shop September 9.

Porter explained that the OPA and the Agriculture Department de-

"Pappy" Boyington's Theft Charges Against Woman He Jilted Dismissed

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 21 (AP)—Lt. Col. Gregory "Pappy" Boyington's grand theft charges against Mrs. Lucy Malcolmson were dismissed as groundless here today and the famed Marine Corps fighter pilot got back a suitcase of clothes and a Navy Cross.

The charges brought by Boyington against the woman he admittedly jilted last January to marry another were dismissed by Municipal Judge Eugene Daney, Jr., as he abruptly ended a preliminary hearing.

Boyington's suitcase, which he had left with the clothing and Navy Cross at Mrs. Malcolmson's Reno residence, were handed to him by her attorney, Richard Cantillon, Los Angeles.

"Is this all I get out of it?" asked the 32-year-old hero of three years of Pacific fighting and Japanese imprisonment. "Who is going to pay the income tax?"

Boyington had Mrs. Malcolmson, 35, arrested several months ago on charges she had embezzled $8,800 of her handling of his financial affairs, nearly $20,000 he had entrusted to her during his years at war.

She maintained that she had spent more than the $8,800 in dispute in traveling and other expenses authorized by Boyington in connection with their marriage plans.

They first met in 1942 on a ship enroute from Bombay to New York. Before going to the South Pacific the first of 1943, Boyington left her his entire estate in a will and had a petition drawn for her to adopt two of his children by his first marriage. He entrusted his Marine pay to a bank account in her name.

She testified during the hearing that she was never able to get the children "out of the State of Washington," where they are still with their grandmother.

Boyington announced their marriage plans, he admitted at the hearing, after returning from Japan. He said he broke off with her last January 3, five days before he married Frances Baker, 32, Hollywood, because he "became suspicious" of

Presidential Yacht, Bermuda-Bound Pitches And Rolls In Gulf Stream

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN EN ROUTE TO BERMUDA, Aug. 21 (AP) —The presidential yacht Williamsburg pitched and rolled today over blue Gulf stream waters carrying President Truman to a landing tomorrow in Bermuda.

The "moderate" seas splashed the forecastle of the Navy ship Weiss which trailed the Williamsburg and bounced both ships about considerably.

Most of the seasickness among reporters and photographers in the Weiss had cleared up today. The president and his party took frequent "naps" yesterday, but sleepiness was officially given as the reason.

The official party turned out on the decks of the Williamsburg this morning to enable photographers to get pictures of the pitching and rolling ship. Hearty greetings were waved by the President, Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, Col. Wallace Graham, presidential physician; Ted Marks, Kansas City; Special Counsel Clark Clifford, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide, and Capt. James H. Foskett, naval aide.

Ross, who communicates with the newsmen on the Weiss by radiotelephone, passed up his morning call today, sending word that he had "absolutely no news."

The President yesterday scrapped plans for a vacation in New England waters, heading his yacht for warmer waters to the south.

The ships will berth in the American naval operating base in Bermuda, where they will refuel and take on water and food before continuing the cruise in the Gulf stream.

Ross has not indicated how long the President will remain there or what the next port of call will be. Only a brief official ceremony, probably an exchange of greetings between Mr. Truman and the British governor-general, will take place.

The vacation will last until the Williamsburg returns to Washington September 2.

The Yugoslav foreign ministry's note last night asknowledging the shooting down Monday of the transport which was on a routine flight from Vienna to Udine, said there probably were casualties.

The Yugoslav Army began an immediate search for the two men who parachuted from the plane, and there was reason to believe they had been found, but like the American nationals in the August 9 incident, were being held incommunicado.

Little Hope Held For Trio

Little hope could be held out, in the light of the foreign ministry statement, that the other three members of the crew could have survived the crash. Only five were aboard the ship—three officers and two enlisted men.

(In Berlin, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States European theater commander, announced that United States air transport flights between Vienna and Udine were

Tito Given 48 Hours To Free Yankee Fliers

U.N. Action Will Be Taken If Demands Are Not Complied With

Bitterly Caustic Note Says Forcing Down Of Planes Unjustified

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—(AP)—In an angry ultimatum, the United States tonight gave Yugoslavia 48 hours to free imprisoned American airmen and to permit this nation's diplomatic representatives to investigate the disappearance of an Army plane near Marshal Tito's summer home.

A bitterly caustic note—the sharpest issued by this government since Pearl Harbor—accused Yugoslavia of a "plain violation" of international law and the United Nations' Charter and said that the Yugoslav explanation was "wholly inadequate" and shocking to the people of the United States.

"If, within that time (48 hours) these demands are not complied with, the United States government will call the Security Council of the United Nations to meet promptly and to take the appropriate action," the note said.

It was handed to Sergije Makiedo, Yugoslav's charge d'affaires in Washington by Undersecretary of State Acheson shortly after 5 p. m. (EST)—a few hours after a transatlantic telephone conversation between Acheson and Secretary of State Byrnes in Paris.

Attack Unjustified

"The use of force by Yugoslavia (in forcing down American transport planes near Trieste)" the note said, "under the circumstances was without the slightest justification in international law, was clearly inconsistent with relations between friendly states, and was a plain violation of the obligations resting upon Yugoslavia under the Charter of the United Nations not to use force except in self defense.

"At no time did the Yugoslav government advise the United States government if one of its planes, because of weather, be forced a mile

U. S. Appeal Could Make Or Break U.N., Authorities Assert

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Diplomatic authorities said tonight an American appeal to the United Nations Security Council for action against Yugoslavia could make or break that organization.

They noted that it would be probably the supreme test of the veto system of the big powers in the council.

If the United States made a legitimate case against Yugoslavia for shooting down American planes, and if Russia then used its veto to block action by the council—or if it used its veto even to prevent a council inquiry—these authorities said that the council would lose prestige and prove itself incapable of action to a possibly fatal extent.

Retail Meat Price Ceilings Will Be Restored September 9; Porter Pledges Drive On Black Markets

Austria Requests Parley To Settle Tyrolese Dispute

Barrage Of Claims Against Italy Are Loosed At Conference

PARIS, Aug. 21 (AP) —Austrian Foreign Minister Karl Gruber appealed to the 21-nation peace conference today to settle his nations dispute with Italy over the South Tyrol, and to give Austria a part in the international administration of Trieste.

Gruber was one of six spokesmen for for non-member nations invited to the plenary session, several of whom loosed a barrage of claims against Italy's territory and assets—the largest plums before the conference.

Albania, Mexico and Egypt all asked for reparations from the Italians. In addition, Egypt demanded frontier rectifications in North Africa and appealed for recognition of Libya as an independent nation with its administration in transition under a member of the Arab League. Only Cuba had no claims against the Italians.

Flour Ceilings To Be Hiked Seven Cents Per 100 Pounds Friday

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — Price Administrator Paul Porter announced today that retail meat price ceilings will be restored September 9 and promised to "throw the book" at black marketeers.

"There is no substantial basis for reports that we are going back to widespread black markets," he told a news conference. "I hope packers will devote a substantial part of their energy to make recontrol work—at least as much energy as they devoted to trying to get rid of decontrols."

Industry spokesman and other foes of meat controls already are predicting the possible return of black markets and scarcities.

A statement by the United States Chamber of Commerce declared that "the order unquestionably will reduce the meat supply" because grains, left uncontrolled, will "drain" into "production not under control."

At the same time the CIO released a statement from its president, Philip Murray, contending that "recontrolling of meats means very little when livestock and poultry feed products are left free of controls." Murray announced the CIO will urge the new Decontrol Board to "reinstitute ceilings on all items which it failed to control."

Flour Ceilings To Be Raised

Porter announced that flour price ceilings will be raised seven cents per 100 pounds Friday to reflect a higher parity price on wheat.

He set September 9 as the date for restoring retail ceilings on salad and cooking oils, and September 3 for reimposing ceilings at all levels on soy beans, flaxseed and by-product feed grains.

Porter renewed his previous statements that the new meat price ceiling will be "at or near" the levels of those which died June 30. He explained that increases on some meats probably will be necessary to meet parity price requirements, and emphasized:

"I have been careful to say that the new ceilings will be at or near June 30 levels."

The ceilings will be restored on a staggered plan which will put them into effect on livestock August 29, at the packing house September 1, at wholesale levels September 5, and in the retail butcher shop September 9.

Porter explained that the OPA and the Agriculture Department de-

NUM And Standard Oil Of Indiana Reach "Tentative Understanding"

DETROIT, Aug. 21. (AP)—The first apparent "break" in the week-old Great Lakes shipping strike was reported at Chicago tonight by Federal Conciliator Noel P. Fox who said a "tentative understanding" had been reached by negotiators for Standard Oil Company of Indiana and the CIO National Maritime Union.

Fox said terms of the proposal would be submitted to union members tomorrow for ratification. He declared that Standard operates a fleet of five tankers.

"Pappy" Boyington's Theft Charges Against Woman He Jilted Dismissed

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 21 (AP)—Lt. Col. Gregory "Pappy" Boyington's grand theft charges against Mrs. Lucy Malcolmson were dismissed as groundless here today and the famed Marine Corps fighter pilot got back a suitcase of clothes and a Navy Cross.

The charges brought by Boyington against the woman he admittedly jilted last January to marry another were dismissed by Municipal Judge Eugene Daney, Jr., as he abruptly ended a preliminary hearing.

Boyington's suitcase, which he had left with the clothing and Navy Cross at Mrs. Malcolmson's Reno residence, were handed to him by her attorney, Richard Cantillon, Los Angeles.

"Is this all I get out of it?" asked the 32-year-old hero of three years of Pacific fighting and Japanese imprisonment. "Who is going to pay the income tax?"

Boyington had Mrs. Malcolmson, 35, arrested several months ago on charges she had embezzled $6,800 of her handling of his financial affairs, nearly $20,000 he had entrusted to her during his years at war.

She maintained that she had spent more than the $8,800 in dispute in traveling and other expenses authorized by Boyington in connection with their marriage plans.

They first met in 1942 on a ship enroute from Bombay to New York. Before going to the South Pacific the first of 1943, Boyington left her his entire estate in a will and had a petition drawn for her to adopt two of his children by his first marriage. He entrusted his Marine pay to a bank account in her name.

She testified during the hearing that she was never able to get the children "out of the State of Washington," where they are still with their grandmother.

Boyington announced their marriage plans, he admitted at the hearing, after returning from Japan. He said he broke off with her last January 3, five days before he married Frances Baker, 32, Hollywood, because he "became suspicious" of

Presidential Yacht, Bermuda-Bound Pitches And Rolls In Gulf Stream

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN EN ROUTE TO BERMUDA, Aug. 21 (AP)—The presidential yacht Williamsburg pitched and rolled today over blue Gulf stream waters carrying President Truman to a landing tomorrow in Bermuda.

The "moderate" seas splashed the forecastle of the Navy ship Weiss which trailed the Williamsburg and bounced both ships about considerably.

Most of the seasickness among reporters and photographers in the Weiss had cleared up today. The president and his party took frequent "naps" yesterday, but sleepiness was officially given as the reason.

The official party turned out on the decks of the Williamsburg this morning to enable photographers to get pictures of the pitching and rolling ship. Hearty greetings were waved by the President, Press Secretary Charles G. Ross, Col. Wallace Graham, presidential physician; Ted Marks, Kansas City; Special Counsel Clark Clifford, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide, and Capt. James H. Foskett, naval aide.

Ross, who communicates with the newsmen on the Weiss by radiotelephone, passed up his morning call today, sending word that he had "absolutely no news."

The President yesterday scrapped plans for a vacation in New England waters, heading his yacht for warmer waters to the south.

The ships will berth in the American naval operating base in Bermuda, where they will refuel and take on water and food before continuing the cruise in the Gulf stream.

Ross has not indicated how long the President will remain there or what the next port of call will be. Only a brief official ceremony, probably an exchange of greetings between Mr. Truman and the British governor-general, will take place.

The vacation will last until the Williamsburg returns to Washington September 2.

Housing Front "Push" Planned By Wilson Wyatt

Expediter Hints At Deep New Cut In Non-Residential Building

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt tonight announced a "big push" on the housing front, hinting at a deep new cut in non-residential building to check the drain of materials away from new homes.

Some of his aides disclosed that Wyatt proposes a 30 to 50 per cent cut in the already reduced volume of office, store and factory construction.

The aim of "a series of sweeping steps" now being prepared, Wyatt said in a statement, is to speed completion before winter of thousands of homes and apartments started this year but not finished, and to get more new homes under way.

Final Decision Not Reached

Final decision on the slash in non-residential building has not been reached by Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small, housing officials reported, but they indicated Small had agreed in principle to a reduction.

"Tough action is needed and such action is justified at the present time," Wyatt declared.

The Housing Administrator was not specific about the orders to be issued by the end of this month, but said they would include:

1. Setting aside a "much greater volumt of materials for housing than in the past."

2. Compliance action to insure that such materials actually are held by manufacturers and dealers for contractors building homes.

3. Doubling of the number of materials subject to priority control, which now contains only 25 materials.

Wyatt outlined the program before a meeting of the Veterans' Advisory Council today. Veterans organizations have been protesting vigorously in recent weeks that the housing program was bogging down.

Special Session Urged

Meanwhile, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., urged that a special session of Congress be called in November to act on veterans' housing legislation which he said has been "sabotaged" on Capitol Hill.

Charging that veterans have been victims of "one of the greatest runarounds and smoke screens in history," Roosevelt, chairman of the American Veterans' Committee housing group, told a news conference he will write Mr. Truman tomorrow requesting:

1. That the White House order an iron-clad and direct allocation of all building materials with 90 per cent going to homes construction.

2. That Mr. Truman summon a special session immediately after the election to pass the Wagner-Ellender-Taft long-range housing bill, which contemplates erection of 1,300,000 dwellings a year for the next ten years.

"The deliberate firing on without warning of an unarmed passenger plane of a friendly nation is in the judgment of the United Nations an offense against the law of nations and the principles of humanity."

"Demands" Laid Down

Then the American government formally laid down its "demands:"

1. "That you immediately release the occupants of these planes now in your custody and that you insure their safe passage beyond the borders of Yugoslavia."

2. "The government of the United States also demands that its representatives be permitted to communicate with any of the occupants of the two planes who are still alive."

The note dealt with the action of Yugoslav fighters in forcing down an American Army transport August 9, in the course of which one passenger was injured, and the disappearance of a second plane a few days ago amid reports that it was seen descending in flames after cannon shots were heard.

"If within 48 hours from the receipt of this note by the Yugoslav government, these demands are complied with the United States government will determine its course in the light of the evidence then secured and the efforts of the Yugoslav government to right the wrong done," the note said.

Deadline 48 Hours After Receipt

"If, however, within that time these demands are not complied with, the United States government will call upon the Security Council of the United Nations to meet promptly and to take appropriate action."

Such a course would mark the first time this country had raised an issue on behalf of itself before the Security Council.

The deadline for the Yugoslav action State Department attaches said, will be 48 hours after receipt of the note in Belgrade.

If the issue goes to the Security Council, it would be sure to bring a full-dress debate and a showdown which might provide a clear cut and grave test of the ability of the international agency to maintain peace.

by some diplomatic authorities as a declaration of American intentions to have a powerful voice in all major Mediterranean affairs.

In Ankara, British and American diplomats were reported conferring with top Turkish officials to make clear the full backing of the United States and Britain to Turkey in resisting any Russian encroachment on that country's domain.

Direct Warning To Russia

Britain has taken the same position on the straits as the American government.

In what appeared to be a direct warning to Russia against any kind of aggressive action, the American note signed by Undersecretary of State Acheson declared:

"It is the firm opinion of this government that Turkey should continue to be primarily responsible for the defense of the straits. Should the straits become the object of attack or threat of attack by an aggressor, the resulting situation would constitute a threat to international security and would clearly be a matter for action on the part of the Security Council of the United Nations."

From the highest official sources, it was learned that the American policy on the straits and Turkey was decided upon only after conferences among military and diplomatic chiefs and a White House conference last week at which all the potentialities of such a course were reviewed, including the possibility that some kind of armed action might eventually result.

Estonians Who Crossed Ocean In Small Boat Are Refused Permission To Land

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 21 (AP)—Eighteen sea-going refugees from Estonia sailed into Miami's harbor today after crossing the Atlantic in a 38-foot sloop only to be refused permission to land.

Eleven men, six wives and a pretty, yellow-haired 5-year-old girl, had been at sea for 30 days on the last leg of their voyage, from Spanish Maderia.

They started from Sweden May 30, made one stop in England, and have been at sea almost continuously for two and a half months.

With not one valid immigration permit in the whole lot, Immigration Director Francis J. H. Dever said he had no choice but to refuse them permission to land. It appeared they would have to move on after replenishing their supplies.

"We had hoped we could stay," said young Felix Tandre, skipper and navigator of the sloop Inarda. "I believe we could have been good Americans. I don't know where we will go, but it won't be back to Estonia."

He gave the reason for the flight into Sweden, during the German occupation, and the crowded voyage:

"We lived under both Germar and Russian rule. I will tell you here in America what I have been afraid to say before—there is no choice between those two.

"Under both German and Russian rule our houses would be entered in the dead of night. Neighbors would disappear without a trace. Liberty has left Estonia.

"If we must go on, we will, even if we must travel all the way to Australia. Our ship is small, but it has taken us this far. They can't take the sea away from us."

was postponed until tomorrow, when Iran, whose delegation did not arrive in time today, was scheduled to present her views.

Albania and Cuba both demanded full membership in the conference. In addition, Albania asked that the Italian treaty draft be mended to permit her to sign that treaty.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, appearing at the conference for the first time, presided at the session. He seemed well recovered from the illness which had kept him in London.

Gruber, appearing on an equal status with the other representatives of the invited nations, said Austria sought nothing more than to continue her "peaceful and steady life" But by inference he reiterated to the conference his former stand that the problem of the South Tyrol be settled by a plebiscite, asking a solution to which the South Tyrolese themselves "may give free and whole-hearted approval."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Intolerance is one of the great curses of this world. It is food for wars, broken friendships, unhappy homes, and plays havoc wherever it exercises its destructive spirit. There must have been a sound and solid reason why the Creator made so many different kinds of people, scattered them about the earth, and put them to work.

The very fact that we all have a mind that is flexible, yet with the privilege to use it as an independent medium, should make us proud to own it, and happy that others have been granted the same gift.

We must bear in mind that there are grades of intelligence, and from early birth tendencies are created which shape character. The poor do not have the ideals of the rich, nor do the educated become satisfied to stay upon one strata of mind development. Millions of people go so far, and are content to go no further. They establish a level and camp there! But they are human beings, deserving of the fruits of their own opinions and birthright.

None of our experiences are the same. We are all enveloped by influences. Each one of us has something in common with all humanity. Our tastes differ, our opinions and our ideals, but everyone has something for his fellowman, the same as his fellowman has something for him. Happiness should be universal, though of course, it cannot be distributed equally to all — but the opportunity for it can be.

Every observance teaches us, as well as all the development of civilization, that we should seek earnestly to cultivate a tolerant mind, respecting the opinions, the circumstances of birth, and the hardships endured by others, as a guide to our appraisement of them.

We are born with a free will, and it can be exercised in a free country. But there is no room anywhere for intolerance in a right world, and it's a right and better world in which we are all interested.

Intolerance is mostly misunderstanding. We should transplant something of ourselves in others, that we might praise more, and judge less, thereby cultivating an ever-abiding tolerant mind.

Apparent "Break"

The Chicago development came a short time after three tanker companies, involved in the strike, telegraphed from Cleveland an appeal to President Truman "to take prompt action to require the NMU to live up to its agreement to operate such vessels until December 10, 1946."

The three companies Cleveland Tankers, Inc., Cleveland; Lake Tankers, Inc., New York and Great Lakes Transport, of Detroit—said "94 per cent of all tanker vessels operating on the Great Lakes are tied up as a result of the strike by the National Maritime Union."

"The timing of this strike is important to the public interest because navigation on the Great Lakes closes for 18 weeks beginning December 1," they added.

Officials at NMU strike headquarters in Detroit said they had no knowledge of the reported Chicago developments.

They released a brief statement, however, assailing Duluth police for their part in a fracas with NMU pickets in the Minnesota city today.

cancelled until further notice and that he would confer with Gen. W. D. Morgan, Allied Mediterranean commander, on measures to protest Allied planes.

(In Paris, Secretary of State Byrnes had a frank talk on all aspects of the Yugoslav situation with Yugoslav Vice-Premier Edvard Kardelj, an American peace conference delegation spokesman said.)

Tito, in his speech to workers at the Jesenice steel works near Bled yesterday, said he witnessed the downing of one of the American planes, but denied previous American protestations that it had been lost in the clouds.

American accounts of the August 9 incident had said the Yugoslav fighters gave no signal to land and fired upon the plane when it already had landed. Tito characterized these statements as "slanders" against his army, adding that "all this is not true, as I have been myself a witness to this event."

UNRRA Leader's Charges Denied By Gen. McNarney

Commander In Europe Says LaGuardia's Accusations "Baseless"

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (AP) — Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States commander in Europe, caustically attacked UNRRA Director-General F. H. LaGuardia today for "baseless and incorrect" charges against the United States Army.

McNarney bluntly denied LaGuardia's charges that the United States Army opposed UNRRA's aims in care and repatriation of displaced persons, and asserted his headquarters had supported the program "in every way to ensure success."

He supported LaGuardia's view that UNRRA was not being used as an "espionage umbrella" for Russian secret agents in the American zone, saying "we know of very few cases of agents of any type who operated under the cloak of UNRRA."

"Of these, only one has been positively identified as an Nkvd (Russian police) agent," he said.

This agent, he added, was a woman who was being sent back to the Soviet zone today.

Meanwhile Meyer Cohen took over as acting UNRRA director of displaced persons activities, succeeding British Lt. Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan.

Cohen said he was "consolidating the displaced persons operation" and officials in his headquarters at Arolsen said this meant UNRRA would eliminate "unnecessary functions as a step looking forward to the time when UNRRA ends."

One spokesman said an Army-UNRRA plan to encourage repatriation of Polish displaced persons by providing them with 60 to 90 days rations would start soon. It is a matter, he said, of logistics, for "the Army has to get the food here."

He declared that LaGuardia had visited him in Frankfurt before going to Geneva, and had been fully acquainted with the Army's aims.

cided upon the staggered time schedule in order to "clean out overceiling meat" which dealers have on hand.

Pledging vigorous efforts to enforce the ceilings, Porter said:

"We will have twice as many investigators on meat as we ever had before. We will hit a level of 2,500 investigators in September—easily double the previous number."

Bread Ceilings To Be Cut

Bread ceilings, recently increased by one cent a loaf, will be cut by the same amount as soon as restrictions on the milling of flour have been lifted by the Agriculture Department, Porter said. He had no information on when these restrictions may be removed.

Asked whether OPA plans to remove ceilings on flour, Porter said controls will remain in effect as long as the curb on milling of wheat does.

As for the board's order that dairy products and most grains remain uncontrolled, Porter commented:

"I would have to be less than candid if I did not expess disappointment that the board was unable to find a basis for recontrol of dairy products.

"However, the board had no alternative, since it did not find that prices on these products had risen unreasonably."

Will Watch Dairy Prices

Porter was asked whether OPA plans to keep a sharp eye on dairy product prices.

"Indeed we do," he replied. "I expect we will be in trouble on the dairy situation this fall.

"It's hard to catch a horse after he's out of the barn door, but I expect we'll have to lasso him.'

A reporter inquired whether Porter wanted to make it a cow, instead of a horse.

"Yes," Porter said, "You'd better make it a cow."

Here are dates when price ceilings will be restored on fats and oils:

Tank oils, crude and refined, August 23; consumer products, such as salad oils and mayonnaise, at manufacturing levels, August 30; nonmanufacturing distributors of end products, September 4.

These dates were fixed for restoration of ceilings on grains and feeds:

Soybeans, September 3; flaxseed September 3; mixed feeds, August 26; by-product feeds, September 3.

Housing Front "Push" Planned By Wilson Wyatt

Expediter Hints At Deep New Cut In Non-Residential Building

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—Housing Expediter Wilson W. Wyatt tonight announced a "big push" on the housing front, hinting at a deep new cut in non-residential building to check the drain of materials away from new homes.

1. "That you immediately release the occupants of these planes now in your custody and that you insure their safe passage beyond the borders of Yugoslavia."

2. "The government of the United States also demands that its representatives be permitted to communicate with any of the occupants of the two planes who are still alive."

The note dealt with the action of Yugoslav fighters in forcing down an American Army transport August 9, in the course of which one passenger was injured, and the disappearance of a second plane a few days ago amid reports that it was seen descending in flames after cannon shots were heard.

"If within 48 hours from the receipt of this note by the Yugoslav government, these demands are complied with the United States government will determine its course in the light of the evidence then secured and the efforts of the Yugoslav government to right the wrong done," the note said.

Deadline 48 Hours After Receipt

"If, however, within that time these demands are not complied with, the United States government will call upon the Security Council of the United Nations to meet promptly and to take appropriate action."

Such a course would mark the first time this country had raised an issue on behalf of itself before the Security Council.

The deadline for the Yugoslav action State Department attaches said, will be 48 hours after receipt of the note in Belgrade.

If the issue goes to the Security Council, it would be sure to bring a full-dress debate and a showdown which might provide a clear cut and grave test of the ability of the international agency to maintain peace.

by some diplomatic authorities as a declaration of American intentions to have a powerful voice in all major Mediterranean affairs.

In Ankara, British and American diplomats were reported conferring with top Turkish officials to make clear the full backing of the United States and Britain to Turkey in resisting any Russian encroachment on that country's domain.

Direct Warning To Russia

Britain has taken the same position on the straits as the American government.

In what appeared to be a direct warning to Russia against any kind of aggressive action, the American note signed by Undersecretary of State Acheson declared:

"It is the firm opinion of this government that Turkey should continue to be primarily responsible for the defense of the straits. Should the straits become the object of attack or threat of attack by an aggressor, the resulting situation would constitute a threat to international security and would clearly be a matter for action on the part of the Security Council of the United Nations."

From the highest official sources, it was learned that the American policy on the straits and Turkey was decided upon only after conferences among military and diplomatic chiefs and a White House conference last week at which all the potentialities of such a course were reviewed, including the possibility that some kind of armed action might eventually result.

Estonians Who Crossed Ocean In Small Boat Are Refused Permission To Land

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 21 (AP)—Eighteen sea-going refugees from Estonia sailed into Miami's harbor today after crossing the Atlantic in a 38-foot sloop only to be refused permission to land.

Eleven men, six wives and a pretty, yellow-haired 5-year-old girl, had been at sea for 30 days on the last leg of their voyage, from Spanish Maderia.

They started from Sweden May 30, made one stop in England, and have been at sea almost continuously for two and a half months.

With not one valid immigration permit in the whole lot, Immigration Director Francis J. H. Dever said he had no choice but to refuse them permission to land. It appeared they would have to move on after replenishing their supplies.

"We had hoped we could stay," said young Felix Tandre, skipper and navigator of the sloop Inarda. "I believe we could have been good Americans. I don't know where we will go, but it won't be back to Estonia."

He gave the reason for the flight into Sweden, during the German occupation, and the crowded voyage:

"We lived under both Germar and Russian rule. I will tell you here in America what I have been afraid to say before—there is no choice between those two.

"Under both German and Russian rule our houses would be entered in the dead of night. Neighbors would disappear without a trace. Liberty has left Estonia.

"If we must go on, we will, even if we must travel all the way to Australia. Our ship is small, but it has taken us this far. They can't take the sea away from us."

Austria Requests

was postponed until tomorrow, when Iran, whose delegation did not arrive in time today, was scheduled to present her views.

Albania and Cuba both demanded full membership in the conference. In addition, Albania asked that the Italian treaty draft be mended to permit her to sign that treaty.

British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin, appearing at the conference for the first time, presided at the session. He seemed well recovered from the illness which had kept him in London.

Gruber, appearing on an equal status with the other representatives of the invited nations, said Austria sought nothing more than to continue her "peaceful and steady life" But by inference he reiterated to the conference his former stand that the problem of the South Tyrol be settled by a plebiscite, asking a solution to which the South Tyrolese themselves "may give free and whole-hearted approval."

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Intolerance is one of the great curses of this world. It is food for wars, broken friendships, unhappy homes, and plays havoc wherever it exercises its destructive spirit. There must have been a sound and solid reason why the Creator made so many different kinds of people, scattered them about the earth, and put them to work.

The very fact that we all have a mind that is flexible, yet with the privilege to use it as an independent medium, should make us proud to own it, and happy that others have been granted the same gift.

We must bear in mind that there are grades of intelligence, and from early birth tendencies are created which shape character. The poor do not have the ideals of the rich, nor do the educated become satisfied to stay upon one strata of mind development. Millions of people go so far, and are content to go no further. They establish a level and camp there! But they are human beings, deserving of the fruits of their own opinions and birthright.

None of our experiences are the same. We are all enveloped by influences. Each one of us has something in common with all humanity. Our tastes differ, our opinions and our ideals, but everyone has something for his fellowman, the same as his fellowman has something for him. Happiness should be universal, though of course, it cannot be distributed equally to all — but the opportunity for it can be.

Every observance teaches us, as well as all the development of civilization, that we should seek earnestly to cultivate a tolerant mind, respecting the opinions, the circumstances of birth, and the hardships endured by others, as a guide to our appraisement of them.

We are born with a free will, and it can be exercised in a free country. But there is no room anywhere for intolerance in a right world, and it's a right and better world in which we are all interested.

Intolerance is mostly misunderstanding. We should transplant something of ourselves in others, that we might praise more, and judge less, thereby cultivating an ever-abiding tolerant mind.

Phanamyong Quits As Siam's Premier

BANGKOK, Aug. 21. (AP)—Pridi Phanamyong resigned today as premier of Siam with the explanation that "opposition intrigue is wasting my health and impairing the service of myself and my cabinet."

Phanamyong's resignation, which came as King Phumiphon Aduldet was enroute to Switzerland for a vacation, was a complete surprise. His entire cabinet resigned with him.

The Chicago development came a short time after three tanker companies, involved in the strike, telegraphed from Cleveland an appeal to President Truman "to take prompt action to require the NMU to live up to its agreement to operate such vessels until December 10, 1946."

The three companies—Cleveland Tankers, Inc., Cleveland; Lake Tankers, Inc., New York and Great Lakes Transport, of Detroit—said "94 per cent of all tanker vessels operating on the Great Lakes are tied up as a result of the strike by the National Maritime Union."

"The timing of this strike is important to the public interest because navigation on the Great Lakes closes for 18 weeks beginning December 1," they added.

Officials at NMU strike headquarters in Detroit said they had no knowledge of the reported Chicago developments.

They released a brief statement, however, assailing Duluth police for their part in a fracas with NMU pickets in the Minnesota city today.

cancelled until further notice and that he would confer with Gen. W. D. Morgan, Allied Mediterranean commander, on measures to protest Allied planes.

(In Paris, Secretary of State Byrnes had a frank talk on all aspects of the Yugoslav situation with Yugoslav Vice-Premier Edvard Kardelj, an American peace conference delegation spokesman said.)

Tito, in his speech to workers at the Jesenice steel works near Bled yesterday, said he witnessed the downing of one of the American planes, but denied previous American protestations that it had been lost in the clouds.

American accounts of the August 9 incident had said the Yugoslav fighters gave no signal to land and fired upon the plane when it already had landed. Tito characterized these statements as "slanders" against his army, adding that "all this is not true, as I have been myself a witness to this event."

UNRRA Leader's Charges Denied By Gen. McNarney

Commander In Europe Says LaGuardia's Accusations "Baseless"

BERLIN, Aug. 21 (AP) — Gen. Joseph T. McNarney, United States commander in Europe, caustically attacked UNRRA Director-General F. H. LaGuardia today for "baseless and incorrect" charges against the United States Army.

McNarney bluntly denied LaGuardia's charges that the United States Army opposed UNRRA's aims in care and repatriation of displaced persons, and asserted his headquarters had supported the program "in every way to ensure success."

He supported LaGuardia's view that UNRRA was not being used as an "espionage umbrella" for Russian secret agents in the American zone, saying "we know of very few cases of agents of any type who operated under the cloak of UNRRA."

"Of these, only one has been positively identified as an Nkvd (Russian police) agent," he said.

This agent, he added, was a woman who was being sent back to the Soviet zone today.

Meanwhile Meyer Cohen took over as acting UNRRA director of displaced persons activities, succeeding British Lt. Gen. Sir Frederick Morgan.

Cohen said he was "consolidating the displaced persons operation" and officials in his headquarters at Arolsen said this meant UNRRA would eliminate "unnecessary functions as a step looking forward to the time when UNRRA ends."

One spokesman said an Army-UNRRA plan to encourage repatriation of Polish displaced persons by providing them with 60 to 90 days rations would start soon. It is a matter, he said, of logistics, for "the Army has to get the food here."

He declared that LaGuardia had visited him in Frankfurt before going to Geneva, and had been fully acquainted with the Army's aims.

Retail Meat

cided upon the staggered time schedule in order to "clean out overceiling meat" which dealers have on hand.

Pledging vigorous efforts to enforce the ceilings, Porter said:

"We will have twice as many investigators on meat as we ever had before. We will hit a level of 2,500 investigators in September—easily double the previous number."

Bread Ceilings To Be Cut

Bread ceilings, recently increased by one cent a loaf, will be cut by the same amount as soon as restrictions on the milling of flour have been lifted by the Agriculture Department, Porter said. He had no information on when these restrictions may be removed.

Asked whether OPA plans to remove ceilings on flour, Porter said controls will remain in effect as long as the curb on milling of wheat does.

As for the board's order that dairy products and most grains remain uncontrolled, Porter commented:

"I would have to be less than candid if I did not expess disappointment that the board was unable to find a basis for recontrol of dairy products.

"However, the board had no alternative, since it did not find that prices on these products had risen unressonably."

Will Watch Dairy Prices

Porter was asked whether OPA plans to keep a sharp eye on dairy product prices.

"Indeed we do," he replied. "I expect we will be in trouble on the dairy situation this fall.

"It's hard to catch a horse after he's out of the barn door, but I expect we'll have to lasso him."

A reporter inquired whether Porter wanted to make it a cow, instead of a horse.

"Yes," Porter said, "You'd better make it a cow."

Here are dates when price ceilings will be restored on fats and oils:

Tank oils, crude and refined, August 23; consumer products, such as salad oils and mayonnaise, at manufacturing levels, August 30; nonmanufacturing distributors of end products, September 4.

These dates were fixed for restoration of ceilings on grains and feeds:

Soybeans, September 3; flaxseed September 3; mixed feeds, August 26; by-product feeds, September 3.

Both Jews and Arabs have been demanding that Britain take the explosive problem to the United Nations for settlement.

Arab leaders, declining a formal statement pending return of Arab executive leaders from Egypt, said that "a glance at our demands in the past many years will show that is just what we have been asking, and it is not surprising that Britain finally recognizes the illegality of her mandate and turns it over to the United Nations."

Bedford Resident Drowns At Work

BEDFORD, Pa., Aug. 21—James H. Trail, 21, of Bedford RFD 1, was drowned in the east branch of the Potomac River near Alexandria, Va., several days ago. He was a veteran of World War II, in which he had won the Silver Star for gallantry in action. He was discharged from the Army last June 28.

The young man was a son of Glen and Marie (Biddle) Trail, of Bedford RFD 1, and was the husband of the former Edith Arlene Miller, whom he married three months ago.

Trail was working as a carpenter's helper with a crew engaged in driving piling in the Potomac river. He had just returned to a barge in a small rowboat and was tying up the craft when it got away. He removed his shirt and shoes and dived into the water after the boat. Witnesses said he swam about 75 feet from the barge and then suddenly disappeared beneath the surface. He never came up.

His body was recovered four hours later by Coast Guardsmen and police. His death was ruled accidental. It is believed he was caught in an undertow.

James H. Trail was born in Bedford county on June 19, 1925. He is survived by his parents, his widow and six brothers and sisters: Robert, Bertha Elizabeth, Shirley Joan, Margaret Irene and Mary Lois Trail, all at home; Richard G., now home on furlough from the Marine Corps.

He joined the Army on July 1, 1943, and saw action in Europe with the Rainbow Division as a private first class. He was wounded in action.

On-The-Job Training Can Benefit Everybody

A threatened national scandal resulting from defects in the on-the-job training program for veterans and the abuses that have been brought to light may be averted by the rapidity by which Attorney General Clark has moved for an inquiry and possible prosecution. The loopholes in the law were first brought to the surface in a frank statement of conditions by General Omar Bradley of the Veterans Administration. At that time he said he feared a scandal, and added more than publicity and a few prosecutions would be needed if we are to stop the present chiseling and prevent its resurgence.

The projected on-the-job training program is one of the larger undertakings of the Veterans Administration to help the war veteran close the gap in skills between himself and the worker who did not go into the service. Already more than 250,000 veterans are enrolled in the program and General Erskine of the VA estimates that the total might eventually reach the 1,000,000 mark. The assistance to the veteran while learning on-the-job ranges from $65 to $90 a month in subsistence allowance. This was intended to supplement, not supplant, whatever going wages would be paid to a non-veteran apprentice learning the same trade.

It has been ruled by the National Wage Stabilization Board that the subsistence payments cannot be used to cut wages, and employers who pay veterans a lower rate than the rate established for trainees or apprentices violate the national wage stabilization regulations against wage decreases. The board's policy with respect to veterans trainees program applies not only to employers who wish to cut wages but also to employers who institute new apprenticeship or on-the-job programs. In either case prior approval of all rates by the WSB is necessary. In line with the board's unanimous policy statement and its more recent action in denying a company's request to pay apprentice veterans as low as $10, government subsistence payments are not "wages" within the meaning of the stabilization act. It is pointed out, and ruled, that "It is clear that Congress in adopting the G. I. Bill of Rights did not intend that subsistence payments and other benefits should be used as a basis for paying veterans lower wages than the employer normally would expect to pay a trainee or apprentice."

It is believed the intent and purpose of Congress has proved confusing and there seems to be little doubt that the program originally was set up with too loose a control and too flexible a set of standards. Evidence of this is borne out by the fact that General Bradley found it expedient to go before Congress and ask for revisions. In making control of the program a joint Veterans Administration and State government venture the issue was further complicated. Some states were not equipped to administer such a program. It is believed, however, that in Maryland the administration has been fairly good. But whether the state was or was not equipped to handle the program is no excuse for an employer taking advantage of this to make the government pay part of his legitimate payroll or of the veteran who chiseled by claiming subsistence of $65 to $90 a month while working, as has been shown, in one instance, for his father at $700 a month.

The program if conscientiously and efficiently carried out can be a benefit to veterans and employers alike.

U. S. Army's Blues To Replace Olive Drab

It is evidence that the Army is in earnest about breaking down its outworn caste system when the War Department announces that the peacetime winter uniform not only will be worn by all ranks but that the elaborate plans are in the works to make sure that the soldiers and the public will like it.

The War Department has made one decision about the new uniform. It will be blue. But whether it is to be solid blue or a two-tone affair has been left open. So has the question of the shade—or shades—to be prescribed, along with the colors of the shirts, ties, socks and shoes to be worn with it. All these matters are to be determined after sentiment has been tested out in the camps and after the public has had a chance to register its reactions.

This project is planned, says the official announcement, to "provide the people of the United States with an Army uniformly attired to be proud of on parade, and also will insure individual soldiers a smart appearance during off-duty periods." That is, the effect must be both military and attractive.

Of course, the choice of blue is significant in itself. For many years the Army has favored olive drab or one of its relatives, on the ground that this color is practical in the field, although the argument lost its force with the advent of brass buttons and officers' "pinks." Now it is acting on the apparent belief that a uniform to be worn by privates and generals alike, in time of peace, can be colorful and yet not too different from civilian wear to seem outlandish.

Some people imagine trouble and others have it thrust upon them.

People Sick Of Sham And Folly On Prices

The Department of Agriculture opposes restoring price control on meats on August 20. So does the meat industry. If the decontrol board orders the step, the meat black market will again get under way. Legitimate packing houses will close and housewives will pay higher prices for meat that in many instances may be unfit for human consumption.

The nation will again have one theoretical price on meat but no meat will be available at that price, and what black market quotations will be it is difficult to predict.

The American people are sick of the sham and the folly of price regimentation that stifles production, forces legitimate business to close its doors and plays into the hands of racketeers. Restoration of price control on meats would do incalculable damage to the American economy and benefit no one. If the decontrol board sees its patriotic duty, it will turn thumbs down on this communistic proposal.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

DON'T GREASE BURNS

DURING the past decade the physician has learned much about burns and consequently many revolutionary changes in treatment have resulted. The home application of greases, salves, and favorite ointments has been discarded. Moreover, research has shown that if severe cases are to survive, more emphasis must be placed on the patient's general condition than on the damage to the exterior.

Until recently, burns have been classified by using numerals and degrees. Thus a first degree lesion resembles a light sunburn; only the upper layers are affected. Second degree burns are slightly deeper and blisters ensue. Third degree varieties involve the full thickness of the skin, which then assumes a charred, leathery appearance. The nerves endings are also injured, making the area insensitive to touch. Various combinations can occur, especially of the two latter types. Now the grouping has been changed and the numerals are replaced by names which designate the regions of the skin attacked and the amount of penetration.

Ordinarily, a minor lesion heals completely within 10 to 20 days. But few realize how disabling a major burn can be. The reports on the casualties of our large fires are soon forgotten but many victims remain in hospitals for months or years. After healing takes place, skin grafting must follow. This is frequently a slow and tedious affair, requiring several operations in order to eradicate unsightly scars and minimize deformities.

Simple household burns respond to cleanliness and pressure bandages. The parts should be soaked or washed in a watery solution of bland soap or other detergent. Then many layers of sterilized gauze are applied, which are held down securely by a snug fitting bandage. This lessens blister formation, oozing, and swelling. Besides, a large dressing will restrict motion, which is a great help to any wound that nature is trying to repair. To keep the dressing from sticking, specially prepared gauze containing petroleum jelly is useful.

Those who receive a second or third degree burn on the arms or legs should not daub on lard, butter, or other grease. When the physician arrives he will find the mess a nuisance as it is difficult to remove and the procedure adds to the possibilities of contamination. An ordinary clean cloth is sufficient, particularly if it has been boiled. This aids in keeping out infection which may lead to scar tissue and prolong convalescence.

The numerous preparations which form a protective coating over the involved surface are losing favor gradually. These include silver nitrate, gentian violet, and tannic acid. The latter is said to make the burn deeper by injuring the normal cells beneath the charred area. Furthermore, some of the chemical might be absorbed from an open wound and lead to liver damage.

In extensive burns there is a tremendous loss of fluid through the denuded surface. As a result, shock and dehydration ensue which, unless rectified, will make the patient take a turn for the worse. Transfusions are of help in these circumstances. Since the tissue fluids contain proteins, the elements must be replaced hypodermically or thru a diet high in this constituent.

INFANT DIARRHEA

M. S. writes: I read in the newspapers about the deaths of babies on ships bringing families of the GI's to America. What germ was responsible?

REPLY

To date there have been no medical reports on these cases and consequently I am unable to say what organisms were responsible. On the other hand, in somewhat similar episodes in the past, various microbes such as streptococci as well as the Salmonella and bacillary groups have been isolated. As a rule, detective work is necessary to ascertain how the germ is spreading. This is usually a problem of sanitation involving cleanliness and refrigeration of food.

"IT Says Here"

By BOB HOPE

Talk about progress. . . They are now transporting race horses by plane to the various tracks throughout the country. I first learned of the innovation at the airlines office. . . . When I asked for a ticket to Chicago, the clerk asked, "Win, place or show?"

The new "flying stable" is doing wonders for the owners. El Lobo, the first horse to take to the air, got off the plane at Bay Meadows and won the handicap. He couldn't help but win . . . he only had a few minutes to catch the plane home!

It's causing changes in the airlines, also. I understand they're now featuring hay rides, and LaGuardia Field is putting fences along the runways.

Louis (B for Busher) Mayer shipped ten of his best thoroughbreds by air to Chicago and the trip was a complete success. The hostess carried a bottle of DDT and the pilot wore his oxygen mask all the way.

It was new to the horses to see the ground pull away from beneath their feet. In fact, one horse looked out the window and shouted, "Quick, give me a saliva test. . . I'm flying!"

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

U. S. Alliance With England Snarls Russian Relations; British Double-Cross Truman in Palestine; British Appeasement of Russia Dangerous.

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—Drew Pearson, following his return from the Paris Peace Conference, writes another column on our tense relations with Russia and how we can prevent our present dangerous drift toward war.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—There is reason to believe that at the end of the war, Soviet Russia looked forward to a virtual alliance with the United States. The world's two greatest powers, the Russians felt, had no conflicting interests, could work together. Great Britain, the Russians figured, did not count. She was out of date, wiped up, finished.

However, no two nations can run the world without reaping the ill will of the rest of the world and eventual catastrophe. So fortunately, the United States did not become an ally of Russia.

Unfortunately, however, we have veered so far in the other direction that foreign diplomats generally consider us not only an ally of Great Britain but owned body and soul by the charming gentlemen in the British Foreign Office.

This not only snarls up our relations with Russia, but lessens our efectiveness with other members of the United Nations. For it is by playing our cards straight across the United Nation board, with absolutely no big power alliances that we can maintain the world leadership which is ours for the asking.

Ever since Britain and Russia combined to stop Napoleon in 1815, their armies and navies have been looking down the muzzles of each others guns. For 100 years they have been the two most powerful, most suspicious, most opposite rivals in all Europe. And today England, weak, old, and fighting for survival, figures that her only salvation is playing off the USA against the USSR.

Atlantic Charter Flouted

Thus at a time when the Allies were pledged to the principles of the Atlantic Charter and world cooperation, Britain has gone back to the outmoded, trouble-breeding game of power politics. And she has played her cards so skillfully that she has just about suchred the USA into being the No. 1 enemy of the USSR.

One trouble with the British is that our bond of sympathy with.. them is so close that they know.. ..they can take advantage of us. Like an old man with a weakness for going on benders, the British know that when they get into trouble, their indulgent son will always bail them out.

Palestine is a case in point. The organization which mandated Palestine to the British—the League of Nations—is now nonexistent. The British have absolutely no legal rights in Palestine other than the power of armed force. And if they had any regard whatsoever for American friendship, which they so badly need, long ago they would have turned Palestine back to the United Nations—where it belongs.

British Trickery

Instead they have used the most brazen trickery to outsmart President Truman. For instance, the President recently received a report on how two secret cables which he had sent to Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, Chairman of the Anglo-American Palestine Commission, were opened and read by the British Consul in Geneva before being delivered to Judge Hutcheson.

Truman also has a report from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Ed Foley, on how the British tried to double-cross Herbert Gaston, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, who has been in London working on the Palestine question. Gaston cabled the Treasury Department from London asking permission to file a dissent from the Grady-Morrison plan to divide Palestine into Arab-Jewish zones.

But the British have access to all cables leaving London. So they held up Gaston's message to Washington while they scurried round to the American Embassy, lodged a protest against Gaston's activities and persuaded Ambassador Averell Harriman to cable a critical report on Gaston to the State Department. Thus Harriman's protest arrived before Gaston's cable and helped to nullify it.

British Undercut USA

In an earlier column, this writer proposed that the United States adopt a definite, categoric policy of not appeasing Russia. It was argued that no country takes the first step toward war if it knows it will have to suffer a major retaliatory war. It was pointed out that Hitler never would have invaded Austria and the Ruhr if he hadn't shrewdly banked on Anglo-French dissension and appeasement.

If we are to follow a non-appeasement policy toward Russia; if we are to demand that she work through the United Nations; if we are to crack down on the first belligerent move she makes outside the United Nations, then Great Britain, judging by past performances, is our worst ally.

In 1932, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, realizing that Japan had started on major Asiatic conquest, did his best to enlist British cooperation in stopping the warlords before they got started. To this end he thought he had a British promise to deliver a strong identical note of protest to Japan.

But U. S. Ambassador Cameron Forbes discovered that after he delivered the American protest note, the British Ambassador paid two calls at the Jap Foreig Office. One was to deliver the formal note of protest. The other was to tell the Japanese Foreign Minister informally that Great Britain had prom-Foreign Office. One was to deliver a note, but nevertheless the British understood and sympathized with the Japanese position in Manchuria.

Again, in 1936, when Hitler walked into the Ruhr, it was the British who hung back, told the French that if they resisted Hitler, they would have to fight alone.

Again, during the Spanish Civil War, it was the British Foreign Office which secretely played ball with Franco and sabotaged the Loyalist Government, despite the fact that the world knew Hitler and Mussolini were staging a curtain-raiser to world war.

Again, prior to the Munich crisis over the Czech Sudetenland, Lord Runciman spent weeks in Czechoslovakia passing out secret word that Hitler could have the Sudetenland as far as he was concerned. So by the time the Big Four met in Munich, the surrender of the Sudetenland was a foregone conclusion—agreed to in advance by British appeasers.

Historians already are recording the probability that if we had checked the Spanish Fascist, if we had stopped Hitler in the Ruhr, if we had prevented his carving up Czechoslovakia, or even if we had blocked any one of these moves, the terrible tragedy of World War II would not have happened.

And if we are going to prevent World War III, the gentlemen of the British Foreign Office, with their silk-glove policy of appeasement, may prove our most dangerous, though charming allies.

New Factor In U. S. Politics Comes To Front

By MARK SULLIVAN

In the Congressional campaign now under way is a factor new in American politics. It is suggested by what took place in the Wisconsin primaries this month.

In that primary Senator LaFollette was defeated. That was a surprise to the country. Analysis which followed showed that LaFollette had not had the support of a large portion of the labor vote. Six years ago three heavily populated industrial districts, including the City of Milwaukee, gave LaFollette a majority of 61,831. In the primary this year he lost the same districts by close to 11,000. This was more than twice the margin by which he lost the State. The cause of the surprise in Wisconsin politics was plain.

Failure by LaFollette to get support from a considerable portion of labor called for explanation. His record on labor measures in Congress was, from the labor point of view, perfect. He voted for labor measures that labor wanted and against those which labor opposed—it would be difficult to find an exception during LaFollette's 21 years in the Senate.

Not Enough For Labor

Why should a Senator with a record on labor measures that was perfect from the labor point of view, fail to get support from a portion of labor? Obviously it was because of his record on matters other than labor. So far as any portion of labor withheld support from LaFollette, it was saying in effect that a perfect record on labor measures is not enough to get support by labor in elections, that a candidate's record on matters other than labor must also be satisfactory.

The judgment of persons unquestionably familiar with what went on in Wisconsin is that a main cause was an attitude of LaFollette about foreign relations, specifically and recently about Russia. He had supported recent steps in international cooperation including the United Nations but had been critical of Russia. Senator LaFollette thinks his attitude on Russia was the cause of his defeat. His belief as reported by Columnist Marquis Childs is that his defeat was due to disapproval of him by the extreme left wing in American politics, including left wingers not only in labor but in other fields; that the reason for this was criticism by him of Russia, and dates especially from a speech he made in May, 1945. In that speech LaFollette said:

"It has become virtually impossible to criticize the activities of . . . Soviet Russia, however constructively, without bringing down about one's head a storm of smearing villification and misrepresentation by a tightly organized minority in the United States."

Politics Conditions Changed

Regardless of what went on in Wisconsin, about which there may be conflicting views and varying interpretations, it is a fact, apparent in the broadest sense and shown by many events, that there is a new condition in American politics. This is, a change by one wing of labor, in the traditional attitude of labor about participation in politics.

The older view was held as a kind of principle by a pioneer leader in the American labor movement, Samuel Gompers, long-time head of the American Federation of Labor. His view was that the political activity of labor should be limited to matters having to do with labor, that labor should, as the phrase ran, "reward its friends and punish its enemies." To go beyond this was, in Gompers' view, a detriment to labor. Besides, he felt it was undesirable on the broadest grounds for any organization whatever, other than a specifically political one, to take part formally, as a body, in politics.

PAC Political Program Broad

Today, one wing of labor, CIO, through its Political Action Committee, takes an organized and aggressive part in politics in the broad sense. It takes part not merely for ordinary labor objectives but for a program as comprehensive as a platform of either the Republican or the Democratic Party. A statement put out in April, described by a CIO periodical as the "1946 Political Action Program" includes 17 points, 6 dealing with foreign policy, 11 with domestic issues. The points include the United Nations, Spain and Argentina, atomic energy, food rationing, price control, taxation, statehood for Hawaii.

In effect the CIO Political Action Committee is a political party in substantially the same sense as the Democratic and Republican parties.

Crisis Of Serious Proportions, Internationally, Is In Making

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—When a division of American troops goes on parade in the occupied zone adjacent to Yugoslavia and two top-ranking admirals — one of them America's best aircraft task force commander—fly to Europe for a "naval inspection" trip, there would normally not be the slightest significance to the episode. But when it comes immediately after fighter planes of the Yugoslavian government have repeatedly fired on American transport planes, it can be presumed that a crisis of serious international proportions is in the making.

President Truman was planning to go north along the Atlantic coast on his yacht, but now he has turned southward toward Washington. Presumably he will return immediately to the national capital from some near-by port if matters grow worse in Europe.

Demand Planes Be Unmolested

The text of the American note of protest to Yugoslavia makes public to all the world that Yugoslavia has fired on the planes of a friendly country. The demand now is for assurances that American planes will not again be attacked. The latest note significantly says that the United States "fully reserves its position in matter of claims for compensation."

This means that reparation may be demanded later in the event that a satisfactory reply is not soon received and should there be further attacks. The American government, meanwhile, is puzzled by the Yugoslavian attitude. Is Marshal Tito trying to provoke the United States and so vex our representatives in Paris that they will accede to his demands with respect to Trieste? Do the Yugoslavian authorities, sponsored as they are by the Russians, believe that this is one way to test out American intentions in Europe?

To Back Up U. S. Diplomacy

Anyway, if there is any question about America's decision to back up her diplomacy, it will be cleared up by what is about to happen in the Mediterranean. The parade of the 88th division was only one manifestation of American concern.

There are now in the Mediterranean nine American warships of major size. These include the giant 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Roosevelt, three cruisers and five destroyes. Admiral Marc Mitsche, who won his laurels in the war against Japan, doubtless will be placed in command of the task force. Fighter planes from the carrier could be launched in the Mediterranean for patrol duty or for "parade" purposes.

It is not known what naval forces the British have in the Mediterranean, but it is believed here that reports earlier of joint maneuvers with Americal naval forces may have been in some way linked to preparations for a naval demonstration of British-American warships.

Unfortunately the United Nations is not set up as yet on the military or naval side, so the breach of the peace of which Yugoslavia has been guilty in her attack on the planes of a friendly nation cannot be handled by the Security Council. But even if each nation were ready to furnish the necessary forces, there is no certainty that any action could be commanded, because Russia has a veto in the Security Council and it is likely that, judging by her past record, her course would be one of procrastination rather than enforcement of discipline.

Attacks Related To Occupation

For all practical purposes, America and Britain are the ones to enforce peace in Europe. The attacks on American planes are related to the problems of occupation, because it is only to carry out the terms of the armistice by which Yugoslavia and other nations were liberated from the Nazi yoke that American forces are stationed in Europe today.

Yugoslavia is under the thumb of Russia, but she could easily alienate American friendship and economic help for a long time to come by her short-sighted course. The injury done American airmen is aggravated by the high-handed behavior of the Belgrade officials in refusing to allow the passengers on a transport plane forced down in Yugoslavia to be seen by official consular representatives until after protest was made. Likewise, the detention of the airmen is a sign that Yugoslavia is not a free agent herself but is awaiting orders from Moscow, where the governmental machinery works with cumbersome slowness.

There is unquestionably a connection between what is happening in the Paris conference and the aggressive behavior of Yugoslavia. The United States government is not planning to hush up the affair but is making its notes public at once and is not trying to keep secret what it is doing in the way of a military and naval demonstration. Sometimes major crises develop that way.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Last night I ate some melted cheese before I went to bed. After boxing four rounds with the pillow I gave up, snapped on the light and reached for the evening paper. In a box on page one I read an item which said, "Women will cast 60% of the votes in the next election."

Billy Rose

"How about that?" I mumbled. "Any time the girls get together on a program they can take over and run things to suit themselves."

Suddenly the print blurred before my eyes like a camera going out of focus, and I found myself walking down a strange street. It looked like New York, but it was oddly changed. The buildings were pastel pink and blue, and instead of breathing carbon monoxide, I was inhaling Chanel No. 5. From loudspeakers on every lamppost came the strains of "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour."

I spotted a building that looked familiar. Looking around for a policeman, I saw one on a gold pedestal in the middle of the street. He was six feet three, and his uniform looked like a Ziegfeld finale. "What's that imposing structure?" I inquired.

"Grand Central Powder Room," he answered. "Cost thirty million. There's one like it in every city."

"Charming idea," I remarked. "What's that little building next to it?"

"I'm not sure," he said, "I think it's Grand Central Station."

I began to get it, and queried, "Are the women in power and running the country?"

"Not exactly," he told me. "Do you think one woman would vote for another? But they're electing only the men they like. This is Gregory Peck's second term as President."

"Did they throw out all the politicians?" I inquired

"Only the ugly ones. The photogenic fellows—James Forrestal, Paul McNutt, Bernard Baruch, Eisenhower—have more influence than ever. By the way, let me see your marriage card."

"What's that?"

"Every man has to carry one. It tells your age, income and chest development. If a man isn't spliced by the time he's thirty, the governments puts him to work as a babysitter. There's been a lot of changes. Pay checks are mailed directly to the wives, thus eliminating the middleman. Every husband has to shave as soon as he gets home from work, and every man with more than one stomach is put on Ry-Krisp and water. Even then, the little woman doesn't have to kiss her husband unless she's in the mood.

"When a woman gets to be 29," he continued, "they burn up her birth certificate. Eight out of the twelve months are named June. Brides reserve the right to send their grooms a penny postcard within the first week and call the whole thing off.

"The currency may confuse you. The new paper money comes in denominations of $.98, $4.98 and $9.98. Small change is the same, but a street car conductor must accept the first coin a woman fishes out of her bag. Even a Life Saver is legal tender on trolleys and buses.

"Schools are teaching readin', ritin' and rumba. Chocolate creams are split in half, so the girls can tell what's inside without biting into them. Scales register ten pounds lighter, and mirrors have been designed to make stylish stouts look size 12."

"How about Banking and Finance?" I asked.

"Well, the girls couldn't understand it, took a vote and decided to skip it."

"What's the International Situation?"

"Worse than ever," he thundered. "Last week Elsa Maxwell wanted to wear a Russian blouse at a Washington garden party. Gromyko checked with Moscow and vetoed it. We were on the point of mobilizing when our ambassador, Walter Pidgeon, smoothed things over.

"So long, slave. Watch yourself crossing the street," he said, as he turned back to the traffic. "The ladies passed a law that entitles them to drive on both sides."

As I walked away, lost in thought, a chartreuse and shocking pink roadster suddenly came at me from nowhere. There was a shrieking of brakes, and then silence. I awoke to find my frau putting cold compresses on my head and cooing soothing words.

"I had the daffiest nightmare, darling," I said. "I dreamed that women were running things to suit themselves. Isn't that silly?"

"Of course it's silly," she agreed. "By the way, dear, my sister and her children are coming tomorrow to spend a month with us. I fixed a nice cot for you up in the attic."

On-The-Job Training Can Benefit Everybody

A threatened national scandal resulting from defects in the on-the-job training program for veterans and the abuses that have been brought to light may be averted by the rapidity by which Attorney General Clark has moved for an inquiry and possible prosecution. The loopholes in the law were first brought to the surface in a frank statement of conditions by General Omar Bradley of the Veterans Administration. At that time he said he feared a scandal, and added more than publicity and a few prosecutions would be needed if we are to stop the present chiseling and prevent its resurgence.

The projected on-the-job training program is one of the larger undertakings of the Veterans Administration to help the war veteran close the gap in skills between himself and the worker who did not go into the service. Already more than 250,000 veterans are enrolled in the program and General Erskine of the VA estimates that the total might eventually reach the 1,000,000 mark. The assistance to the veteran while learning on-the-job ranges from $65 to $90 a month in subsistence allowance. This was intended to supplement, not supplant, whatever going wages would be paid to a non-veteran apprentice learning the same trade.

It has been ruled by the National Wage Stabilization Board that the subsistence payments cannot be used to cut wages, and employers who pay veterans a lower rate than the rate established for trainees or apprentices violate the national wage stabilization regulations against wage decreases. The board's policy with respect to veterans trainees program applies not only to employers who wish to cut wages but also to employers who institute new apprenticeship or on-the-job programs. In either case prior approval of all rates by the WSB is necessary. In line with the board's unanimous policy statement and its more recent action in denying a company's request to pay apprentice veterans as low as $10, government subsistence payments are not "wages" within the meaning of the stabilization act. It is pointed out, and ruled, that "It is clear that Congress in adopting the G. I. Bill of Rights did not intend that subsistence payments and other benefits should be used as a basis for paying veterans lower wages than the employer normally would expect to pay a trainee or apprentice."

It is believed the intent and purpose of Congress has proved confusing and there seems to be little doubt that the program originally was set up with too loose a control and too flexible a set of standards. Evidence of this is borne out by the fact that General Bradley found it expedient to go before Congress and ask for revisions. In making control of the program a joint Veterans Administration and State government venture the issue was further complicated. Some states were not equipped to administer such a program. It is believed, however, that in Maryland the administration has been fairly good. But whether the state was or was not equipped to handle the program is no excuse for an employer taking advantage of this to make the government pay part of his legitimate payroll or of the veteran who chiseled by claiming subsistence of $65 to $90 a month while working, as has been shown, in one instance, for his father at $700 a month.

The program if conscientiously and efficiently carried out can be a benefit to veterans and employers alike.

U. S. Army's Blues To Replace Olive Drab

It is evidence that the Army is in earnest about breaking down its outworn caste system when the War Department announces that the peacetime winter uniform not only will be worn by all ranks but that the elaborate plans are in the works to make sure that the soldiers and the public will like it.

The War Department has made one decision about the new uniform. It will be blue. But whether it is to be solid blue or a two-tone affair has been left open. So has the question of the shade—or shades—to be prescribed, along with the colors of the shirts, ties, socks and shoes to be worn with it. All these matters are to be determined after sentiment has been tested out in the camps and after the public has had a chance to register its reactions.

This project is planned, says the official announcement, to "provide the people of the United States with an Army uniformly attired to be proud of on parade, and also will insure individual soldiers a smart appearance during off-duty periods." That is, the effect must be both military and attractive.

Of course, the choice of blue is significant in itself. For many years the Army has favored olive drab or one of its relatives, on the ground that this color is practical in the field, although the argument lost its force with the advent of brass buttons and officers' "pinks." Now it is acting on the apparent belief that a uniform to be worn by privates and generals alike, in time of peace, can be colorful and yet not too different from civilian wear to seem outlandish.

Some people imagine trouble and others have it thrust upon them.

People Sick Of Sham And Folly On Prices

The Department of Agriculture opposes restoring price control on meats on August 20. So does the meat industry. If the decontrol board orders the step, the meat black market will again get under way. Legitimate packing houses will close and housewives will pay higher prices for meat that in many instances may be unfit for human consumption.

The nation will again have one theoretical price on meat but no meat will be available at that price, and what black market quotations will be it is difficult to predict.

The American people are sick of the sham and the folly of price regimentation that stifles production, forces legitimate business to close its doors and plays into the hands of racketeers. Restoration of price control on meats would do incalculable damage to the American economy and benefit no one. If the decontrol board sees its patriotic duty, it will turn thumbs down on this communistic proposal.

The home application of greases, salves, and favorite ointments has been discarded. Moreover, research has shown that if severe cases are to survive, more emphasis must be placed on the patient's general condition than on the damage to the exterior.

Until recently, burns have been classified by using numerals and degrees. Thus a first degree lesion resembles a light sunburn; only the upper layers are affected. Second degree burns are slightly deeper and blisters ensue. Third degree varieties involve the full thickness of the skin, which then assumes a charred, leathery appearance. The nerves endings are also injured, making the area insensitive to touch. Various combinations can occur, especially of the two latter types. Now the grouping has been changed and the numerals are replaced by names which designate the regions of the skin attacked and the amount of penetration.

Ordinarily, a minor lesion heals completely within 10 to 20 days. But few realize how disabling a major burn can be. The reports on the casualties of our large fires are soon forgotten but many victims remain in hospitals for months or years. After healing takes place, skin grafting must follow. This is frequently a slow and tedious affair, requiring several operations in order to eradicate unsightly scars and minimize deformities.

Simple household burns respond to cleanliness and pressure bandages. The parts should be soaked or washed in a watery solution of bland soap or other detergent. Then many layers of sterilized gauze are applied, which are held down securely by a snug fitting bandage. This lessens blister formation, oozing, and swelling. Besides, a large dressing will restrict motion, which is a great help to any wound that nature is trying to repair. To keep the dressing from sticking, specially prepared gauze containing petroleum jelly is useful.

Those who receive a second or third degree burn on the arms or legs should not daub on lard, butter, or other grease. When the physician arrives he will find the mess a nuisance as it is difficult to remove and the procedure adds to the possibilities of contamination. An ordinary clean cloth is sufficient, particularly if it has been boiled. This aids in keeping out infection which may lead to scar tissue and prolong convalescence.

The numerous preparations which form a protective coating over the involved surface are losing favor gradually. These include silver nitrate, gentian violet, and tannic acid. The latter is said to make the burn deeper by injuring the normal cells beneath the charred area. Furthermore, some of the chemical might be absorbed from an open wound and lead to liver damage.

In extensive burns there is a tremendous loss of fluid through the denuded surface. As a result, shock and dehydration ensue which, unless rectified, will make the patient take a turn for the worse. Transfusions are of help in these circumstances. Since the tissue fluids contain proteins, the elements must be replaced hypodermically or taru a diet high in this constituent.

INFANT DIARRHEA

M. S. writes: I read in the newspapers about the deaths of babies on ships bringing families of the GI's to America. What germ was responsible?

REPLY

To date there have been no medical reports on these cases and consequently I am unable to say what organisms were responsible. On the other hand, in somewhat similar episodes in the past, various microbes such as streptococci as well as the Salmonella and bacillary groups have been isolated. As a rule, detective work is necessary to ascertain how the germ is spreading. This is usually a problem of sanitation involving cleanliness and refrigeration of food.

"IT Says Here"

By BOB HOPE

Talk about progress. . . They are now transporting race horses by plane to the various tracks throughout the country. I first learned of the innovation at the airlines office. . . . When I asked for a ticket to Chicago, the clerk asked, "Win, place or show?"

The new "flying stable" is doing wonders for the owners. El Lobo, the first horse to take to the air, got off the plane at Bay Meadows and won the handicap. He couldn't help but win . . . he only had a few minutes to catch the plane home!

It's causing changes in the airlines, also. I understand they're now featuring hay rides, and LaGuardia Field is putting fences along the runways.

Louis (B for Busher) Mayer shipped ten of his best thoroughbreds by air to Chicago and the trip was a complete success. The hostess carried a bottle of DDT and the pilot wore his oxygen mask all the way.

It was new to the horses to see the ground pull away from beneath their feet. In fact, one horse looked out the window and shouted, "Quick, give me a saliva test. . . I'm flying!"

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

U. S. Alliance With England Snarls Russian Relations; British Double-Cross Truman in Palestine; British Appeasement of Russia Dangerous.

By DREW PEARSON

(Ed. Note—Drew Pearson, following his return from the Paris Peace Conference, writes another column on our tense relations with Russia and how we can prevent our present dangerous drift toward war.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—There is reason to believe that at the end of the war, Soviet Russia looked forward to a virtual alliance with the United States. The world's two greatest powers, the Russians felt, had no conflicting interests, could work together. Great Britain, the Russians figured, did not count. She was out of date, wiped up, finished.

However, no two nations can run the world without reaping the ill will of the rest of the world and eventual catastrophe. So fortunately, the United States did not become an ally of Russia.

Unfortunately, however, we have veered so far in the other direction that foreign diplomats generally consider us not only an ally of Great Britain but owned body and soul by the charming gentlemen in the British Foreign Office.

This not only snarls up our relations with Russia, but lessens our efectiveness with other members of the United Nations. For it is by playing our cards straight across the United Nation board, with absolutely no big power alliances that we can maintain the world leadership which is ours for the asking.

Ever since Britain and Russia combined to stop Napoleon in 1815, their armies and navies have been looking down the muzzles of each others guns. For 100 years they have been the two most powerful, most suspicious, most opposite rivals in all Europe. And today England, weak, old, and fighting for survival, figures that her only salvation is playing off the USA against the USSR.

Atlantic Charter Flouted

Thus at a time when the Allies were pledged to the principles of the Atlantic Charter and world cooperation, Britain has gone back to the outmoded, trouble-breeding game of power politics. And she has played her cards so skillfully that she has just about suckred the USA into being the No. 1 enemy of the USSR.

One trouble with the British is that our bond of sympathy with, them is so close that they know, . they can take advantage of us. Like an old man with a weakness for going on benders, the British know that when they get into trouble, their indulgent son will always bail them out.

Palestine is a case in point. The organization which mandated Palestine to the British—the League of Nations—is now nonexistent. The British have absolutely no legal rights in Palestine other than the power of armed force. And if they had any regard whatsoever for American friendship, which they so badly need, long ago they would have turned Palestine back to the United Nations—where it belongs.

British Trickery

Instead they have used the most brazen trickery to outsmart President Truman. For instance, the President recently received a report on how two secret cables which he had sent to Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson, Chairman of the Anglo-American Palestine Commission, were opened and read by the British Consul in Geneva before being delivered to Judge Hutcheson.

Truman also has a report from Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, Ed Foley, on how the British tried to double-cross Herbert Gaston, former Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, who has been in London working on the Palestine question. Gaston cabled the Treasury Department from London asking permission to file a dissent from the Grady-Morrison plan to divide Palestine into Arab-Jewish zones.

But the British have access to all cables leaving London. So they held up Gaston's message to Washington while they scurried round to the American Embassy, lodged a protest against Gaston's activities and persuaded Ambassador -Averell Harriman to cable a critical report on Gaston to the State Department. Thus Harriman's protest arrived before Gaston's cable and helped to nullify it.

British Undercut USA

In an earlier column, this writer proposed that the United States adopt a definite, categoric policy of not appeasing Russia. It was argued that no country takes the first step toward war if it knows it will have to suffer a major retaliatory war. It was pointed out that Hitler never would have invaded Austria and the Ruhr if he hadn't shrewdly banked on Anglo-French dissension and appeasement.

If we are to follow a non-appeasement policy toward Russia; if we are to demand that she work through the United Nations; if we are to crack down on the first belligerent move she makes outside the United Nations, then Great Britain, judging by past performances, is our worst ally.

In 1932, Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, realizing that Japan had started on major Asiatic conquest, did his best to enlist British cooperation in stopping the warlords before they got started. To this end he thought he had a British promise to deliver a strong identical note of protest to Japan.

But U. S. Ambassador Cameron Forbes discovered that after he delivered the American protest note, the British Ambassador paid two calls at the Jap Foreig Office. One was to deliver the formal note of protest. The other was to tell the Japanese Foreign Minister informally that Great Britain had prom-Foreign Office. One was to deliver a note, but nevertheless the British understood and sympathized with the Japanese position in Manchuria.

Again, in 1936, when Hitler walked into the Ruhr, it was the British who hung back, told the French that if they resisted Hitler, they would have to fight alone.

Again, during the Spanish Civil War, it was the British Foreign Office which secretely played ball with Franco and sabotaged the Loyalist Government, despite the fact that the world knew Hitler and Mussolini were staging a curtain-raiser to world war.

Again, prior to the Munich crisis over the Czech Sudetenland, Lord Runciman spent weeks in Czechoslovakia passing out secret word that Hitler could have the Sudetenland as far as he was concerned. So by the time the Big Four met in Munich, the surrender of the Sudetenland was a foregone conclusion—agreed to in advance by British appeasers.

Historians already are recording the probability that if we had checked the Spanish Fascist, if we had stopped Hitler in the Ruhr, if we had prevented his carving up Czechoslovakia, or even if we had blocked any one of these moves, the terrible tragedy of World War II would not have happened.

And if we are going to prevent World War III, the gentlemen of the British Foreign Office, with their silk-glove policy of appeasement, may prove our most dangerous, though charming allies.

New Factor In U. S. Politics Comes To Front

By MARK SULLIVAN

In the Congressional campaign now under way is a factor new in American politics. It is suggested by what took place in the Wisconsin primaries this month.

In that primary Senator LaFollette was defeated. That was a surprise to the country. Analysis which followed showed that LaFollette had not had the support of a large portion of the labor vote. Six years ago three heavily populated industrial districts, including the City of Milwaukee, gave LaFollette a majority of 61,831. In the primary this year he lost the same districts by close to 11,000. This was more than twice the margin by which he lost the State. The cause of the surprise in Wisconsin politics was plain.

Failure by LaFollette to get support from a considerable portion of labor called for explanation. His record on labor measures in Congress was, from the labor point of view, perfect. He voted for labor measures that labor wanted and against those which labor opposed—it would be difficult to find an exception during LaFollette's 21 years in the Senate.

Not Enough For Labor

Why should a Senator with a record on labor measures that was perfect from the labor point of view, fail to get support from a portion of labor? Obviously it was because of his record on matters other than labor. So far as any portion of labor withheld support from LaFollette, it was saying in effect that a perfect record on labor measures is not enough to get support by labor in elections, that a candidate's record on matters other than labor must also be satisfactory.

The judgment of persons unquestionably familiar with what went on in Wisconsin is that a main cause was an attitude of LaFollette about foreign relations, specifically and recently about Russia. He had supported recent steps in international cooperation including the United Nations but had been critical of Russia. Senator LaFollette thinks his attitude on Russia was the cause of his defeat. His belief as reported by Columnist Marquis Childs is that his defeat was due to disapproval of him by the extreme left wing in American politics, including left wingers not only in labor but in other fields; that the reason for this was criticism by him of Russia, and dates especially from a speech he made in May, 1945. In that speech LaFollette said:

"It has become virtually impossible to criticize the activities of . . . Soviet Russia, however constructively, without bringing down about one's head a storm of smearing villification and misrepresentation by a tightly organized minority in the United States."

Politics Conditions Changed

Regardless of what went on in Wisconsin, about which there may be conflicting views and varying interpretations, it is a fact, apparent in the broadest sense and shown by many events, that there is a new condition in American politics. This is, a change by one wing of labor, in the traditional attitude of labor about participation in politics.

The older view was held as a kind of principle by a pioneer leader in the American labor movement, Samuel Gompers, long-time head of the American Federation of Labor. His view was that the political activity of labor should be limited to matters having to do with labor, that labor should, as the phrase ran, "reward its friends and punish its enemies." To go beyond this was, in Gompers' view, a detriment to labor. Besides, he felt it was undesirable on the broadest grounds for any organization whatever, other than a specifically political one, to take part formally, as a body, in politics.

PAC Political Program Broad

Today, one wing of labor, CIO, through its Political Action Committee, takes an organized and aggressive part in politics in the broad sense. It takes part not merely for ordinary labor objectives but for a program as comprehensive as a platform of either the Republican or the Democratic Party. A statement put out in April, described by a CIO periodical as the "1946 Political Action Program" includes 17 points, 6 dealing with foreign policy, 11 with domestic issues. The points include the United Nations, Spain and Argentina, atomic energy, food rationing, price control, taxation, statehood for Hawaii.

In effect the CIO Political Action Committee is a political party in substantially the same sense as the Democratic and Republican parties.

Crisis Of Serious Proportions, Internationally, Is In Making

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—When a division of American troops goes on parade in the occupied zone adjacent to Yugoslavia and two top-ranking admirals — one of them America's best aircraft task force commander—fly to Europe for a "naval inspection" trip, there would normally not be the slightest significance to the episode. But when it comes immediately after fighter planes of the Yugoslavian government have repeatedly fired on American transport planes, it can be presumed that a crisis of serious international proportions is in the making.

President Truman was planning to go north along the Atlantic coast on his yacht, but now he has turned southward toward Washington. Presumably he will return immediately to the national capital from some near-by port if matters grow worse in Europe.

Demand Planes Be Unmolested

The text of the American note of protest to Yugoslavia makes public to all the world that Yugoslavia has fired on the planes of a friendly country. The demand now is for assurances that American planes will not again be attacked. The latest note significantly says that the United States "fully reserves its position in matter of claims for compensation."

This means that reparation may be demanded later in the event that a satisfactory reply is not soon received and should there be further attacks. The American government, meanwhile, is puzzled by the Yugoslavian attitude. Is Marshal Tito trying to provoke the United States and so vex our representatives in Paris that they will accede to his demands with respect to Trieste? Do the Yugoslavian authorities, sponsored as they are by the Russians, believe that this is one way to test out American intentions in Europe?

To Back Up U. S. Diplomacy

Anyway, if there is any question about America's decision to back up her diplomacy, it will be cleared up by what is about to happen in the Mediterranean. The parade of the 88th division was only one manifestation of American concern.

There are now in the Mediterranean nine American warships of major size. These include the giant 45,000-ton aircraft carrier Roosevelt, three cruisers and five destroyes. Admiral Marc Mitsche, who won his laurels in the war against Japan, doubtless will be placed in command of the task force. Fighter planes from the carrier could be launched in the Mediterranean for patrol duty or for "parade" purposes.

It is not known what naval forces the British have in the Mediterranean, but it is believed here that reports earlier of joint maneuvers with Americal naval forces may have been in some way linked to preparations for a naval demonstration of British-American warships.

Unfortunately the United Nations is not set up as yet on the military or naval side, so the breach of the peace of which Yugoslavia has been guilty in her attack on the planes of a friendly nation cannot be handled by the Security Council. But even if each nation were ready to furnish the necessary forces, there is no certainty that any action could be commanded, because Russia has a veto in the Security Council and it is likely that, judging by her past record, her course would be one of procrastination rather than enforcement of discipline.

Attacks Related To Occupation

For all practical purposes, America and Britain are the ones to enforce peace in Europe. The attacks on American planes are related to the problems of occupation, because it is only to carry out the terms of the armistice by which Yugoslavia and other nations were liberated from the Nazi yoke that American forces are stationed in Europe today.

Yugoslavia is under the thumb of Russia, but she could easily alienate American friendship and economic help for a long time to come by her short-sighted course. The injury done American airmen is aggravated by the high-handed behavior of the Belgrade officials in refusing to allow the passengers on a transport plane forced down in Yugoslavia to be seen by official consular representatives until after protest was made. Likewise, the detention of the airmen is a sign that Yugoslavia is not a free agent herself but is awaiting orders from Moscow, where the governmental machinery works with cumbersome slowness.

There is unquestionably a connection between what is happening in the Paris conference and the aggressive behavior of Yugoslavia. The United States government is not planning to hush up the affair but is making its notes public at once and is not trying to keep secret what it is doing in the way of a military and naval demonstration. Sometimes major crises develop that way.

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Last night I ate some melted cheese before I went to bed. After boxing four rounds with the pillow I gave up, snapped on the light and reached for the evening paper. In a box on page one I read an item which said, "Women will cast 60% of the votes in the next election."

"How about that?" I mumbled. "Any time the girls get together on a program they can take over and run things to suit themselves."

Suddenly the print blurred before my eyes like a camera going out of focus, and I found myself walking down a strange street. It looked like New York, but it was oddly changed. The buildings were pastel pink and blue, and instead of breathing carbon monoxide, I was inhaling Chanel No. 5. From loudspeakers on every lamppost came the strains of "L'Amour Toujours L'Amour."

Billy Rose

I spotted a building that looked familiar. Looking around for a policeman, I saw one on a gold pedestal in the middle of the street. He was six feet three, and his uniform looked like a Ziegfeld finale. "What's that imposing structure?" I inquired.

"Grand Central Powder Room," he answered. "Cost thirty million. There's one like it in every city."

"Charming idea," I remarked. "What's that little building next to it?"

"I'm not sure," he said, "I think it's Grand Central Station."

I began to get it, and queried, "Are the women in power and running the country?"

"Not exactly," he told me. "Do you think one woman would vote for another? But they're electing only the men they like. This is Gregory Peck's second term as President."

"Did they throw out all the politicians?" I inquired

"Only the ugly ones. The photogenic fellows—James Forrestal, Paul McNutt, Bernard Baruch, Eisenhower—have more influence than ever. By the way, let me see your marriage card."

"What's that?"

"Every man has to carry one. It tells your age, income and chest development. If a man isn't spliced by the time he's thirty, the governments puts him to work as a babysitter. There's been a lot of changes. Pay checks are mailed directly to the wives, thus eliminating the middleman. Every husband has to shave as soon as he gets home from work, and every man with more than one stomach is put on Ry-Krisp and water. Even then, the little woman doesn't have to kiss her husband unless she's in the mood.

"When a woman gets to be 29," he continued, "they burn up her birth certificate. Eight out of the twelve months are named June. Brides reserve the right to send their grooms a penny postcard within the first week and call the whole thing off.

"The currency may confuse you. The new paper money comes in denominations of $.98, $4.98 and $9.98. Small change is the same, but a street car conductor must accept the first coin a woman fishes out of her bag. Even a Life Saver is legal tender on trolleys and buses.

"Schools are teaching readin', ritin' and rumba. Chocolate creams are split in half, so the girls can tell what's inside without biting into them. Scales register ten pounds lighter, and mirrors have been designed to make stylish stouts look size 12."

"How about Banking and Finance?" I asked.

"Well, the girls couldn't understand it, took a vote and decided to skip it."

"What's the International Situation?"

"Worse than ever," he thundered. "Last week Elsa Maxwell wanted to wear a Russian blouse at a Washington garden party. Gromyko checked with Moscow and vetoed it. We were on the point of mobilizing when our ambassador, Walter Pidgeon, smoothed things over.

"So long, slave. Watch yourself crossing the street," he said, as he turned back to the traffic. "The ladies passed a law that entitles them to drive on both sides."

As I walked away, lost in thought, a chartreuse and shocking pink roadster suddenly came at me from nowhere. There was a shrieking of brakes, and then silence. I awoke to find my frau putting cold compresses on my head and cooing soothing words.

"I had the daffiest nightmare, darling," I said. "I dreamed that women were running things to suit themselves. Isn't that silly?"

"Of course it's silly," she agreed. "By the way, dear, my sister and her children are coming tomorrow to spend a month with us. I fixed a nice cot for you up in the attic."

Flintstone School Alumni To Have Picnic, Aug. 25

Plans For Postwar Program; Scholarship Fund Will Be Discussed

The first get-to-gether since the war, of the Alumni of Flintstone School will be held August 25 in the form of a picnic, Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, advisor of the group, announces. It will be held in Cacapon State Park, south of Berkeley Springs.

All members are urged to bring their families. The time they wish to go, the transportation and the lunch will be arranged by each individual or group.

A reorganization meeting and election of officers will be held at 3:30 o'clock. Plans for the year's program will also be formulated.

Mrs. Roland, principal of the Flintstone school, was instrumental in the organization of the alumni and serves as its advisor. An extremely active group, the alumni, which suspended activities during the war, had a social program of varied activities each month, ranging from dances, taffy-pulls and parties to picnics and outings.

The alumni's largest project is the scholarship loan fund, which will function through the high school. The money already in the fund, was used to purchase bonds, Mrs. Roland said last night. Means of raising additional funds will be discussed to add to it.

The last officers elected, prior to its becoming inactive, were Thelma Ryan Gordon, president; Jacob N. Wilson, vice president; Marybelle Wigfield Becker, secretary; and Mrs. Curtis Nash, treasurer.

Keyser Volunteers Raise $3,848 For New Truck

By LUKE McDOWELL

KEYSER, W. Va., Aug. 21—To date $3,848, has been raised for the new fire truck, by the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company, volunteer firemen of Keyser. The campaign started last week during the Firemen's Victory celebration and will be carried on by the committee in charge until the goal of $10,000 has been reached.

The canvass for donations among the business houses of the city has been completed; the committee is now ready to get the house to house canvass underway. Thus every citizen living in Keyser and surrounding communities will have a chance to contribute to the fund.

The fund stands today; the goal $10,000, raised to date $3,848, balance to be obtained $6,152.

Continue Fat Salvage

J. E. Prettyman, Mineral County agricultural agent, in making an appeal to the women of the county to continue to salvage used fats, gives out some facts in explaining why the saving should be made:

In 1945, 902 million pounds of imported fats and oils were received in the United States; in 1946 the amount is expected to be considerably less. This, compared to the 2 billion pounds received annually in pre-war times, gives some idea of what the situation is.

Salvaged fats in 1945 accounted for 13% of the soap used by the people of the United States. The supply of soap for home use has been curtailed because 155 million pounds of soap will be used in the manufacture of synthetic rubber and for other industrial uses.

Will Address Rotary

Lee H. Lincoln, Rotary Governor 178th District, will address Keyser Rotarians in the I.O.O.F. Temple, 12:15 Thursday. Governor Lee is on an official tour of visitation. He met the Piedmont Rotary at noon today.

The building will be erected on the lot owned by the fire company on Queen street and will be two stories high, 30 by 50 feet, of brick and cinder-block construction, reinforced with steel.

The first floor will house fire trucks and other equipment and will be equipped with showers and sanitary plumbing for the convenience of the firemen. On the second floor will be assembly, recreation and reading rooms. Work will be started at once.

London Designers Are Working Chiefly For Foreign Markets

LONDON, (AP)—Higher hats and longer skirts shape the new Fall silhouette for leading British designers.

Skirts are longer by two to three inches. Pockets are outsize. Some measure as much as eighteen inches by fifteen inches. Peter Russell puts one pocket on top of another in graduating sizes.

As skirts go down, so jackets and hats go up. The two inches on the skirts might well have been taken off the suit jackets, which have risen by about the same amount, as have the gay, boxey jackets which were popular during the war, and which most collections still show for both evening and daytime wear.

Ostrich feathers, flowers, ribbons and fur tower above the wearer on the off-the-face hats. A huge white ermine toque at least a foot high, and worn at the back of the head made foreign buyers gasp with admiration. The toque and matching ermine muff, were worn at Norman Hartnell's show with a severe tailored cocktail or dinner dress.

Five Inch Belts

Travel and country coats, with huge sleeves to go over suits and full backs to prevent "seating" are made from the best known British tweeds. These loose coats are seldom belted, but when they are, nothing less than four or five inches width of plastic, leather or material will go.

Town coats are fitted, waisted, usually belted and always show great intricacy of cutting and design. Some designers, notably Hardy Amies, just back from a tour of the United States, are padding hips to accentuate the wasp waists. This young designer who kept his business going during the war by sketching designs on his occasional furloughs, goes in heavily for dramatic, full, floor lengthy evening coats.

Dresses are Pencil Slim

Many dresses are pencil slim, but some show drapery and dipping skirts, and accordion pleating forbidden in wartime. Creed and Stiebel both have elaborate drapery, and flared skirts making an uneven hem dipping behind. Stiebel shows formal cocktail and dinner dresses with an inverted tulip effect reminiscent of the nineteen-twenties. Skirts at many houses have double or contrasting hems.

Constrating the very narrow waist-lines are the new melon sleeves, shown by Biannea Moscax. These often contrast in color with the rest of the dress.

Queen's Designer Draws Crowd

Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker, drew to his show many Britishers anxious to study the type of clothes Her Majesty and Princess Elizabeth may be expected to wear on their forthcoming South African tour. He offered evening gowns both in pastel colors and in white and black, with heavy sequin trimming. Many were strapless, tremendously full or with draped Edwardian skirts.

Though this is preeminently a "wool" year—day, evening and afternoon clothes being shown in wool fabrics as light as one ounce a yard—taffeta, satin and chiffon are back after being in short supply during the war. Hartnell shows miles of ribbons sewn onto net to make a stiff evening dress of great richness. Peter Russell shows an air travel outfit in three weights of tweed. It is made in heavy tweed for the top coat, light for the suit, and lighter still for the dress.

Black Still A Favorite

New colors are imperial purple, banana, winter lilac, cinnamon, and pomegranate. But black still remains prime favorite for afternoon clothes.

Shown in an atmosphere of hammering and change, for many houses are moving from their wartime premises to new ones not yet deserted by painters and carpenters, the shows were crammed not only with foreign buyers but Britishers hopeful that some of these clothes for export may come to them later in the year. Export business in clothes has been booming. One house reported £90,000 (three hundred and sixty thousand dollars) worth of foreign business in the last few months.

The U. S. federal government passed laws in 1863, 1877, and 1883 forbidding the practice of polygamy in the territory of Utah.

PRETTIEST BADGER — Wisconsin's hope in the annual Miss America beauty contest is 18-year-old Toni Lunde. Five feet 7, she weighs 120 pounds.

Former WACs Find Running A Hotel Is No Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)—What are the former WACs doing since they hung up their helmets?

Well, three former WAC captains, each of whom had an outstanding job in the European theater, a sergeant and a corporal have gone into the resort business in a California ghost town left over from the gold rush days.

They are putting into reality in Johnsville, high up in the picturesque Feather River country, a plan they thought up between bombs in Europe. But they've found their actual tussles with sinks, sheets and septic tanks is a bit different from their dreams.

Judging from letters to their WAC friends in the Pentagon, this true-life yarn has more comedy possibilities than anything former Capt. Vera von Stein sought to put over in her prewar script-writing days in Hollywood.

It began this way. Vera and former Capt. Ellen Ruthman, American Red Cross director of nutrition in Cincinnati before she joined the WAC, were badly bitten by the "own your own business" bug.

Ellen, an attractive blonde widow, managed the guest houses in North Africa and France where Gen. Eisenhower entertained officially for bigwigs and high brass.

So when Ellen and Vera, commanding officer of WAC stations at 9th Air Force Headquarters in Europe, got their "ruptured ducks" they headed for California.

They found a deserted log cabin hotel with about ten outlying cabins. They bought it and set about renovating it.

The two pioneers were joined by three others.

Former Capt. Charlotta Crosier of Penn Yan, N. Y., took over sports—fishing, horseback riding, hiking, mountain climbing and skiing. She had been a physical education instructor and was watch officer at 8th Air Force Headquarters in Britain.

Helen I. Brock, a former sergeant, took a correspondence course while in France and Belgium to prepare for her present job as bookkeeper. The housekeeping department has been entrusted to Dorothy Jaquays of Cleveland, who was corporal in charge of the WACs sick bay at Rheims, Chartres and Namur.

With a groan and a cry, the girls formally opened the doors of Canyon Inn on July 1.

Eight guests arrived just as the last bed was being made. Vera was still on the ladder dusting the antlers of a deer head over the fireplace.

Then the cook had a heart attack. Ellen became head cook. She peeled spuds like any GI on KP.

The number of guests increased, and finally they got another cook, more kitchen help and waitresses. But not before three guests decided Ellen and the others should have a day off. The guests took over the hotel for a day. Ellen had breakfast in bed.

"Shoofly pie" is a molasses crumb cake popular among the Pennsylvania Amish.

Celanese Seeks CPA Plant Okay

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—Further conferences between representatives of the Celanese Corporation of America and CPA officials on the firm's application for a permit to construct a 39 million dollar plant at Rock Hill, S. C., were held today, CPA announced.

A representative of the Washington office of the Celanese Corporation said that the conference was one of a series which has been going on since last August, when the veterans' housing program first began to interfere with the firm's construction plans for its new plant. It was for the purpose of presenting additional data requested by CPA, it was said.

Although the firm's application for a construction permit has been in CPA's hands for months, it has not yet been before the facilities review board, it was stated, and there is no indication at present as to when the board will hold a hearing in the case.

Belts Are High, Wide And Handsome

GLOVE TOTER . . . New idea in red cape with a big gold buckle. Special for confirmed glove-losers.

ANNIE OAKLEY BELT . . . High drama for the simplest dress or skirt. High, wide and handsome in front, buckled in back and trimmed with a row of brass bullets.

TRIPLE BUCKLER . . . Favorite college style for wear with sweaters and skirts or jeans. Comes in pigskin or capeskin. A waist-whittler designed by Criterion.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Give a college girl enough belts, and she won't ask for an extensive wardrobe.

The simplest possible clothes are her choice — blue jeans, sweaters and skirts, date dresses with no cluttered trimmings. But when it comes to belts, the sky's the limit.

This season they must be as big and beautiful and splashy as possible. She's likely to wear a ten-dollar saddle-leather belt with a two-ninety-five pair of jeans, cinch in her oldest sweater and skirt with the newest gold-studded midriff harness.

Glamor definitely concentrates on the midriff this year, and the girl with the small waist is the one who can shine in the high, wide and handsome belts of the year.

Many of these are beautifully fitted, curved down in back and up in front. Some are six inches wide in front, taper to a narrow band in back. Some are studded with nailheads or jewels, others are austerely simple, depending on massive buckles and fine saddle leather for their effect.

LONDON, (AP)—Higher hats and longer skirts shape the new Fall silhouette for leading British designers.

Skirts are longer by two to three inches. Pockets are outsize. Some measure as much as eighteen inches by fifteen inches. Peter Russell puts one pocket on top of another in graduating sizes.

As skirts go down, so jackets and hats go up. The two inches on the skirts might well have been taken off the suit jackets, which have risen by about the same amount, as have the gay, boxey jackets which were popular during the war, and which most collections still show for both evening and daytime wear.

Ostrich feathers, flowers, ribbons and fur tower above the wearer on the off-the-face hats. A huge white ermine toque at least a foot high, and worn at the back of the head made foreign buyers gasp with admiration. The toque and matching ermine muff, were worn at Norman Hartnell's show with a severe tailored cocktail or dinner dress.

Five Inch Belts

Travel and country coats, with huge sleeves to go over suits and full backs to prevent "seating" are made from the best known British tweeds. These loose coats are seldom belted, but when they are, nothing less than four or five inches width of plastic, leather or material will do.

Town coats are fitted, waisted, usually belted and always show great intricacy of cutting and design. Some designers, notably Hardy Amies, just back from a tour of the United States, are padding hips to accentuate the wasp waists. This young designer who kept his business going during the war by sketching designs on his occasional furloughs, goes in heavily for dramatic, full, floor lengthy evening coats.

Dresses are Pencil Slim

Many dresses are pencil slim, but some show drapery and dipping skirts, and accordion pleating forbidden in wartime. Creed and Stiebel both have elaborate drapery, and flared skirts making an uneven hem dipping behind. Stiebel shows formal cocktail and dinner dresses with an inverted tulip effect reminiscent of the nineteen-twenties. Skirts at many houses have double or contrasting hems.

Constrating the very narrow waist-lines are the new melon sleeves, shown by Biannea Moscax. These often contrast in color with the rest of the dress.

Queen's Designer Draws Crowd

Norman Hartnell, the Queen's dressmaker, drew to his show many Britishers anxious to study the type of clothes Her Majesty and Princess Elizabeth may be expected to wear on their forthcoming South African tour. He offered evening gowns both in pastel colors and in white and black, with heavy sequin trimming. Many were strapless, tremendously full or with draped Edwardian skirts.

Though this is preeminently a "wool" year—day, evening and afternoon clothes being shown in wool fabrics as light as one ounce a yard—taffeta, satin and chiffon are back after being in short supply during the war. Hartnell shows miles of ribbons sewn onto net to make a stiff evening dress of great richness. Peter Russell shows an air travel outfit in three weights of tweed. It is made in heavy tweed for the top coat, light for the suit, and lighter still for the dress.

Black Still A Favorite

New colors are imperial purple, banana, winter lilac, cinnamon, and pomegranate. But black still remains prime favorite for afternoon clothes.

Shown in an atmosphere of hammering and change, for many houses are moving from their wartime premises to new ones not yet deserted by painters and carpenters, the shows were crammed not only with foreign buyers but Britishers hopeful that some of these clothes for export may come to them later in the year. Export business in clothes has been booming. One house reported £90,000 (three hundred and sixty thousand dollars) worth of foreign business in the last few months.

The U. S. federal government passed laws in 1863, 1877, and 1883 forbidding the practice of polygamy in the territory of Utah.

Former WACs Find Running A Hotel Is No Vacation

WASHINGTON (AP)—What are the former WACs doing since they hung up their helmets?

Well, three former WAC captains, each of whom had an outstanding job in the European theater, a sergeant and a corporal have gone into the resort business in a California ghost town left over from the gold rush days.

They are putting into reality in Johnsville, high up in the picturesque Feather River country, a plan they thought up between bombs in Europe. But they've found their actual tussles with sinks, sheets and septic tanks is a bit different from their dreams.

Judging from letters to their WAC friends in the Pentagon, this true-life yarn has more comedy possibilities than anything former Capt. Vera von Stein sought to put over in her prewar script-writing days in Hollywood.

It began this way. Vera and former Capt. Ellen Ruthman, American Red Cross director of nutrition in Cincinnati before she joined the WAC, were badly bitten by the "own your own business" bug.

Ellen, an attractive blonde widow, managed the guest houses in North Africa and France where Gen. Eisenhower entertained officially for bigwigs and high brass.

So when Ellen and Vera, commanding officer of WAC stations at 9th Air Force Headquarters in Europe, got their "ruptured ducks" they headed for California.

They found a deserted log cabin hotel with about ten outlying cabins. They bought it and set about renovating it.

The two pioneers were joined by three others.

Former Capt. Charlotta Crosier of Penn Yan, N. Y., took over sports—fishing, horseback riding, hiking, mountain climbing and skiing. She had been a physical education instructor and was watch officer at 8th Air Force Headquarters in Britain.

Helen I. Brock, a former sergeant, took a correspondence course while in France and Belgium to prepare for her present job as bookkeeper. The housekeeping department has been entrusted to Dorothy Jaquays of Cleveland, who was corporal in charge of the WACs sick bay at Rheims, Chartres and Namur.

With a groan and a cry, the girls formally opened the doors of Canyon Inn on July 1.

Eight guests arrived just as the last bed was being made. Vera was still on the ladder dusting the antlers of a deer head over the fireplace.

Then the cook had a heart attack. Ellen became head cook. She peeled spuds like any GI on KP.

The number of guests increased, and finally they got another cook, more kitchen help and waitresses. But not before three guests decided Ellen and the others should have a day off. The guests took over the hotel for a day. Ellen had breakfast in bed.

Celanese Seeks CPA Plant Okay

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21—Further conferences between representatives of the Celanese Corporation of America and CPA officials on the firm's application for a permit to construct a 39 million dollar plant at Rock Hill, S. C., were held today, CPA announced.

A representative of the Washington office of the Celanese Corporation said that the conference was one of a series which has been going on since last August, when the veterans' housing program first began to interfere with the firm's construction plans for its new plant. It was for the purpose of presenting additional data requested by CPA, it was said.

Although the firm's application for a construction permit has been in CPA's hands for months, it has not yet been before the facilities review board, it was stated, and there is no indication at present as to when the board will hold a hearing in the case.

Belts Are High, Wide And Handsome

GLOVE TOTER . . . New idea in red cape with a big gold buckle. Special for confirmed glove-losers.

ANNIE OAKLEY BELT . . . High drama for the simplest dress or skirt. High, wide and handsome in front, buckled in back and trimmed with a row of brass bullets.

TRIPLE BUCKLER . . . Favorite college style for wear with sweaters and skirts or jeans. Comes in pigskin or capeskin. A waist-whittler designed by Criterion.

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

Give a college girl enough belts, and she won't ask for an extensive wardrobe.

The simplest possible clothes are her choice — blue jeans, sweaters and skirts, date dresses with no cluttered trimmings. But when it comes to belts, the sky's the limit.

This season they must be as big and beautiful and splashy as possible. She's likely to wear a ten-dollar saddle-leather belt with a two-ninety-five pair of jeans, cinch in her oldest sweater and skirt with the newest gold-studded midriff harness.

Glamor definitely concentrates on the midriff this year, and the girl with the small waist is the one who can shine in the high, wide and handsome belts of the year.

Many of these are beautifully fitted, curved down in back and up in front. Some are six inches wide in front, taper to a narrow band in back. Some are studded with nailheads or jewels, others are austerely simple, depending on massive buckles and fine saddle leather for their effect.

Sima Testimony Shifts To Party

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 21 (AP) — The testimony against Lt. William R. Sima, Sr., shifted today to the much-publicized February 10 party from which stemmed three Navy trials, with a witness relating that Sima admitted to him there was drinking and gambling in the quarters of a negro steward.

The suspended bandleader of the United States Naval Academy is before a seven-man court-martial on charges of inefficiency, perjury, extortion, neglect of duty and violation of a number of regulations.

He was first placed under detention February 12, two days after an all-night party in the quarters of Chief Walter W. Rollins, negro steward, who is now waiting the reviewing authority action on his court-martial.

The prosecution called the officer who escorted Sima to detention aboard the receiving ship, Reina Mercedes, February 12, and asked him if Sima had at that time made any remarks to him.

Comdr. William F. Morrison, over prolonged and vigorous defense objection, told the court:

"Lt. Sima said that on the previous Saturday night he and his wife, his son and his son's wife had been at the North Severn Officers Club.

"After the dance they were feeling pretty good," he said, and Rollins had invited them to his room, where they had some drinks, played poker and talked, not realizing how late it was. "Evidently someone had seen them leaving early the next morning and had reported that to the superintendent."

One of the specifications in the charges against Sima accuses him of perjury in stating before another court-martial that there had been no gambling in Rollins' room.

MOLINE, Ill., Aug. 21—(AP)—A twin-engined chartered plane crashed at the Moline airport today, killing the two pilots while the stewardess and 23 passengers aboard were little more than shaken up.

Ten passengers were given first aid treatment for minor injuries. All expressed amazement that they escaped virtually unscratched.

The plane split in half, enabling most passengers to scramble quickly to safety.

WALTER H. HINDLE TO LEAVE CELANESE

Walter H. Hindle, 316 Cumberland street, who has been associated with dyeing and finishing research and development at the Celanese plant here for the past six years, has resigned his position to assume charge of dyeing and finishing at the General Ribbon Mills, Catasauqua, Pa., a Burlington Mills affiliate.

A native of Yorkshire, England, Hindle completed his early training with the Bradford Dyes Association and the Manchester College of Technology, England. He became an American citizen in April of this year.

Before coming to Cumberland, he was superintendent of dyeing at the Valleyfield, Quebec, branch of the Dominion Textile Company of Canada, which he joined in 1936.

While at the Celanese plant, Hindle became co-author of a number of British and American patents on dyeing and finishing processes. He will leave Cumberland at the end of the month to assume his new duties September 1.

His wife, Mrs. Doreen Rignal Hindle, will join him later next month. She has been associated with the Women's Guild of Emmanuel Episcopal Church for several years, serving as secretary.

Hindle will be remembered here for his part in the Theatregate production of "Blithe Spirit," in which he played the male lead. Later he handled publicity for the local dramatic organization.

Maryland Revenue Exceeds Estimate

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—Chief Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker disclosed today that unforeseen economic changes had thrown Maryland's revenue estimates askew during the last fiscal year—but well on the safe side.

McCusker's disclosure came on the heels of Budget Director Walter N. Kirkman's report to Goy. O'Conor that his department was having trouble in estimating food, clothing and building material costs for the 1948-49 budget.

McCusker said collections for the general fund exceeded estimates by $7,968,646, totaling $35,421,848.

He cited various reasons for the underestimates. For instance, in racing the estimate was made when the sport was banned. When it was resumed, there were more racing days than in the normal season.

Racing revenues were estimated at $2,000,000 and reached $5,106,833.

McCusker said wartime changes had resulted in underestimating the state gross receipts tax revenues by $1,444,176, which actually totaled $4,019,176.

Columbia's Ocean City Service Unsafe, PSC Says

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21—(AP)—Counsel for the Public Service Commission contended in Circuit Court today that Columbia Airlines' plane-limousine service to Ocean City was unsafe, while lawyers for the company sought to prove that the PSC exceeded its authority in ordering the service halted.

The Circuit Court hearing before Judge E. Paul Mason was on Columbia's petition for an injunction to restrain the PSC from enforcing the order. Judge Mason said he would hand down an opinion at a later, unspecified date.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Early Wynn survived a ninth inning rally by Cleveland here tonight as Washington edged out the Indians 4-3, before a crowd of 24,123.

The Senators shelled Charley Gassaway from the mound by scoring all their runs in the first three innings. Score:

Hancock Tomato Crop Threatened

The tomato crop in the Hancock tri-state area is threatened by the sudden outbreak of a blight at the beginning of the harvest period, according to J. F. Omps, a leading tomato packer in the Hancock area.

Omps said the blight is beginning to appear on the tomato vines and if it advances to the tomatoes before they can be harvested a heavy loss is expected, adding that growers are planning to spray their fields immediately.

He said he had planned to can about 100,000 dozen cases of tomatoes this season — 40,000 cases less than the peak pack of last year.

The tomato harvest has been underway in the Hancock area for the last two weeks but the peak of the harvest season will not be reached for several weeks, he said.

To combat the blight, which has destroyed much of the Eastern Shore tomato crop, and which is widely prevalent in the West Virginia area, growers have been urged to spray or dust their plants with fixed copper dust or Bordeaux mixture spray and repeat every day until the crop is harvested.

Omps said he plans to supply most of his pack to the Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia area, although some few shipments have been made to points beyond those states.

He said the demand for tomatoes is greater this year than in any years past "and even here in this section where so many are grown it is imposible to buy a can of tomatoes."

To combat the blight, which has destroyed much of the Eastern Shore tomato crop, and which is widely prevalent in the West Virginia area, growers have been urged to spray or dust their plants with fixed copper dust or Bordeaux mixture spray and repeat every day until the crop is harvested.

Omps said he plans to supply most of his pack to the Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia area, although some few shipments have been made to points beyond those states.

He said the demand for tomatoes is greater this year than in any years past "and even here in this section where so many are grown it is imposible to buy a can of tomatoes."

Sima Testimony Shifts To Party

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 21 (AP) — The testimony against Lt. William R. Sima, Sr., shifted today to the much-publicized February 10 party from which stemmed three Navy trials, with a witness relating that Sima admitted to him there was drinking and gambling in the quarters of a negro steward.

The suspended bandleader of the United States Naval Academy is before a seven-man court-martial on charges of inefficiency, perjury, extortion, neglect of duty and violation of a number of regulations.

He was first placed under detention February 12, two days after an all-night party in the quarters of Chief Walter W. Rollins, negro steward, who is now waiting the reviewing authority action on his court-martial.

The prosecution called the officer who escorted Sima to detention aboard the receiving ship, Reina Mercedes, February 12, and asked him if Sima had at that time made any remarks to him.

Comdr. William F. Morrison, over prolonged and vigorous defense objection, told the court:

"Lt. Sima said that on the previous Saturday night he and his wife, his son and his son's wife had been at the North Severn Officers Club.

"After the dance they were feeling pretty good," he said, and Rollins had invited them to his room, where they had some drinks, played poker and talked, not realizing how late it was. "Evidently someone had seen them leaving early the next morning and had reported that to the superintendent."

One of the specifications in the charges against Sima accuses him of perjury in stating before another court-martial that there had been no gambling in Rollins' room.

Two Pilots Killed In Airplane Crash

MOLINE, Ill., Aug. 21—(AP)—A twin-engined chartered plane crashed at the Moline airport today, killing the two pilots while the stewardess and 23 passengers aboard were little more than shaken up.

Ten passengers were given first aid treatment for minor injuries. All expressed amazement that they escaped virtually unscratched.

The plane split in half, enabling most passengers to scramble quickly to safety.

WALTER H. HINDLE TO LEAVE CELANESE

Walter H. Hindle, 316 Cumberland street, who has been associated with dyeing and finishing research and development at the Celanese plant here for the past six years, has resigned his position to assume charge of dyeing and finishing at the General Ribbon Mills, Catasauqua, Pa., a Burlington Mills affiliate.

A native of Yorkshire, England, Hindle completed his early training with the Bradford Dyes Association and the Manchester College of Technology, England. He became an American citizen in April of this year.

Before coming to Cumberland, he was superintendent of dyeing at the Valleyfield, Quebec, branch of the Dominion Textile Company of Canada, which he joined in 1936.

While at the Celanese plant, Hindle became co-author of a number of British and American patents on dyeing and finishing processes. He will leave Cumberland at the end of the month to assume his new duties September 1.

His wife, Mrs. Doreen Rignal Hindle, will join him later next month. She has been associated with the Women's Guild of Emmanuel Episcopal Church for several years, serving as secretary.

Hindle will be remembered here for his part in the Theatregate production of "Blithe Spirit," in which he played the male lead. Later he handled publicity for the local dramatic organization.

Maryland Revenue Exceeds Estimate

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—Chief Deputy Comptroller Joseph O'C. McCusker disclosed today that unforeseen economic changes had thrown Maryland's revenue estimates askew during the last fiscal year—but well on the safe side.

McCusker's disclosure came on the heels of Budget Director Walter N. Kirkman's report to Gov. O'Conor that his department was having trouble in estimating food, clothing and building material costs for the 1948-49 budget.

McCusker said collections for the general fund exceeded estimates by $7,968,646, totaling $35,421,848.

He cited various reasons for the underestimates. For instance, in racing the estimate was made when the sport was banned. When it was resumed, there were more racing days than in the normal season.

Racing revenues were estimated at $2,000,000 and reached $5,106,833.

McCusker said wartime changes had resulted in underestimating the state gross receipts tax revenues by $1,444,176, which actually totaled $4,019,176.

Columbia's Ocean City Service Unsafe, PSC Says

BALTIMORE, Aug. 21—(AP)—Counsel for the Public Service Commission contended in Circuit Court today that Columbia Airlines' plane-limousine service to Ocean City was unsafe, while lawyers for the company sought to prove that the PSC exceeded its authority in ordering the service halted.

The Circuit Court hearing before Judge E. Paul Mason was on Columbia's petition for an injunction to restrain the PSC from enforcing the order. Judge Mason said he would hand down an opinion at a later, unspecified date.

Wesley Mouzon May Get New York Bout

NEW YORK, Aug. 21(AP)—Wesley Mouzon's non-title knockout victory over New York-Philadelphia lightweight champion Bob Montgomery may earn the 19-year Philadelphia battler a November bout in Madison Square Garden.

Nat Rogers, matchmaker for Promoter Mike Jacobs' Twentieth Century S. C., today said he was "interested" in bringing the young negro here. Mouzon may be matched with Danny Kapilow of New York who lost a decision to Beau Jack in Washington Monday, the same night the Philadelphian upset Montgomery. Kapilow defeated Mouzon in Philadelphia earlier this year.

Nats Edge Tribe

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP)—Early Wynn survived a ninth inning rally by Cleveland here tonight as Washington edged out the Indians 4-3, before a crowd of 24,123.

Trailing, 4-2, entering the ninth, the Indians pushed across a run with one out on singles by Lou Boudreau and Jimmy Wasdell, plus an error by Third Baseman Cecil Travis, but with the tying run on second base, Wynn disposed of Pinch-Hitter Ken Keltner and George Case on outfield flies.

The Senators shelled Charley Gassaway from the mound by scoring all their runs in the first three innings. Score:

Bucs Buy Pitcher

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 21. (AP)—The first deal under the new ownership of the Pittsburgh Pirates—the purchase of Dewey Seriano, 26-year-old right hand pitcher, from Seattle of the Pacific Coast League—was announced today.

The management did not disclose the price, but said it included cash running into five figures in addition to two players to be delivered to Seattle on or before May 15, 1947. Seriano, 6 feet, 3 1-2 inches tall and weighing 215 pounds, will report to the Pirates next spring.

MEET "PEACHY," FROM GEORGIA

HAGAN Ice Cream

A couple of weeks ago, we put this little Southern gentleman in the windows of our Hagan Dairy Stores, inviting the public to "Enjoy a Fresh Peach Sundae—Georgia Peach, that is!"

Since then, we've really sold a lot of those sundaes. But somehow, we don't think that our friend from below the Mason and Dixon line had much to do with it. No, we think that combination of perfect ripe peaches and superlative Hagan Ice Cream just naturally sold itself.

That was a swell treat for our Dairy Store customers. Now here's real good news for everyone—that real peach flavor is now available to all our customers. That's right—the Hagan flavor-of-the month for August is Fresh Peach Ice Cream. It's delicious! Made with real, luscious, juicy Georgia peaches—every spoonful as flavor some as a dish of peaches and cream!

Try it! You can get it from your nearest dealer displaying the red Hagan shield. In bulk, cones, or in the Patrician Pint, it's Hagan Peach Ice Cream for August!

STRAWS IN THE WIND

By DANTON WALKER

The Screen Publicists Guild was assured by other union officials at a closed meeting that if guild members go on strike here every movie house in New York will be closed within three days. Movie office workers will also be called out . . . All-out strikes, as a protest against the rising cost of living, due right after Labor Day . . . Shady practices in the issuance of export licenses, now being investigated, will make hot news by cool weather (one reason you can't purchase necessary equipment of every sort here is because it is being sold overseas, just as it was during the war) . . . A shake-up of top personnel handling policy matters in occupied Germany will rock the State Department next month . . . At least two women will be appointed to high government posts by late fall, because of pressure on the White House by women's organizations.

Margaret Truman will undergo a complete "glamorizing" course to make her looks match her personality. . . . Catherine Murray, Mrs. Alfred Vanderbilt's sister, and Chris Hofer, are planning to rush things despite family objections . . . London's swank Savoy Hotel so crowded with Americans that British society is griping that they need passports to get in . . . Mayer is dickering to buy the St. Louis Browns . . . Straws in the wind: Champ Joe Louis to oppose the re-election of Harlem's left-of-center Congressman, Adam Clayton Powell . . . "Mead for governor" buttons ordered from a local printing concern . . . Alleged duplication of land awards at the Broklyn (New York) Navy Yard causing embarrassment to a State politician.

Libby Holman's new stage vehicle, "Best of Friends," which has been agitating the Boston censors, is a merry little opus all about the murder of wives by husbands and vice versa. The hit song is titled "I'm As Innocent As Hell." . . . Former screen favorite Evelyn Brent is returning to films in a Monogram Western. . . . A radio show sponsored by the Veterans Administration being made up from the tryouts at the Versailles GI showcase (Don Weiss and Frank Rosar jr. of the VA in charge). . . . When Lester Lind Hayes bowed in at the Copa last June, this column hailed him as one of the season's best bets. Unfortunately, as too often happens, this line was cut for space and though it appeared in out-of-town papers, it missed the News. Let's make amends now by saying that Hayes is not only a great night club entertainer but a potentially fine actor, one capable of stepping into the shoes of either Frank Fay or Eddie Dowling. His material, like Danny Kaye's, is always clean, which is one reason for his success.

This wacky world! The American Feline Society (membership 24) is petitioning President Truman to proclaim November 23-29 as National Cat Week. . . . Motorist Pays Fine On Speeding Charge

One motorist paid a fine of $10.75 and three others forfeited bonds totaling $15.35 when they failed to appear in trial magistrates court yesterday for hearings on state motor vehicle charges.

Joseph M. Mounett, 89 Henderson avenue, paid the fine for exceeding 50 miles an hour on Route 220 at Bowling Green Tuesday. Trooper Milton Hart preferred charges.

Franklin Bennett, 122 South street, forfeited $6.45 for passing on a curve and $2.45 for operating a motor vehicle without a mirror required by his driver's license. Robert E. Yonkers, Flintstone, forfeited $6.45 for speeding at Bowling Green Tuesday. The former was apprehended on Martin's mountain by Trooper Charles D. Mades and Yonkers was taken into custody by Trooper Hart.

In Police Court, W. J. Nevins, Clearwater, Fla., was fined $2 on a charge of careless driving.

HELD FOR MAYHEM—Mrs. Margaret Colvin, above, is the 50-year-old operator of an Indianapolis, Ind., nursing home, called the "House of Horrors" by investigating police who found patients there chained to their beds. Mrs. Colvin has been charged with assault and battery and malicious mayhem.

Local Man Is Jailed On Vagrancy Charge

Alfred McGuire, negro, this city, was sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction for six months when he was convicted, at a hearing before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in trial magistrates court yesterday, on a charge of vagrancy.

Everett V. Mullenax, 131 Paca street, was acquitted, at a hearing before Magistrate Bruce, of a charge of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Catherine Mullenax, Monday. Attaches said the man's brother-in-law obtained the warrant but that Mrs. Mullenax did not testify.

Rethal L. Davis Dies En Route Here

Rethal L. Davis, 68, of Oakland, Calif., retired manufacturer, died suddenly of a heart attack after being stricken at a tourist camp near Wheeling, W. Va., while enroute via automobile to visit his brother, Stephen C. Davis, of Flintstone, and relatives in Hartford, Conn.

According to word received here, Mr. Davis and his wife, the former Miss Evelyn Frazier, stopped at "The Pines" to spend the night. Mrs. Davis was reading and her husband halted in the doorway of their cabin to light a cigaret before taking a shower when he collapsed.

Mr. Davis was alive when placed in an ambulance, but he was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital in Wheeling. A post-mortem disclosed his death was caused by a heart condition.

The body was sent from the Crider-Kepner Funeral Home in Wheeling to East Corinth, Maine, where services and interment were held. Stephen Davis went to Wheeling when notified of his brother's death.

Boy Who Stole Plane Will Be Taught To Fly

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 (AP) — John Marsh Hopkins, 17, held in default of $500 bond on charges of stealing a plane and cracking it up, may get flying lessons with bills paid by the Army and Navy Union.

George H. Maimes of Flint, Mich., representing the union, a veterans organization, reported this today, saying:

"That kid's a natural born flyer. We certainly want to help him. I have spoken to Capt. Henry W. Gerber, our national commander and we have determined that the best way to rehabilitate him is to make his wish to fly come true. We intend to put him through flying school as soon as a way is found out of his trouble."

The boy, now held in Rockville, Md., took the plane from the Queens Chapel airport in a middle of the night maneuver that airmen described as a "miracle." He cracked up near Rockville a short time later.

It's proper to show up and you may demand a show down, but never show off.

Alfred McGuire, negro, this city, was sentenced to the Maryland House of Correction for six months when he was convicted, at a hearing before Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr., in trial magistrates court yesterday, on a charge of vagrancy.

Everett V. Mullenax, 131 Paca street, was acquitted, at a hearing before Magistrate Bruce, of a charge of assaulting his wife, Mrs. Catherine Mullenax, Monday. Attaches said the man's brother-in-law obtained the warrant but that Mrs. Mullenax did not testify.

Rethal L. Davis Dies En Route Here

Rethal L. Davis, 68, of Oakland, Calif., retired manufacturer, died suddenly of a heart attack after being stricken at a tourist camp near Wheeling, W. Va., while enroute via automobile to visit his brother, Stephen C. Davis, of Flintstone, and relatives in Hartford, Conn.

According to word received here, Mr. Davis and his wife, the former Miss Evelyn Frazier, stopped at "The Pines" to spend the night. Mrs. Davis was reading and her husband halted in the doorway of their cabin to light a cigaret before taking a shower when he collapsed.

Mr. Davis was alive when placed in an ambulance, but he was pronounced dead upon arrival at a hospital in Wheeling. A post-mortem disclosed his death was caused by a heart condition.

The body was sent from the Crider-Kepner Funeral Home in Wheeling to East Corinth, Maine, where services and interment were held. Stephen Davis went to Wheeling when notified of his brother's death.

Girl Too Proud To Pursue Boy Indifferent To Her Is Advised To Continue Policy

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love And Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 19, and have been going with a fellow the same age for six months.

He got discharged from the Navy two weeks ago, and I haven't seen him since. When he left me, he said he loved me very much, and couldn't wait till we were married.

Many times I've wanted to call him, but I have too much pride to do so. I miss him an awful lot, so will you please tell me what to do?

"MISS PRIDE."

You're doing the very best thing you could do already, and that is—having too much pride to pursue a boy who seems indifferent to you. Keep on being that way.

If your boy friend ever intends to come back to you, he'll come without any prodding from you. And if he doesn't, no amount of calling him up can make him come. Being a girl with pride and good sense, you wouldn't want anyone who had to be coaxed.

I'm sure you do miss this boy, but just sit tight, go out with other boys and before you know it, you'll have forgotten all about him. A friendship of six months doesn't leave an impression you'll never get over.

He Doesn't Notice Her

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have a great problem.

I am 17, and love a boy of 24 very much. He does not ever notice me. What can I do?

"SAD DODDIE."

Do you mean what can you do to make him notice you, or what can you do to make yourself stop loving him and begin forgetting him? Because the latter is the only sensible thing to do, you know. It's silly, don't you think, to go mooning around over a young man who never looks your way?

Most young men of 24 consider themselves far too mature to give serious attention to a teen-ager, and, frankly, they ought to be. It's perfectly natural for a teen-ager to admire and look up to men older than she is, but if she's a smart girl, she'll try to realize that his interests and hers are very different, and she won't make herself miserable expecting him to feel the same way about her. It's far more satisfactory to have someone you admire feel that you're a nice kid, than to have that same someone think of you as a silly, love-sick adolescent. Don't you think so?

"MISS PRIDE."

You're doing the very best thing you could do already, and that is—having too much pride to pursue a boy who seems indifferent to you. Keep on being that way.

If your boy friend ever intends to come back to you, he'll come without any prodding from you. And if he doesn't, no amount of calling him up can make him come. Being a girl with pride and good sense, you wouldn't want anyone who had to be coaxed.

I'm sure you do miss this boy, but just sit tight, go out with other boys and before you know it, you'll have forgotten all about him. A friendship of six months doesn't leave an impression you'll never get over.

He Doesn't Notice Her

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I have a great problem.

I am 17, and love a boy of 24 very much. He does not ever notice me. What can I do?

"SAD DODDIE."

Do you mean what can you do to make him notice you, or what can you do to make yourself stop loving him and begin forgetting him? Because the latter is the only sensible thing to do, you know. It's silly, don't you think, to go mooning around over a young man who never looks your way?

Most young men of 24 consider themselves far too mature to give serious attention to a teen-ager, and, frankly, they ought to be. It's perfectly natural for a teen-ager to admire and look up to men older than she is, but if she's a smart girl, she'll try to realize that his interests and hers are very different, and she won't make herself miserable expecting him to feel the same way about her. It's far more satisfactory to have someone you admire feel that you're a nice kid, than to have that same someone think of you as a silly, love-sick adolescent. Don't you think so?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21 — Strapping Paul Porter, as OPA administrator, is the Most Complained-to Man in America. All day long delegations of complainants file in and out of his office.

A female attack party from the Consumers' Advisory committee pushed their way into his office the other day, plump and panting from the heat. They were there to protest the de-controlling of girdles!

Austine Cassini

Porter, who is a bottomless well of humor told them deadpan:

"Ladies, it has been my understanding that girdles were designed to suppress inflation."

The ladies did not heave with laughter at this. They wanted elastic brassieres and girdles kept down, and they presented their arguments with force — and weight.

Porter claims all he wants is peace and quiet, and good will. He was spreading good will when he called Henry Wallace the other day to give the fellow a little encouragement.

"What's that?" came from the secretary of commerce who was probably eating one of his favorite dishes of ice cream often served him in his office.

"Fifty-six million people have jobs in the United States. Looks like they're close to your 60,000,000 figure. Aren't you happy?"

"No," said Henry dourly. "It won't last."

Pink-cheeked, curly-haired John L. Sullivan, under secretary of the Navy, doesn't have "a fist on him like Sullivan," but if you'd seen him alternating at the piano with Dick Kleberg, King ranch and Assault owner, you'd know he has a touch like Iturbi.

It was the steak feast to end all steak feasts given by Pan American vice president "Senator" Bill McEvoy. Steaks were the size of flattops and easy on the palate as charcoal could make them.

Relatives of "Willie the Whale Who Wanted to Sing at the Met" (an episode in Disney's newest, "Make Mine Music," which should become beloved by every generation as Cinderella or The Three Bears), should be glad to know that there's an elaborate system of protocol for whales.

It's the result of an international conference in London no less.

In which the British Empire, the United States, Canada, Denmark and Norway met and in long sessions discussed nothing but whales . . . and agreed to sign a "Protocol Treaty"—an international agreement.

Now relatives of Willie the Whale get a new lease on life. . . . The total number of whales which may be killed during this year is not to exceed 16,000 blue whales.

Whale protocol goes on to explain that a blue whale is equal to two "fin whales" or 2½ "humpbacked whales" or six "seiwhales." . . . Fascinated members of Congress were told a "seiwhale" is one known by the name of BALAENOPTERA BAREALIS.

Any nation sending out a whaling fleet must notify the British Empire. Trust the British to keep a finger in every pie—even a whale pie! . . . The British Empire, after being notified that such-and-such-a-country is out harpooning, then formally tells the others nations. . . . And all this rigmarole is "Whale Protocol."

Railroad Blocked By Derailment

A heavy freight engine and nine cars of a mixed freight of the Western Maryland Railway wrecked about midnight Tuesday near Round Top in the Hancock section with the passing track and the main lines still being blocked by the wreckage.

So far as could be learned there was no one injured. Details as to how the derailment took place were vague. The locomotive was one of the mallet-type 1200's used in the mountain districts of the railway.

Traffice on the line between here and the wreckage point was detoured over the B. and O. Railroad.

Do you feel bloated and miserable after every meal, taste sour, bitter food? If so, here is how you may get blessed relief from this nervous distress.

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Leak Is Reported In Frostburg City Reservoir

Thousands Of Gallons Of Water Lost Daily; Repairs Are Started

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 21—A large leak in the city reservoir, located on what is known as the Atkinson property on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain, was recently reported to the mayor and city commissioners. It has resulted in the loss of thousands of gallons of water daily. Mayor Skidmore and City Commissioners made an inspection of the reservoir last night and decided to make necessary repairs.

City Engineer Philip Hartig was instructed to draft plans and specifications for repairing the concrete floor and constructing walls with a view to increasing the capacity of the reservoir. It is located a short distance from the city filtration plant and is used for the reception of water from Piney Run dam where it is run through the city filters, before it empties into big reservoirs at the Filtration plant.

Mayor Skidmore said that the repairing and enlarging of the property would involve a considerable outlay of money but the loss of water is so great that the work would have to be done immediately.

As soon as plans and specifications are completed the city will advertise for bids and a contract would be awarded to the lowest bidder, the mayor said.

Anne Lyons Married

The attendants were Miss Alice Click, Mt. Savage and Milton Story, Clarysville. The bride wore a pink dress with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias. Miss Click wore a blue dress and a corsage of gardenias. Following their honeymoon in Washington the couple will live in Cumberland.

Articles will be sold from a dispay which is to be arranged on a fancy work table and a white elephant table. A hat auction will also be featured. Mrs. J. C. Shryock is chairman of the committee in charge of arrangements.

Schools To Open In Hardy County On September 3

Enrollment Is Expected To Increase Again This Term

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 21—Hardy county public schools will open Tuesday September 3, according to an announcement made by Raymond S. Dispanet, superintendent of the county schools and secretary of the Board of Education. Dispanet also announced that a teachers meeting would be held at Moorefield High School on Friday August 30.

Enrollment is expected to be up again this year according to the estimates of teachers at the end of the last school year. Enrollment in the high schools in the county is expected to be 575 as compared with 550 last year and the elementary enrollment is expected to reach 1660 as compared with 1618 last year.

Enrollment increased steadily during 1945-46 because of the return of families with children of school age. This condition still prevails.

Free Textbooks Provided

Parents of children in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the Hardy county schools will not have to purchase textbooks for their children according to an announcement by County School Superintendent Raymond S. Dispanet. In addition to furnishing all children with free text books in the upper grades, all needy children in the lower grades will be provided with text books.

Dispanet pointed out that this would not be a permanent policy of the Hardy County Board of Education. It will only be effective this year or until the textbooks are changed. He explained that the free textbook fund was separate from the general fund and must be spent during the school year and can be used for no other purpose than the purchase of text books.

For the past several years the Board of Education has been supplying all needy children with free textbooks. However, the funds allocated to the county this year will enable the board to purchase textbooks for all students in the upper elementary grades. No books will be furnished to the high school students.

The furnishing of free textbooks does not include the work books that the students will have to purchase in the various grades.

Dispanet pointed out that the war has made many of the present textbooks obsolete or in need of revision, and that new textbooks would be adopted by the state within the next year or so. When this is done the funds available will not be sufficient to furnish all students with free books.

Investigate Parks

Representatives of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce spent Friday night in Moorefield at the McNeill Hotel, enroute to Lost River State Park and Cacapon State Park. The party of four was making an investigation of the parks so that they could make recommendations for the establishment of a park and recreation area near Princeton. They were particularly interested in the facilities offered by the state parks and the equipment used by the parks for the accomodation of large parties.

The representatives were Kyle McCormick, president of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and publisher of the Princeton Observer, A. G. Burton, manager of the Appalachian Power Company, S. J. Evans, president of Tri-City Traction Company and W. G. Shuff, manager of the Tri-City Company.

The inspection party stopped at the local park at the spot where Lost River disappears under the mountain, and drove on through Wardensville on their way to Berkeley Springs and Charles Town. They returned to Princeton by way of the Sky Line Drive.

Asked To Obey Law

Mayor J. Harry Dolan and the members of the Town Council ask the co-operation of the citizens in observing the town ordinances. A complete revision of the law has recently been completed and the laws are indexed for inspection by the townspeople.

Old and obsolete ordinances were taken out and duplicating ordinances have been consolidated.

The current drive against double parking, parking in unloading zones and other traffic violations will be continued indefinitely, according to the statement by the Mayor.

"The townspeople ask us as councilmen to enforce the laws" the Mayor said, "and we in turn insist that the town sergeants do their job. There will be no 'fixing' of traffic tickets from now on."

Three new ordinances were published last week. One about double parking, one about appearing in public place while intoxicated and one fixing the salary of the councilmen, recorder, mayor and establishing fees for the town sergeant.

Leak Is Reported In Frostburg City Reservoir

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 21—A large leak in the city reservoir, located on what is known as the Atkinson property on the east slope of Big Savage Mountain, was recently reported to the mayor and city commissioners. It has resulted in the loss of thousands of gallons of water daily. Mayor Skidmore and City Commissioners made an inspection of the reservoir last night and decided to make necessary repairs.

City Engineer Philip Hartig was instructed to draft plans and specifications for repairing the concrete floor and constructing walls with a view to increasing the capacity of the reservoir. It is located a short distance from the city filtration plant and is used for the reception of water from Piney Run dam where it is run through the city filters, before it empties into big reservoirs at the Filtration plant.

Mayor Skidmore said that the repairing and enlarging of the property would involve a considerable outlay of money but the loss of water is so great that the work would have to be done immediately.

As soon as plans and specifications are completed the city will advertise for bids and a contract would be awarded to the lowest bidder, the mayor said.

Schools To Open In Hardy County On September 3

Enrollment Is Expected To Increase Again This Term

By KATHERINE FISHER

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Aug. 21—Hardy county public schools will open Tuesday September 3, according to an announcement made by Raymond S. Dispanet, superintendent of the county schools and secretary of the Board of Education. Dispanet also announced that a teachers meeting would be held at Moorefield High School on Friday August 30.

Enrollment is expected to be up again this year according to the estimates of teachers at the end of the last school year. Enrollment in the high schools in the county is expected to be 575 as compared with 550 last year and the elementary enrollment is expected to reach 1660 as compared with 1618 last year.

Enrollment increased steadily during 1945-46 because of the return of families with children of school age. This condition still prevails.

Free Textbooks Provided

Parents of children in the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eighth grades in the Hardy county schools will not have to purchase textbooks for their children according to an announcement by County School Superintendent Raymond S. Dispanet. In addition to furnishing all children with free text books in the upper grades, all needy children in the lower grades will be provided with text books.

Dispanet pointed out that this would not be a permanent policy of the Hardy County Board of Education. It will only be effective this year or until the textbooks are changed. He explained that the free textbook fund was separate from the general fund and must be spent during the school year and can be used for no other purpose than the purchase of text books.

For the past several years the Board of Education has been supplying all needy children with free textbooks. However, the funds allocated to the county this year will enable the board to purchase textbooks for all students in the upper elementary grades. No books will be furnished to the high school students.

The furnishing of free textbooks does not include the work books that the students will have to purchase in the various grades.

Dispanet pointed out that the war has made many of the present textbooks obsolete or in need of revision, and that new textbooks would be adopted by the state within the next year or so. When this is done the funds available will not be sufficient to furnish all students with free books.

Investigate Parks

Representatives of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce spent Friday night in Moorefield at the McNeill Hotel, enroute to Lost River State Park and Cacapon State Park. The party of four was making an investigation of the parks so that they could make recommendations for the establishment of a park and recreation area near Princeton. They were particularly interested in the facilities offered by the state parks and the equipment used by the parks for the accomodation of large parties.

The representatives were Kyle McCormick, president of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce and publisher of the Princeton Observer, A. G. Burton, manager of the Appalachian Power Company, S. J. Evans, president of Tri-City Traction Company and W. G. Shuff, manager of the Tri-City Company.

The inspection party stopped at the local park at the spot where Lost River disappears under the mountain, and drove on through Wardensville on their way to Berkeley Springs and Charles Town. They returned to Princeton by way of the Sky Line Drive.

Asked To Obey Law

Mayor J. Harry Dolan and the members of the Town Council ask the co-operation of the citizens in observing the town ordinances. A complete revision of the law has recently been completed and the laws are indexed for inspection by the townspeople.

Old and obsolete ordinances were taken out and duplicating ordinances have been consolidated.

The current drive against double parking, parking in unloading zones and other traffic violations will be continued indefinitely, according to the statement by the Mayor.

"The townspeople ask us as councilmen to enforce the laws" the Mayor said, "and we in turn insist that the town sergeants do their job. There will be no 'fixing' of traffic tickets from now on."

Three new ordinances were published last week. One about double parking, one about appearing in public place while intoxicated and one fixing the salary of the councilmen, recorder, mayor and establishing fees for the town sergeant.

Canadian Fur Farmers Turn To Chinchilla

TORONTO. (AP) — Canada's two-year-old chinchilla-breeding industry is attracting fur farmers.

Since 1923 when the first six dozen chinchillas were brought to the United States to breed in captivity animals fast becoming extinct in their own land, chinchilla ranches have sprung up in all parts of the continent. Now there are more than 20,000 of the animals.

The Canadian Chinchilla Company, with head offices in Toronto, with ranches throughout southwestern Ontario and the Niagara Peninsula, sells pairs of chinchillas to would-be fur farmers throughout the Dominion.

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20.—Viveca Lindfors is losing her Swedish accent so fast (she goes to school every day) that Warners feel it is no longer necessary to slant her as a "furriner", so "Ships In The River" is out. Instead, La Lindfors, the Burbank answer to Ingrid Bergman, goes into the all-American "Night Unto Night" with Ronald Reagan as her co-star. Owen Crump will produce with no director set.

In the Phillip Wylie novel, the Swedish charmer plays a woman of deep faith who falls in love with a young scientist with none. It's Ronnie's best dramatic role since "Kings Row"—so they say. If you ask me, I'm all for giving Lindfors a hand for learning our language in so short a time it makes this assignment possible. I'd hate to have to pick up Swedish that fast.

Now that Casey Robinson has pulled up stakes from the Ben Bogeaus company and moved to Columbia, his first picture for Harry Cohn will be "No Sad Songs For Me", starring Irene Dunne. Casey will script and produce and he says, "it's the greatest woman's story I've ever read—greater than 'Dark Victory' which I always considered my strongest screenplay for a woman." Casey should know a good woman's story when he sees one. He wrote "The Corn Is Green", "All This and Heaven Too," "Now Voyager" and "The Old Maid"—all top Bette Davis tear jerkers.

Next to the "egg" and Claudette Colbert in "The Egg and I" one of the most discussed characters of the book is Ma Kettle, the cornspun philosopher. Ma carries the comedy while Claudette and Fred MacMurray keep the chickens going—and Ma will be nobody else but Marjorie Main, borrowed from MGM for the Bill Goetz picture. If you read and loved Betty Mac Donald's book as much as I did, you'll agree that Marjorie is plum perfect for the part, razor-edged voice and all.

Producers who were interested in buying Cornel Wilde's "Romance of Lord Byron," which he wrote with Robert Turney, were also interested in getting Wilde to star in it. That wasn't possible because 20th has him under contract. So what could be a happier solution than for 20th to buy the story and star Cornel in it themselves? That's exactly what happened and what I think Cornel hoped would happen all along. First, he has to do "Forever Amber", "The Black Rose" and a couple of other little nifties before getting around to the character of the club-footed genius—so it won't go into production before late next year.

There's a difference of opinion about who controls the rights to Admiral Richard Byrd's story for the screen. Last week, Brian Donlevy was said to have a 90-day option on "Snowbird" but the following telegram arrived today from Polan Banks telling a different story: "I control all picture production rights on Admiral Byrd's life story under agreement with the Admiral as well as film rights to his five best selling books plus thousands of feet of film made by Byrd on his various polar expeditions. I also have releases from Senator Harry Byrd and other members of the Byrd family. I plan to produce the story independently." x x x

Hollywood in shorts: Telephone calls from Howard Huges or not Yvonne de Carlo had dinner with Billy Wilder at Lucey's the other night—no blackjacking this time . . . Deanna Durbin so streamlined and slender these days they're slimming down her clothes dummy in the wardrobe department . . . . That was one beautiful party the Adolph Spreckels (Kay Williams) tossed a few nights ago. A canvas top covered the dance floor with ropes of beautiful flowers trailing to the ground and the lights on the swimming pool played on the red, white and green balloons floating in the water. It would be easier to list WHO WASN'T there dancing to Phil Ohman's dreamy music. Joan Crawford, with Freddy De Cordova in stead of Greg Bautzer, loked like a co-ed in a white lace dress with a short hair cut and bangs. One of the real beauties was Pat Morison—why doesn't she get the screen roles to show off her glamor? Rosalind Russell in the most luscious white fur coats I ever saw. Joan Fontaine, Sonja Henie, Van Johnson, Tyrone Power, and Annabella, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Jennifer Jones, David Selznick, Gene Tierney, and Oleg Cassini, Lorena Danker, with Louis B. Mayer, the Edgar Bergens, Gracie Allen and George Burns, Dorothy Lamour, the Eddie Welshs, the Joe Pasternaks, Harry Joe Brown, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, Fieldsy Lang and those two Parsons gals—Harriet and Louella were among the 250 who had themselves a time. Incidentally, it's easy to see where Kay Spreckels gets her beauty. She's a carbon copy of her handsome mother . . . . Louis Sobol, our own King Features writer, plays himself in "Copacabana", for Sam Coslow—Louis movie debut, by the way . . . . John Greer, Jane's twin brother, made a test at Warner's last week that may bring on an acting contract. That's all today.

HOLLYWOOD KEYHOLE

SHHH! Maybe we shouldna looked! It's that funny person, Bob Hope, looking even funnier with his trousers off. They ripped during the filming of "Where There's Life." Bob waits for repairs as Director Sidney Lanfield laughs. No matter. Where there's a wardrobe department, there's hope.

That wasn't possible because 20th has him under contract. So what could be a happier solution than for 20th to buy the story and star Cornel in it themselves? That's exactly what happened and what I think Cornel hoped would happen all along. First, he has to do "Forever Amber", "The Black Rose" and a couple of other little niftles before getting around to the character of the club-footed genius—so it won't go into production before late next year.

There's a difference of opinion about who controls the rights to Admiral Richard Byrd's story for the screen. Last week, Brian Donlevy was said to have a 90-day option on "Snowbird" but the following telegram arrived today from Polan Banks telling a different story: "I control all picture production rights on Admiral Byrd's life story under agreement with the Admiral as well as film rights to his five best selling books plus thousands of feet of film made by Byrd on his various polar expeditions. I also have releases from Senator Harry Byrd and other members of the Byrd family. I plan to produce the story independently." x x x

Hollywood in shorts: Telephone calls from Howard Huges or not Yvonne de Carlo had dinner with Billy Wilder at Lucey's the other night—no blackjacking this time . . . Deanna Durbin so streamlined and slender these days they're slimming down her clothes dummy in the wardrobe department . . . . That was one beautiful party the Adolph Spreckels (Kay Williams) tossed a few nights ago. A canvas top covered the dance floor with ropes of beautiful flowers trailing to the ground and the lights on the swimming pool played on the red, white and green balloons floating in the water. It would be easier to list WHO WASN'T there dancing to Phil Ohman's dreamy music. Joan Crawford, with Freddy De Cordova in stead of Greg Bautzer, loked like a co-ed in a white lace dress with a short hair cut and bangs. One of the real beauties was Pat Morison—why doesn't she get the screen roles to show off her glamor? Rosalind Russell in the most luscious white fur coats I ever saw. Joan Fontaine, Sonja Henie, Van Johnson, Tyrone Power, and Annabella, Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Jennifer Jones, David Selznick, Gene Tierney, and Oleg Cassini, Lorena Danker, with Louis B. Mayer, the Edgar Bergens, Gracie Allen and George Burns, Dorothy Lamour, the Eddie Welshs, the Joe Pasternaks, Harry Joe Brown, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, Fieldsy Lang and those two Parsons gals—Harriet and Louella were among the 250 who had themselves a time. Incidentally, it's easy to see where Kay Spreckels gets her beauty. She's a carbon copy of her handsome mother . . . . Louis Sobol, our own King Features writer, plays himself in "Copacabana", for Sam Coslow—Louis movie debut, by the way . . . . John Greer, Jane's twin brother, made a test at Warner's last week that may bring on an acting contract. That's all today.

HOLLYWOOD KEYHOLE

Late Wave Of Selling Hits Market, Throwing Some Leaders For Losses

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP) — Fairly active selling hit the stock market at the tail-end of today's session, substantially reducing early advances and throwing numerous leaders for losses of one to four points.

Brokers attributed liquidation partly to pessimism over the refusal of the list, as a whole, to respond to generally bullish business news including another big batch of increased dividends, extras and rising earnings. The cloudy labor situation and apprehension over foreign developments also received some of the blame. Decisions of the Price Decontrol Board apparently had little effect on sentiment.

Prominent on the slide were United States Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Kennecott, American Smelting, du Pont, Union Carbide, United States Gypsum, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway and Northern Pacific. Small gains were retained by Chesapeake and Ohio, Consolidated Edison, Air Reduction and Johns-Manville.

Bonds were narrow.

North American Light preferred, in the Curb, was up four points at $154 on 200 shares in the wake of the company's plans to pay off all claims on the senior stock. In front were Consolidated Steel, Prosperity Corporation, Southland (on a lifted dividend) and St. Regis Paper. Turnover here was 220,000 shares, the same as yesterday.

American Telephone and Telegraph Company 3s of 1956 dropped more than four points in the bond market today after announcement the company proposed to sell as much as $351,000,000 of debentures to raise new capital.

The financing would represent the largest block of new money asked by a corporation in the history of American industry.

The rail group in the market took off on another tack after rallying yesterday from a new average low for the year. Losses ranging to more than a point outweighed minor gains. The balance of the list stayed on an even keel.

Other corporates trimmed included Baltimore and Ohio convertibles at 61¼, St. Paul convertibles at 76½, Rock Island convertibles at 29 and refunding 4s at 61½, International Great Northern adjusted 6s at 31½, Missouri Pacific general 4s at 42½, and Frisco "A" 4s at 55⅛.

Australian and selected Latin American issues improved in the foreign dollar list.

United States governments in the longer maturities declined 1-32 to 5-32 in the over-the-counter market with the Victory Loan 2½s of December '67-'72 off 2-32 at 102 21-32 bfd.

Sales totaled $3,420,000 compared with $3,040,000 Tuesday.

Iowa Lad Pilots Winners In Four Of Eight Events

Aldridge Wins By Photo Over Red Wrack In Wilson Memorial

Mac Briar, 11-1 Shot, Cops Fifth; Purses Hiked From $800 To $900

Apprentice Robert "Bobby" Runyon's clever riding highlighted the second day's racing program of the Cumberland Fair Association at Fairgo yesterday when the Council Bluffs, Ia., lad booted home four of the eight winners to gain undisputed possession of first place in the jockey standings.

Runyon, who made his debut on the half milers this year, started off the day by winning with Little Knight in the first race and after running out on She's Tops in the third and Unheard in the fourth he came back to pilot the winners in the last three races—Aldridge in the sixth, Famas Time in the seventh and Dunsan in the final event.

The four winners yesterday gave the Iowan a record of five firsts and a total of 25 points in the race for the diamond ring which will be awarded to the leading jockey of the meeting by the Harvey Jewelry Company. Runyon's first win was aboard Two Bucks in the opening event on Tuesday. Bobby has had seven mounts in two days, five being winners and two also rans.

Betting Is Up 20 Per Cent

A crowd of 9,000 persons witnessed yesterday's eight-race program and wagered a total of $278,461, which topped the 1945 second day's handle of $223,803 by $54,658. Fairgo racing fans have bet over a half million dollars in two days, the exact figures being $512,892 for 16 races. This is 20.4 per cent above the $425,989 handled by the parimutuel department on the first two days last year. The total for the first five days in 1945 was $1,184,538.

Mrs. C. Bowers's Aldridge, making his first start since the Bel Air, Md., meet, was given a powerful ride by Bobby Runyon to win over Mrs. Mary Knieriem's Red Wrack by a photo finish in the Robert C. Wilson Memorial, sixth event on the card. Horses numbered 1-2-3 finished the race in that order. Mrs. J. P. Iselin's Blitzette was third. The owner of the winner received $700 of the $1,000 purse and a portable radio from the City Furniture Company, which was presented by Nelson W. Russler, official announcer of the fair association.

Purses Hiked To $900

Immediately after the race, George P. Mahoney, chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission, announced that in appreciation of the splendid patronage on the first two days of the meeting the Cumberland Fair Association decided to increase minimum purses from $800 to $900, effective today. There will be one $1,000 race each day except on Saturday, August 24, when the Clifton W. White Handicap, a $1,200 event, will be run.

The longest price on the second day's program was provided in the fifth race when Lewis H. Kraskin's Mac Briar, an 11 to 1 shot, with Benny Leggett up, defeated Toil Away by a head to reward his backers with $24 for each $2 straight ticket. Toil Away also returned a nice mutuel when the chestnut filly paid $21.60 to place and $10.70 to show.

Photos Determine Three

Photos were called to separate the first and second place horses in three races—the first, sixth and eighth.

In the opener C. L. Leach's Little Knight nipped Brave Warrior by a head with China Toy third. The sixth went to Aldridge while the eighth, a mile and a sixteenth thriller, went to R. S. Dare's Dusan over Gradatim while Valdina Haven took show money.

A Cumberland owned horse scored for the second time during the meeting when Aylesbury, the property of Mrs. Mary Knieriem, galloped to victory over Casset by three lengths in the second event on the card. J. Dunbar rode the winner, which paid off at the odds of 3 to 1.

The daily double combination of Little Knight and Aylesbury (6 and 4) produced $27.30 for $2.

Careless Knight, J. C. Curran's veteran campaigner, piloted by Mike Sarno, who made his Fairgo debut, defeated Satellite by three lengths to win the third race. Flying John grabbed off show money. Quick Ann was a late scratch.

Gay Victory Scores

Everett F. Brining, of Hagerstown, saddled Gay Victory, winner of the fourth, which defeated Dawndale by a half length. Sammy Palumbo gave the five-year-old gelding a good ride to mark up his second win of the meeting. Sammy won with the bay son of Monarch at the recent Bel Air and Charles Town meetings.

N. L. Brown became the leading winning trainer of the meeting to date when H. V. Brown's Famas Time defeated Marandan, the favorite, by three lengths in The Keyser, seventh race on the program, and Dunsan captured the final. Brown is the only trainer who has saddled more than one winner during the first two days of the ten-day session.

Win By Forfeit

Mower's Bakery won by forfeit from Mapleside yesterday when the latter team failed to put in its appearance for its Midget League game at Stitcher field.

It was the second forfeit of the week in the league.

NELSON, BARRON AND HARRISON WIN TWO PGA TOURNEY MATCHES

Schmeiter Upsets Snead And Ferrier Humbles Lawson Little

By RUSS NEWLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 21. (AP)—Champion Byron Nelson, whose aching back has been widely publicized, started off in defense of his Professional Golfers Association championship today like a supercharged athlete.

He won his first two matches hands down, batting old man par and his physical rivals into submission with a ten-under-par display.

The Toledo, O., umbrella man and part time Denton, Tex., rancher, walloped Frank Rodia, La Mesa, Calif., 8 and 7 in the initial round. He came back in the afternoon to show Larry Lamberger how the game should be played on his own course, the latter being the pro of the host Portland Golf Club.

Nelson sent Lamberger to a 3 and 2 defeat.

The back misery which has caused Nelson to take treatments for several weeks, hardly seemed to hinder his game from tees to greens. He was five under par in closing out his morning round in eleven holes and five under in the afternoon, when it took him 16 holes to win.

Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., also breezed through his first two matches, piling up a 6 and 5 margin over Ed Vines, San Francisco, and following with a 3 and 2 win over Fay Coleman, Los Angeles. Barron won the recent Tam O'Shanter tournament at Chicago.

Sam Snead Loses

A second-round upset appeared in the making when George Schmeiter, Ogden, Utah, passed the ninth hole 5 up on British Open Champion Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va. Schmeiter shot a three-under par 32 while Snead blew to a 39.

Schmeiter continued his pace on the second nine and fired four straight pars to put Snead out of the running, 6 and 5.

While the elimination of such a "name" player as Snead was of the upset order the British Open title holder assisted in his own defeat by an all-around crackup. His putts were off line and fairway shots the same.

A one-over-par 4 on the 210-yard twelfth hole was the clincher, Schneiter going six up. The next hole was halved and the match over. Snead was five over par for the match, his rival three under.

Lanky E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., one of the top flighters, took the measure of a tough second round opponent, Toney Penna of Cincinnati, 1 up.

Harrison had gone through the first round with an easy 6 and 4 win over Joe Mozel, Portland, Ore.

Ferrier Dumps Little

Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, who set a new PGA record score of 134 in the 36 holes of qualifying, beat Sam Schneider, Houston, Tex., 4 and 3 and dumped Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., 3 and 2 in the afternoon. Ferrier's golf was hardly comparable to his qualifying rounds, which he completed ten under par. He was three over par for today but in the second round Little, former U. S. Open winner, was six over standard figures.

A FAIRGO THRILLER—Here's a Photochart of The Robert C. Wilson Memorial race in which horses numbered 1, 2, and 3 finished in that order yesterday at Fairgo. Aldridge (No. 1) on the inside was the winner of the major portion of the $1,000 purse, Red Wrack, (No. 2) owned by Mrs. Mary Knieriem, of this city, was second and Blitzette (No. 3) was third. Mrs. C. Bowers, owner of the winning horse, received the trophy donated by the City Furniture Company.

TWO MOOSE LODGES TO PRESENT TROPHIES TO WINNING OWNERS

Frostburg And Cumberland To Reward Winning Owners Today

Today will be observed as "Moose Day" at Fairgo and trophies will be presented to the owners of winning horses in two events, Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, announced last night.

Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, will present a trophy in the fifth race, the Cal Cessna Memorial, while Frostburg Lodge No. 348 will give a trophy to the winning owner in the seventh race.

Post time for the third day's card is 2:30 p. m.

Fairgo Notes

A check of the records yesterday revealed that Hot Pole did not establish a new record Tuesday when it won The Potomac in 57 seconds. The record is held jointly by Wayne Kendrick's Panacea and E. B. Lee's Looter and is 55 seconds flat for the five furlongs. The record was hung up by Looter with Bobby Edens up on August 11, 1945, and equalled on August 17, 1945 by Panacea, ridden by Joe Covalli.

Yesterday's daily double pool of $19,564 was $3,098 above the $16,466 wagered on opening day.

President Clifton W. White assurred newsmen that the press box will be changed to suit them by the time the 1947 season rolls around. The box will be lowered and will be made longer to give the "working press" a better view of the races.

Nominations will close today for the $1,200 White Handicap, feature of Saturday's program.

There is a possibility that four of the top horses stabled here will battle it out in the mile and a sixteenth feature. They are H. M. Warren's Annies Dream, E. L. Poston's White Easter, Norman Corbin's Fleetest and J. K. Wynkoop's Army Belle. John Foster's Cushlamacree, winner in the White in 1944 and 1945, is not expected to be in the big race. It is understood that Cushlamacree will be bred to W. L. Brann's Challenger this fall.

Careless Knight, winner of yesterday's third race, is a 13-year-old. The Carlaris gelding has finished in the money nine times in 18 starts this year—four firsts, two seconds and three thirds. As a 12-year-old Careless Knight was in the dough 18 times in 27 starts, including nine firsts, and won $6,000. His earnings this year are $3,000.

Mike Sarno, who rode Careless Knight, was the No. 1 rider at the recent 46-day Charles Town meeting. He was aboard 44 winners there. Johnny Tammaro was second with 40 followed by Sammy Palumbo and George Cusimano.

Armed Is Winner

CHICAGO Aug. 21 (AP) — Calumet Farm's Armed, running as a 1-2 shot scored a length and a quarter victory in the $45,650 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park today. Brolite Farm's Challenge Me was second and Jake Lowenstein's Silvery Moon third.

APPRENTICE O'BRIEN, RIDING AT FAIRGO, IS MIDLAND NATIVE

Patrick "Jack" O'Brien, apprentice rider, who piloted Air Signal in the second race Tuesday and won place money with Brave Warrior in the first race yesterday at Fairgo, comes from Midland, this county.

O'Brien, who rides horses trained by Gordon Pearce, had his first mount at Bel Air, Md., in July and before coming to Cumberland he rode at Hagerstown.

"Jack" is 22 years old and is the son of Catherine and the late Patrick F. O'Brien, of Midland. He is married and the father of one child, Patty Anne. His wife is the former Eileen Clark.

Western Maryland Will Start Grid Practice Sept. 4

WESTMINSTER, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—Coach Charles Havens expects to have a squad of around 40 or 45 players out for the opening football practice session Sept. 4, among them 10 lettermen from the 1941 and 1942 teams.

Western Maryland's Terrors have been absent from intercollegiate football since 1942, when Havens left for war service. Havens was a lieutenant colonel with the Eighth Air Force in England, and returned to the college last winter.

Among those returning will be Joe Kittner of Corning, N. Y., who was an All-Maryland guard in 1941, and Art O'Keefe, Baltimore, of the 1941 and 1942 teams. O'Keefe led Terror ground gainers and scores in 1942.

There are two sets of brothers in the group reporting Sept. 4, Bart and George Norman, Syracuse, N. Y., and George and Walter Piavis of Glen Lyon, Pa., all are lettermen with the exception of Walt Piavis, a newcomer. Bart Norman played tackle in both 1941 and 1942, and George Norman was a guard in 1942. George Piavis played guard the same year.

Other lettermen returning will be Sig Jensen, Baltimore, 1941 tackle; Carl Ortenzi, Baltimore, guard in 1941; Curly Coffman, Waynesboro, Pa., 1942 back, Adam Sly, Hazelton, Pa., 1941 back, and Stan Kulakowski, Mahoney City, Pa., 1942 back.

All the lettermen are ex-servicemen.

Will Televise Games

NEW YORK, Aug. 21 (AP) — The National Broadcasting Company plans to televise seven of Army's football games this fall, it was announced today. They include the Villanova, Oklahoma, Cornell, Duke, West Virginia and Notre Dame tilts.

Runyon's Riding Highlights Fairgo Racing

Aldridge Wins By Photo Over Red Wrack In Wilson Memorial

Mac Briar, 11-1 Shot, Cops Fifth; Purses Hiked From $800 To $900

Apprentice Robert "Bobby" Runyon's clever riding highlighted the second day's racing program of the Cumberland Fair Association at Fairgo yesterday when the Council Bluffs, Ia., lad booted home four of the eight winners to gain undisputed possession of first place in the jockey standings.

Runyon, who made his debut on the half milers this year, started off the day by winning with Little Knight in the first race and after running out on She's Tops in the third and Unheard in the fourth he came back to pilot the winners in the last three races—Aldridge in the sixth, Famas Time in the seventh and Dunsan in the final event.

The four winners yesterday gave the Iowan a record of five firsts and a total of 25 points in the race for the diamond ring which will be awarded to the leading jockey of the meeting by the Harvey Jewelry Company. Runyon's first win was aboard Two Bucks in the opening event on Tuesday. Bobby has had seven mounts in two days, five being winners and two also rans.

Betting Is Up 20 Per Cent

A crowd of 9,000 persons witnessed yesterday's eight-race program and wagered a total of $278,461, which topped the 1945 second day's handle of $223,803 by $54,658. Fairgo racing fans have bet over a half million dollars in two days, the exact figures being $512,892 for 16 races. This is 20.4 per cent above the $425,989 handled by the parimutuel department on the first two days last year. The total for the first five days in 1945 was $1,184,538.

Mrs. C. Bowers's Aldridge, making his first start since the Bel Air, May meet, was given a powerful ride by Bobby Runyon to win over Mrs. Mary Knieriem's Red Wrack by a photo finish in the Robert C. Wilson Memorial, sixth event on the card. Horses numbered 1-2-3 finished the race in that order. Mrs. J. F. Iselin's Blitzette was third. The owner of the winner received $ of the $1,000 purse and a radio from the City Furniture Company, which was presented by Milton W. Russler, official announcer of the fair association.

Purses Hiked To $900

Immediately after the race, George P. Mahoney, chairman of the Maryland Racing Commission announced that in appreciation of the splendid patronage on the first two days of the meeting the Cumberland Fair Association decided to increase minimum purses from $800 to $900, effective today. There will be one $1,000 race each day except on Saturday, August 24, when the Clifton W. White Handicap, a $1,200 event, will be run.

The longest price on the second day's program was provided in the fifth race when Lewis H. Kraskin's Mac Briar, an 11 to 1 shot, with Benny Leggett up, defeated Toil Away by a head to reward his backers with $24 for each $2 straight ticket. Toil Away also returned a nice mutuel when the chestnut filly paid $21.60 to place and $10.70 to show.

Photos Determine Three

Photos were called to separate the first and second place horses in three races—the first, sixth and eighth.

In the opener C. L. Leach's Little Knight nipped Brave Warrior by a head with China Toy third. The sixth went to Aldridge while the eighth, a mile and a sixteenth thriller, went to R. S. Dare's Dusan over Gradatim while Valdina Haven took show money.

A Cumberland owned horse scored for the second time during the meeting when Aylesbury, the property of Mrs. Mary Knieriem, galloped to victory over Casset by three lengths in the second event on the card. J. Dunbar rode the winner, which paid off at the odds of 3 to 1.

The daily double combination of Little Knight and Aylesbury (6 and 4) produced $27.30 for $2.

Careless Knight, J. C. Curran's veteran campaigner, piloted by Mike Sarno, who made his Fairgo debut, defeated Satellite by three lengths to win the third race. Flying John grabbed off show money. Quick Ann was a late scratch.

Gay Victory Scores

Everett F. Brining, of Hagerstown, saddled Gay Victory, winner of the fourth, which defeated Dawndale by a half length. Sammy Palumbo gave the five-year-old gelding a good ride to mark up his second win of the meeting. Sammy won with the bay son of Monarch at the recent Bel Air and Charles Town meetings.

N. L. Brown became the leading winning trainer of the meeting to date when H. V. Brown's Famas Time defeated Marandan, the favorite, by three lengths in The Keyser, seventh race on the program, and Dunsan captured the final. Brown is the only trainer who has saddled more than one winner during the first two days of the ten-day session.

Win By Forfeit

Mower's Bakery won by forfeit from Mapleside yesterday when the latter team failed to put in its appearance for its Midget League game at Stitcher field.

It was the second forfeit of the week in the league.

Schmeiter Upsets Snead And Ferrier Humbles Lawson Little

By RUSS NEWLAND

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 21. (AP)—Champion Byron Nelson, whose aching back has been widely publicized, started off in defense of his Professional Golfers Association championship today like a supercharged athlete.

He won his first two matches hands down, batting old man par and his physical rivals into submission with a ten-under-par display.

The Toledo, O., umbrella man and part time Denton, Tex., rancher, walloped Frank Rodia, La Mesa, Calif., 8 and 7 in the initial round. He came back in the afternoon to show Larry Lamberger how the game should be played on his own course, the latter being the pro of the host Portland Golf Club.

Nelson sent Lamberger to a 3 and 2 defeat.

The back misery which has caused Nelson to take treatments for several weeks, hardly seemed to hinder his game from tees to greens. He was five under par in closing out his morning round in eleven holes and five under in the afternoon, when it took him 16 holes to win.

Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., also breezed through his first two matches, piling up a 6 and 5 margin over Ed Vines, San Francisco, and following with a 3 and 2 win over Fay Coleman, Los Angeles. Barron won the recent Tam O'Shanter tournament at Chicago.

Sam Snead Loses

A second-round upset appeared in the making when George Schmeiter, Ogden, Utah, passed the ninth hole 5 up on British Open Champion Sam Snead, Hot Springs, Va. Schmeiter shot a three-under par 32 while Snead blew to a 39.

Schmeiter continued his pace on the second nine and fired four straight pars to put Snead out of the running, 6 and 5.

While the elimination of such a "name" player as Snead was of the upset order the British Open title holder assisted in his own defeat by an all-around crackup. His putts were off line and fairway shots the same.

A one-over-par 4 on the 210-yard twelfth hole was the clincher, Schneiter going six up. The next hole was halved and the match over. Snead was five over par for the match, his rival three under.

Lanky E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Little Rock, Ark., one of the top flighters, took the measure of a tough second round opponent, Toney Penna of Cincinnati, 1 up.

Harrison had gone through the first round with an easy 6 and 4 win over Joe Mozel, Portland, Ore.

Ferrier Dumps Little

Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, who set a new PGA record score of 134 in the 36 holes of qualifying, beat Sam Schneider, Houston, Tex., 4 and 3 and dumped Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., 3 and 2 in the afternoon. Ferrier's golf was hardly comparable to his qualifying rounds, which he completed ten under par. He was three over par for today but in the second round Little, former U. S. Open winner, was six over standard figures.

TWO MOOSE LODGES TO PRESENT TROPHIES TO WINNING OWNERS

Frostburg And Cumberland To Reward Winning Owners Today

Today will be observed as "Moose Day" at Fairgo and trophies will be presented to the owners of winning horses in two events, Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the Cumberland Fair Association, announced last night.

Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, will present a trophy in the fifth race, the Cal Cessna Memorial, while Frostburg Lodge No. 348 will give a trophy to the winning owner in the seventh race.

Post time for the third day's card is 2:30 p. m.

Fairgo Notes

A check of the records yesterday revealed that Hot Pole did not establish a new record Tuesday when it won The Potomac in 57 seconds. The record is held jointly by Wayne Kendrick's Panacea and E. B. Lee's Looter and is 55 seconds flat for the five furlongs. The record was hung up by Looter with Bobby Edens up on August 11, 1945, and equalled on August 17, 1945 by Panacea, ridden by Joe Covalli.

Yesterday's daily double pool of $19,564 was $3,098 above the $16,466 wagered on opening day.

President Clifton W. White assurred newsmen that the press box will be changed to suit them by the time the 1947 season rolls around. The box will be lowered and will be made longer to give the "working press" a better view of the races.

Nominations will close today for the $1,200 White Handicap, feature of Saturday's program.

There is a possibility that four of the top horses stabled here will battle it out in the mile and a sixteenth feature. They are H. M. Warren's Annies Dream, E. L. Poston's White Easter, Norman Corbin's Fleetest and J. K. Wynkoop's Army Belle. John Foster's Cushlamacree, winner in the White in 1944 and 1945, is not expected to be in the big race. It is understood that Cushlamacree will be bred to W. L. Brann's Challenger this fall.

Careless Knight, winner of yesterday's third race, is a 13-year-old The Carlaris gelding has finished in the money nine times in 18 starts this year—four firsts, two seconds and three thirds. As a 12-year-old Careless Knight was in the dough 18 times in 27 starts, including nine firsts, and won $6,000. His earnings this year are $3,000.

Mike Sarno, who rode Careless Knight, was the No. 1 rider at the recent 46-day Charles Town meeting. He was aboard 44 winners there. Johnny Tammaro was second with 40 followed by Sammy Palumbo and George Cusimano.

Armed Is Winner

CHICAGO Aug. 21 (AP) — Calumet Farm's Armed, running as a 1-2 shot scored a length and a quarter victory in the $45,650 Whirlaway Stakes at Washington Park today. Brolite Farm's Challenge Me was second and Jake Lowenstein's Silvery Moon third.

Western Maryland Will Start Grid Practice Sept. 4

WESTMINSTER, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—Coach Charles Havens expects to have a squad of around 40 or 45 players out for the opening football practice session Sept. 4, among them 10 lettermen from the 1941 and 1942 teams.

Western Maryland's Terrors have been absent from intercollegiate football since 1942, when Havens left for war service. Havens was a lieutenant colonel with the Eighth Air Force in England, and returned to the college last winter.

Among those returning will be Joe Kittner of Corning, N. Y., who was an All-Maryland guard in 1941, and Art O'Keefe, Baltimore, of the 1941 and 1942 teams. O'Keefe led Terror ground gainers and scores in 1942.

There are two sets of brothers in the group reporting Sept. 4, Bart and George Norman, Syracuse, N. Y., and George and Walter Piavis of Glen Lyon, Pa., all are lettermen with the exception of Walt Piavis, a newcomer. Bart Norman played tackle in both 1941 and 1942, and George Norman was a guard in 1942. George Piavis played guard the same year.

Other lettermen returning will be Sig Jensen, Baltimore, 1941 tackle; Carl Ortenzi, Baltimore, guard in 1941; Curly Coffman, Waynesboro, Pa., 1942 back, Adam Sly, Hazelton, Pa., 1941 back, and Stan Kulakowski, Mahoney City, Pa., 1942 back.

All the lettermen are ex-servicemen.

95,000 TO SEE COLLEGE STARS BATTLE RAMS AT SOLDIER FIELD

National Football Loop Champs Are Favored In Friday Game

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP) — The College All-Stars, rigged in star-spangled togs, and the travel-weary Los Angeles Rams today got the feel of huge Soldier Field, where they will tangle before an expected 95,000 early birds of the 1946 football season Friday night.

Bo McMillin

The Rams, champions of the National Football League and a slight favorite to produce the eighth professional win in the 13-year-old series, sped directly to the field for a practice romp after a 47-hour train ride from their California training base.

Bo McMillin's collegians, donning their fancy game duds, were scheduled to cavort in a dress rehearsal tonight under a glaring 800,000 watt lighting system installed this year by the Chicago park district at a $75,000 cost.

The All-Stars previously had practiced at Northwestern's Dyche stadium in Evanston, where McMillin, perhaps for strategic reasons, plainly indicated he was not overly impressed with the squad he will send after the fourth collegiate, and his own second, triumph of the series. Two of the classics ended in deadlocks.

Sticking strictly to coaching script, McMillin insisted: "The All-Stars haven't looked good at all. I don't know what to expect Friday night, but I'm depending upon my boys to get into a fighting mood against the pros. That's our chance."

Actually, however, McMillin has the biggest, most mature and most experienced crew in All-Star history, a result of wartime leniency in the make-up of the collegiate personnel. Most of the All-Stars have been out of college more than a year, and many have frolicked through rugged service-team competition.

Neither does McMillin have to worry about his "Pore Li'l Boys" attaining a fighting mood. As far as some 39 collegians earmarked for play in the new All-America conference are concerned, it will be a pleasure to pin back the horns of the rival National League champions.

Among these are such potential starters as Quarterback Bob Hoernschemeyer, Halfback Elroy Hirsch, and End Max Morris, all owned by the Chicago Rockets; End Jack Russell of the New York Yankees; Tackle and All-Star Captain Martin Ruby of the Brooklyn Dodgers; Guards Visco Grgish of the San Francisco 49'ers and Garrard Ramsey of the Yankees; and Tackle Mitchell Olenski of the Miami Seahawks.

Ferriss Defeats Browns For 22nd Mound Triumph

Dave Goes One Victory Ahead Of Newhouser By Winning, 12-9

DAVE FERRISS

Ferriss needed help, however, to move one victory ahead of Detroit's Hal Newhouser, when the Browns shelled the Sox's ace to the showers in the sixth inning after piling up 14 hits. Bob Klinger relieved Ferriss, who had been charged with seven runs, and stilled the Browns' bats.

The victory was Ferriss's 10th in a row, but when he left in the sixth inning, his streak of complete games was broken at 14. Box:

A'S DEFEAT TIGERS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics knocked Virgil Trucks out of the box in the sixth inning to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 1, today. Trucks had beaten the A's five times this year.

The Tigers tied it at 1-1 in the third after two were out on Eddie Lake's double to left and George Kell's scratch hit which Marchildon threw wild to first.

The A's broke the tie after two were out in the fourth on consecutive triples by George McQuinn and Hank Majeski and then went on to salt the triumph away in the sixth with two more on McCosky's double, Trucks' fumble of Suder's bunt, Chapman's single to center and Gene DeSautels's fly.

95,000 TO SEE COLLEGE STARS BATTLE RAMS AT SOLDIER FIELD

National Football Loop Champs Are Favored In Friday Game

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 21 (AP) — The College All-Stars, rigged in star-spangled togs, and the travel-weary Los Angeles Rams today got the feel of huge Soldier Field, where they will tangle before an expected 95,000 early birds of the 1946 football season Friday night.

Bo McMillin

The Rams, champions of the National Football League and a slight favorite to produce the eighth professional win in the 13-year-old series, sped directly to the field for a practice romp after a 47-hour train ride from their California training base.

Bo McMillin's collegians, donning their fancy game duds, were scheduled to cavort in a dress rehearsal tonight under a glaring 800,000 watt lighting system installed this year by the Chicago park district at a $75,000 cost.

Tomorrow the All-Stars will polish off with a matinee drill, while the Rams will take their practice turn under the arclights.

The All-Stars previously had practiced at Northwestern's Dyche stadium in Evanston, where McMillin, perhaps for strategic reasons, plainly indicated he was not overly impressed with the squad he will send after the fourth collegiate, and his own second, triumph of the series. Two of the classics ended in deadlocks.

Sticking strictly to coaching script, McMillin insisted: "The All-Stars haven't looked good at all. I don't know what to expect Friday night, but I'm depending upon my boys to get into a fighting mood against the pros. That's our chance."

Actually, however, McMillin has the biggest, most mature and most experienced crew in All-Star history, a result of wartime leniency in the make-up of the collegiate personnel. Most of the All-Stars have been out of college more than a year, and many have frolicked through rugged service-team competition.

Neither does McMillin have to worry about his "Pore Li'l Boys" attaining a fighting mood. As far as some 39 collegians earmarked for play in the new All-America conference are concerned, it will be a pleasure to pin back the horns of the rival National League champions.

Among these are such potential starters as Quarterback Bob Hoernschemeyer, Halfback Elroy Hirsch, and End Max Morris, all owned by the Chicago Rockets; End Jack Russell of the New York Yankees; Tackle and All-Star Captain Martin Ruby of the Brooklyn Dodgers; Guards Visco Grgish of the San Francisco 49'ers and Garrard Ramsey of the Yankees; and Tackle Mitchell Olenski of the Miami Seahawks.

Ferriss Defeats Browns For 22nd Mound Triumph

Dave Goes One Victory Ahead Of Newhouser By Winning, 12-9

DAVE FERRISS

Ferriss needed help, however, to move one victory ahead of Detroit's Hal Newhouser, when the Browns shelled the Sox's ace to the showers in the sixth inning after piling up 14 hits. Bob Klinger relieved Ferriss, who had been charged with seven runs, and stilled the Browns' bats.

The victory was Ferriss's 10th in a row, but when he left in the sixth inning, his streak of complete games was broken at 14. Box:

A'S DEFEAT TIGERS

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 21 (AP) — The Philadelphia Athletics knocked Virgil Trucks out of the box in the sixth inning to defeat the Detroit Tigers, 4 to 1, today. Trucks had beaten the A's five times this year.

The Tigers tied it at 1-1 in the third after two were out on Eddie Lake's double to left and George Kell's scratch hit which Marchildon threw wild to first.

The A's broke the tie after two were out in the fourth on consecutive triples by George McQuinn and Hank Majeski and then went on to salt the triumph away in the sixth with two more on McCosky's double, Trucks' fumble of Suder's bunt, Chapman's single to center and Gene DeSautels's fly.

Michigan High Star Joins Maryland Squad

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Aug. 21 (AP)—The University of Maryland's football squad had a promising addition at today's practice in Henry Miswich, six-foot-one, 195-pound product of Niles, Mich., high school.

Miswich, an ex-GI, is an all-around athlete, played on the state championship basketball team at Niles, is a hurdler, broad-jumper and boxer of outstanding ability.

Although he played tackle at high school, he is said to be an able linebacker, and will be tested in the backfield.

About 100 candidates were out today working at fundamentals.

Ed Manske, who is handling more than 20 aspiring ends, said he expects to have no trouble meeting all his needs on the wings.

Chicago has more telephones than Denmark, Norway, and Sweden combined.

COACH DIES — Fielding Harris (Hurry Up) Yost, the University of Michigan's grand old man of football, died at his home in Ann Arbor, Mich., on Tuesday. He coached football at Michigan from 1901 until 1940 when he retired to the post of athletic director emeritus. This picture was made as he read messages of felicitation on his 75th birthday anniversary this spring.

Minisi Will Try To Reenter Penn

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 21 (AP) — Anthony (Skip) Minisi, latest of Navy fotball stars to seek other scenes, appeared at the Naval Academy today to announce that he was leaving immediately for Philidelphia to attempt to return to the University of Pennsylvania.

Minisi, who was still in uniform, said he intended to depart tomorrow morning.

The hard-hitting halfback, who once played for Penn, said "I hope I can get back there, although I'm not sure yet."

The departure of Minisi leaves only four Middies who were on the kickoff line against Army last year.

New Quiz Show Makes Its Debut On Radio Tonight

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Aug. 21—The ABC network is picking up a west coast feature to fill the Thursday night time at 8:30 made vacant after Detect and Collect moved to Saturday nights. It also is an audience participation piece, "Take It From There," apparently another variation of the quiz for the prospectus describes it as a "prize and surprise" show. Or in other words studio audience selectees go before the microphone to try various stunts. Michael Roy, 260 pound MC-announcer, runs the thing.

With winter fast approaching again, the schedule is beginning to cast off its summer tan by gathering back the regulars to the fold. One of these will be FBI in Peace and War, which resumes on CBS at 7:30 with a script called "The Night Riders." The program has been off about eight weeks.

Ezra Stone, whose Aldrich family soon is to return to NBC after quite a stay on CBS, will drop around for a guesting with Maggi McNellis on NBC at 11:45 a. m. No doubt there will be no mention of the fact that the show has been on CBS.

Loan Lorring of the Hollywood acting is billed for "The Great Harrel" in Suspense on CBS at 7 p. m. It's about the wife of a mind reader. . . . Earl Wild, who plays piano for the radio, will do so again on NBC at 10:30 in Concert of the Nations, which is to have an all-Polish program.

America's Town Meeting, ABC at 7:30, will turn its argumentees upon the question, "Can free competition now prevent inflation?" Whether there is an answer, only a tuning-in can determine.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors, and relatives for the kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Mrs. Margaret Hagelin. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved Father, Armond D. Martin, who departed this life one year ago today, August 21, 1945.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought his death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his son, ROBERT A. MARTIN, Daughter, MRS. MELVIN CORLEY.
8-21-1t-TN

In loving remembrance of our dear wife and mother, Amie E. Howser, who departed this life two years ago today, August 22, 1944.

What is home without a mother?
All things this world may send,
But when we lost our darling mother,
We lost our dearest friend.

For those who have a mother,
Tender her with care,
For you never know her value,
Until you see her vacant chair.

She works so hard to keep you—
Never complains;
Where could you find such a mother again,
So treat her with kindness—
Give her a smile,
Tell her you love her,
Make her life worthwhile.

For we had a mother,
Who was one of the best,
When God took her home
For Eternal rest.

Sadly missed by
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends, neighbors, and relatives for the kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement, the death of our beloved daughter and sister, Mrs. Margaret Hagelin. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and loaned cars for the funeral.

In Memoriam

In memory of our beloved Father, Armond D. Martin, who departed this life one year ago today, August 21, 1945.

The blow was hard, the shock severe,
We never thought his death so near,
Only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

He little thought when leaving home,
That he would never return,
That he so soon in death would sleep,
And leave us here to mourn.

God knows how much we miss him,
Never shall his memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander
To the spot where he is laid.

Sadly missed by his son, ROBERT A. MARTIN, Daughter, MRS. MELVIN CORLEY.
8-21-1t-TN

In loving remembrance of our dear wife and mother, Amie E. Howser, who departed this life two years ago today, August 22, 1944.

What is home without a mother?
All things this world may send,
But when we lost our darling mother,
We lost our dearest friend.

For those who have a mother,
Tender her with care,
For you never know her value,
Until you see her vacant chair.

She works so hard to keep you—
Never complains;
Where could you find such a mother again,
So treat her with kindness—
Give her a smile,
Tell her you love her,
Make her life worthwhile.

For we had a mother,
Who was one of the best,
When God took her home
For Eternal rest.

Sadly missed by
HUSBAND AND CHILDREN.

Professionals Blamed For Frostburg Thefts

$4,000 Is Stolen From Cracked Safes In Lodge Homes; Strangers' Descriptions Given Police

Professional safecrackers were being blamed by authorities last night for the theft of approximately $4,000 in two robberies at the homes of the Moose and Elks lodges at Frostburg early yesterday morning.

The thieves who entered the buildings, located within 300 to 400 feet of each other, through rear windows, left no clues and police said they had made no arrests although they have been furnished with descriptions of several strange, middle-aged men who were seen frequently in Frostburg in the past two weeks.

At both lodge homes, large safes were turned upside down and cut open from the bottom and money removed. Cash registers at both establishments likewise were forced open and money taken.

Police said the loss at the Moose home amounted to $2,500 and at the Elks home about $1,500.

Forced Door Open

At the Moose home where the rear of the building is but one story high, the thieves climbed to the roof, entered through an unlocked bathroom window on the second floor, descended to the first floor and forced open the door to the barroom.

The safe, weighing about 1,500 or 2,000 pounds, was turned upside down in back of the counter and metal rivets were forced apart. The eight-inch concrete bottom of the safe was chiseled through to make an opening of six or seven inches in diameter, police reported. The cash register, emptied of its contents, was badly damaged.

At the Elks home, a screen was torn from a rear first floor window of a bathroom and the thieves gained entrance by forcing open the window. Once inside they forced open the door to the barroom, carried the safe, weighing about 1,000 pounds, from behind the bar and upset it in the middle of the barroom floor.

The metal bottom of the safe was chiseled open and then an opening six or seven inches in diameter was chiseled through the six-inch concrete base and the contents of the safe removed. A cash register, valued at $650 and smaller than the one at the Moose home, also was pried open and the contents removed.

Happened After 1:20 A. M.

Authorities said the robberies, termed the most daring in the history of Frostburg, took place between 1:20 a. m. when the last occupant of the Elks home departed for the night, and 7 a. m. yesterday when a bartender and janitor arrived at the Moose home.

The robbery at the Elks was discovered about 8:30 a. m. when Robert Sweitzer, a member of the order, arrived at the home to open the place for business. The Moose robbery was discovered by George Tennant, an extra bartender, and John Greening, a janitor, who arrived at the home about 7 a. m. They noticed papers strewn about the floor of the barroom and did not enter until the arrival of authorities some time later.

Fuller Davis, governor of the Moose lodge, estimated the loss at the lodge home to be about $2,500, but said he could not be certain until a complete check is made by the secretary, Walter Rank. The Moose loss, however, was partly protected by theft insurance.

No Insurance

The Elks loss, according to members of the lodge, will not be definitely known until a complete check is made. The loss there was not covered by insurance.

Once the thefts were discovered, Ronald L. Kreider, assistant chief of police at Frostburg, was summoned. He in turn notified County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle and State Trooper Glenn D. Folk who are conducting the investigation.

Man Acts To Block Wife's Divorce Suit

A petition was filed in Circuit Court yesterday morning by Charles L. Wotring, Cumberland railroader, to block a suit for divorce and alimony filed by his wife, Mrs. Motie B. Wotring in Mineral County Circuit Court.

Wotring, a widower, said he married again in 1944 and that he and Mrs. Wotring resided at 119 West First street but that she treated him cruelly and deserted him on June 1, 1944.

On January 11 this year, Mrs. Wotring filed a bill of complaint in Circuit Court seeking separate maintenance, and the bill was dismissed by the court, Wotring stated through his attorney, Edward J. Ryan.

In July of this year, Wotring was required by his work to go to Keyser, and he said his wife refused to accompany him but filed suit for absolute divorce and alimony against him in Mineral County court once he went there.

Wotring also said he found his wife in possession of his home here when he returned to this city. The court, in granting a temporary restraining order, said Mrs. Wotring must show cause why he should not be allowed the peaceful possession and occupation of his home without the occupation of others to whom he objects.

Rubber Employes To Resume Work At Kelly Today

Depts. 50-A And 52 Agree To Settle Grievance By Negotiation

Normal tire production at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, crippled since Monday night when truck and passenger tire builders walked out in protest of what they termed an unfair distribution of work, is expected to resume today as a result of a union announcement that workers of Departments 50-A and 52 voted to return to work at 7 a. m. today and to reach a settlement of their grievance through negotiation.

Earl Johnson, vice president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, announced yesterday that members of the department, at a meeting in the union hall at 10 a. m., voted unanimously to return to work this morning.

He said a union formula for the settlement of the grievance was worked out during the meeting and explained that an attempt will be made to reach an agreement at a meeting with Kelly officials, tentatively scheduled for 1 p. m. today.

Explains Grievance

Johnson said the grievance arose over the demand of the workers for equalization of opportunity to earn a fair day's pay on a comparable basis with the rest of the employes of the department.

A small group, he added, have been exceeding rates by far and thus cutting down the schedule of work on succeeding shifts since all scheduled stock has been used up. When that happens, he added, tire builders on later shifts must transfer to odd sized tires, take day work (hourly rated) jobs or be sent home.

Regis New, Pittsburgh, District 1 field representative, attended yesterday's meeting and will remain here for the settlement of the dispute which he predicted would be resolved today.

Union officials said the walkout was not authorized by Local 26 but added that no action was taken to term the stoppage unauthorized.

Predicts Full Operations

A company spokesman announced last night that full operations will resume today at 7 a. m. and added that he expected normal production schedules will be achieved today.

Only partial operations were being carried on yesterday since, he added, only about 41 per cent of the 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. shift were at their posts. No operations were being attempted in the truck tire room where the dispute arose, or in the calendar room which was closed due to lack of liners.

In a formal statement by the company after the stoppage occurred, the Kelly contended that an "employe working under incentive system should be free to produce and make earnings commensurate with his application of acquired skill and effort."

Optimist Club Will Meet Tonight

The members of the newly-formed Optimist Club will meet at the Y.M.C.A. tonight at 6:15 p. m.

The goal of "60 members by charter night" was adopted at the last meeting and Wayne George, Fred P. Keyser, Hugh Funkhouser and C. Richard Hollar were named to the charter night committee. Others will be named this week and plans will be completed for the dinner-dance at which the club will make its bow in the community. Representatives of other men's civic clubs in Cumberland will be guests of the Optimists on that night.

Snakes Are Found On Piedmont Avenue

Last night Mrs. Carrie Lewis, 207 Piedmont avenue, killed a 32-inch long copperhead with a club near her home. Myers said the latter snake had coiled, apparently to strike at a boy before Mrs. Lewis made the fatal attack. A half grown rat and a mouse were found in the snake's stomach when it was opened, Myers added.

Bargaining Agent To Be Elected At Potomac Edison

NLRB Orders Employe Ballot On Whether They Want CIO Union

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21, (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered that an election be held by secret ballot among employes of the Potomac Edison Company's Cumberland, Md., district to ascertain representatives for collective bargaining.

The employes are directed to vote on whether they desire to be represented by the Utility Workers of American, CIO.

The board specifies that the election must be held within 30 days. Hearing on the case was held at Cumberland, June 25.

James H. Dean, president of Local 331, Utility Workers Union of America, CIO, said last night that the regular procedure in holding such elections is to set a date agreeable to the company, the union and to the affected emyployes. The election is then conducted by a field examiner from Baltimore.

The local applied to the NLRB for approximately 30 employes in the line department, the two men of the substation construction and maintenance crew, and two line foremen to be included in the bargaining unit.

Yesterday Dean received notification from the three-man NLRB board in Washington that the election must be held within 30 days of August 20, the date of the directive, and that line foremen and the substation crew will be excluded from the bargaining unit.

Approximately 35 employes will be included—linemen, linemen helpers, groundmen, laborers, and the utility man and janitor at the North Centre street headquarters of the PE Cumberland line department, according to the directive.

Company officials objected to including the foremen, at the hearing held at City Hall June 25.

He also said that ex-Waves who enlist in the V-10 program may be sworn in at the same time. It was pointed out that enlistment in V-6 or V-10 adds to pay credit for years of service if the member later goes into active service.

Frank E. Smith, president of the Community Baking Company, was reported "about the same" in Memorial Hospital last night. Attaches added he has been "resting very well."

Is Fined For Assault

Hamilton Nelson, LaVale, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of assault at a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in trial magistrates court yesterday.

Charges were preferred by John R. Lancaster, also of LaVale, who said Nelson assaulted his son, Robert, Tuesday. Magistrate Perdew said he was told Nelson kicked the Lancaster boy, who is about 13, with his bare foot. The trouble, it was reported, arose over the quarrel of two boys, one of whom threw grass in the other's face.

Terminal Plans Will Be Submitted "Very Soon"

Bus Representatives Have Decided On Bedford-Centre Street Site, Mayor Says

Plans for a modern bus terminal to be located at the corner of Bedford and Centre streets will be submitted to the Mayor and City Council "very soon," Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday, following a conference with representatives of leading bus lines running into Cumberland.

Although the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission disapproved of the proposed site at a meeting earlier this month and suggested four other possible locations, the bus company representatives indicated that the Bedford-Centre street location was the one which they wanted to use, the Mayor said.

Permits Required

Use of the site would require tearing down the present three-story building at that location, and the Mayor and Council would have to approve that action, Mayor Post said. Further necessary steps would include securing occupancy and building permits to erect the new structure, which will have a frontage of 165 feet on Centre and about 145 feet on Bedford street.

The proposed terminal will be a one-story building of concrete block, with a restaurant and waiting room which will be of attractive appearance as well as convenient to the public, the mayor said.

The present site was selected because it is more centrally located than other locations and because incoming and outgoing buses will not have to cross Baltimore street.

Mayor Post added that company officials informed him they hope to secure the services of a nationally known bus terminal architect to design the new terminal here.

In a discussion of traffic problems, it was stated that buses of the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company will use a driveway circling the terminal at the rear of the building, while buses of the Blue Ridge Transportation Company will use the broad driveway in front of the structure.

Another Meeting Asked

Ample parking space will be provided for nine buses, and there will be room for double parking, which would accommodate considerably more, company officials said.

The officials said they would like to meet with the Mayor and City Council in the near future to discuss further plans for the terminal, although no definite date was set.

Besides Mayor Post and Commissioner Myers G. Light, those attending the meeting were Henry W. Price, district manager of the Potomac Edison Company; Adolf Blunk, president of the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company, and William B. Ludman, vice president; and A. F. McDonald, Hagerstown, in charge of Blue Ridge operations.

Judge Withholds Decision In Beer License Dispute

Applicant Says There Are No Licensed Places For Negroes In Frostburg

A decision was held in abeyance by Chief Judge William A. Huster in Circuit Court yesterday afternoon following a hearing on a remonstrance against issuance of a beer and wine license to Milton White, negro, for a cafe he operates for colored people in the basement of his home on Beall street, extended, Frostburg.

Some of the remonstrants, all white people, said yesterday that they oppose granting of the permit because the cafe is located in a residential neighborhood and they do not want such an establishment in the locality.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for White, addressed the court briefly after Judge Huster said he would withhold his decision, and declared that he is opposed to unjust discrimination against colored people. He said he favors the underdog.

Judge Stops Argument

As Ryan completed his remarks, several of the remonstrants stated their opinions regarding the license, and amidst calls for order by Judge Huster, Ryan told them that if they would furnish the money, White could set up an establishment on his (Ryan's) back lot.

The attorney made this statement after the remonstrants asked him if he would like to have the cafe located near his home. As the argument continued, Judge Huster sharply ordered the participants to desist.

It was pointed out during the hearing that there is no licensed place whatever in Frostburg for negroes, and White told the court there is no place a colored man can take his wife unless they go to the back door of saloons.

Mrs. Ruth Todd, one of the protestants, said negroes could buy beer at the Cotton Club, but a search of the records disclosed a license has not been issued to that establishment.

Outside Town Limits

The premises for which White seeks the license is located just outside the Frostburg town limits, but Ryan pointed out that Frostburg police protection would be available because they have authority one mile outside the limits.

Michael Zumpano has applied for a beer and light wine license for an establishment in the same locality, and it was indicated yesterday that a remonstrance also will be filed against his application.

3 Baltimore Men Are Nabbed Here On Check Charge

State Police Wanted Trio In Connection With Case In Frederick

Three Baltimore men wanted by state police on charges of passing bad checks were arrested on McMullen highway yesterday at 6:15 p. m. by State Trooper Glen D. Folk as they drove to Cumberland in a "drive-it-yourself" car from the races at Fairgo.

Folk listed the men as Horace E. Conaway, 44, Edward A. Heinzerling, 38, and Robert T. Snyder, 35. He said he believes the trio also is wanted in other states on bad chack charges.

The trooper said state police here were asked in two teletype messages from Frederick, one Tuesday and one yesterday, to arrest the three Baltimoreans in connection with a bad check charge in Frederick.

The trio, police stated, stopped at a liquor store in Frederick Tuesday en route to Cumberland from Baltimore, where they hired the "drive-it-yourself" car, and that a woman became suspicious of them.

She jotted down their license number when they drove away and when investigation disclosed the check to be bogus, she notified police, officers reported.

A check of the license tag showed it was issued for a "drive-it-yourself" car which had been rented for a trip to Cumberland, and the arrest of the men yesterday followed, police said.

The three men were brought to the city jail here to await being returned to Frederick for identification and questioning.

Lt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of Troop B, of the state police, returned Conaway to Frederick, and Sgt. Elwood O'Hara, of Barracks B, Frederick, took the other two men back to that community.

Marine Platoon Is Not Coming Aug. 28

The Cumberland platoon of the United States Marine Corps will not come home as a group on August 28 as had previously been announced, Staff Sgt. Murrell Brainerd, of the local recruiting office, said yesterday. All plans for their reception have been cancelled. However, members of the platoon should receive individual furloughs in about two weeks.

The platoon was part of the 3,000 men flown out of Parris Island, S. C., yesterday morning. They were transferred to relieve experienced men who are being sent overseas and to make room at Parris Island for the wave of new recruits which arrived the past week. Of the 3,000 men flown out, 1,000 who had completed four weeks of boot training in general service were sent to Quantico, Va. or Camp Lejeune, N. C. Over 2,000 who have completed six weeks of boot training in aviation were transferred to Cherry Point, N. C. They will complete their basic training, be reassigned, and then given 10-day furloughs. All men were transferred on a few hours notice, according to Capt. M. A. Bruder, of the Marine recruiting office in Baltimore.

Capt. Bruder was in Cumberland yesterday to present service citations to an ex-Marine, Pfc Nile Glenn Lechliter, Cresaptown. The Distinguished Flying Cross with a gold star and the Air Medal with five gold stars, presented for "extraordinary achievement and meritorious service," were awarded under the auspices of the recruiting division of the Marine Corps.

Mt. Tabor Church Secures New Site

Two property holders in the Spring Gap section yesterday deeded lots at the intersection of the Brice Hollow road and Uhl Highway to the trustees of the Mount Tabor Methodist church, providing the location is used for the purpose of building a church.

Mrs. Mary Duval, a widow, and Oscar William T. Taschenberger both deeded property at the intersection to the church trustees.

William M. Mateer and Elvira K. Mateer have purchased the property on Lot 67, in the National Highway Addition, from Frank H. and Clara E. Wineland, a deed filed this morning revealed. Price paid was $6,600.

Sale of the property on Lot 134, First Addition, Bowling Green, on the McMullen Highway, to Henry Borton Sanders and Nora Priscilla Sanders by Raymond J. and Pauline D. Ritchie was recorded in the office of the clerk of court. Purchase price was reported to be $7,500.

Washington Woman Is Sued For Divorce

Suit for absolute divorce from Mrs. Eunice S. Schwartz, Washington, D. C., was filed in Circuit Court here yesterday by John J. Schwartz on grounds of desertion.

Schwartz, through his attorney, Edward J. Ryan, said they were married Christmas Eve of 1942 in Alexandria, Va., and lived together until January 5, 1945.

Mrs. Mary Flanigan, also represented by Ryan, yesterday filed suit for partial divorce from her husband, Michael E. Flanigan, Jr., on a charge of cruelty. She said they were married October 14, 1935, and made their home in Mt. Savage. Chief Judge William A. Huster signed a restraining order directing Flanigan not to enter the premises at Mt. Savage pending a hearing or molest Mrs. Flanigan.

State Body Meets At New Germany To Work Out Co-ordinated Program; Ends Friday

Meeting to work out a co-ordinated program for management of the state's natural resources, members of the Maryland Board of Natural Resources and their guests were gathering at New Germany in Garrett County last night in preparation for sessions that open this morning and conclude Friday afternoon.

The board is made up of the heads of five state departments—Tidewater Fisheries, Mines and Geology, Forests and Parks, Game and Inland Fish, and Education and Research. Edwin Warfield, Jr., chairman of the board as well as of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, will preside at the sessions.

Invited To New Germany

Joseph F. Kaylor, state forester, who is representing the Department of Forests and Parks, said the board is meeting at New Germany, a state park, at the invitation of the Department of Forests and Parks.

Kaylor said, however, that he could not disclose in advance the program for the meeting since he was authorized by Warfield the chairman, to say only that the purpose of the session is to develop co-ordination in the management of natural resources.

There were 18 members of the board and guests present at New Germany last night, and more are expected to arrive this morning to swell attendance to 25 or 30 men.

Pasarew Is Attending

Pasarew, state planning director, and Alvin Sollers, of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission.

Kopp Issues Call For More Teachers

An appeal for help in filling 17 elementary teaching positions, including one principalship, was issued yesterday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

Kopp termed the situation "really serious," and said it is necessary to staff the schools so the Board of Education can carry out its duty of educating children. He pointed out that the board will "appreciate it" if all persons who can qualify under emergency regulations, which require a minimum of two years' college training, will offer themselves as candidates for positions.

The only teachers available after trying all summer are those living in this locality, Kopp stated, because in other communities the situation is as bad or worse. He pointed out that it may be possible in a number of instances for assignments to be made to teachers within a reasonable distance of their homes where they have home responsibilities.

In addition to Cumberland there are vacancies at Piney Plains, where a principal is needed, Oldtown and Flintstone. The superintendent said he believed it will be possible to fill all vacancies in the high schools with the exception of industrial arts departments where five teachers are needed. Girls' physical education and art teachers also are sought, and a football coach is needed at Allegany High School.

Eleven Teams Entered In Pulling Contest

Eleven teams have been entered in the horse-pulling contest to be held at the Cumberland Fair next Thursday night at 8 o'clock in front of the grandstand, Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, said yesterday.

Recent entries include a light class team of M. W. Race, Frostburg, and a heavy team of Marvin Hinton, Commercial Point, Ohio. Nine other teams are being entered by Washington County farmers, and McHenry said it still is not too late for Allegany County farmers to enter the contest. Entries will be accepted by Clarence Miller, Midland, or at McHenry's office.

All teams entered must be at the Cumberland Stockyards at 5 p. m. the day of the contest to weigh in, McHenry said.

He added that the deadline for entering cattle for exhibit is now passed.

Motorist Explains How Local Man Was Injured

In an accident report filed at police headquarters yesterday, Melvin A. Snyder, 716 Bedford street, explained the circumstances surrounding the injury of a 73-year-old local man last Friday.

Snyder explained the accident occurred during the American Legion convention parade and that he was backing his car along the left curb when the front door of the vehicle came open and struck Zimmerla, who was walking on the sidewalk.

The injured man was unable, after the accident, to tell Officer J. Carl Stouffer, who investigated for city police, the name of the driver of the vehicle.

Professionals Blamed For Frostburg Thefts

$4,000 Is Stolen From Cracked Safes In Lodge Homes; Strangers' Descriptions Given Police

Professional safecrackers were being blamed by authorities last night for the theft of approximately $4,000 in two robberies at the homes of the Moose and Elks lodges at Frostburg early yesterday morning.

The thieves who entered the buildings, located within 300 to 400 feet of each other, through rear windows, left no clues and police said they had made no arrests although they have been furnished with descriptions of several strange, middle-aged men who were seen frequently in Frostburg in the past two weeks.

At both lodge homes, large safes were turned upside down and cut open from the bottom and money removed. Cash registers at both establishments likewise were forced open and money taken.

Police said the loss at the Moose home amounted to $2,500 and at the Elks home about $1,500.

Forced Door Open

At the Moose home where the rear of the building is but one story high, the thieves climbed to the roof, entered through an unlocked bathroom window on the second floor, descended to the first floor and forced open the door to the barroom.

The safe, weighing about 1,500 or 2,000 pounds, was turned upside down in back of the counter and metal rivets were forced apart. The eight-inch concrete bottom of the safe was chiseled through to make an opening of six or seven inches in diameter, police reported. The cash register, emptied of its contents, was badly damaged.

At the Elks home, a screen was torn from a rear first floor window of a bathroom and the thieves gained entrance by forcing open the window. Once inside they forced open the door to the barroom, carried the safe, weighing about 1,000 pounds, from behind the bar and upset it in the middle of the barroom floor.

The metal bottom of the safe was chiseled open and then an opening six or seven inches in diameter was chiseled through the six-inch concrete base and the contents of the safe removed. A cash register, valued at $680 and smaller than the one at the Moose home, also was pried open and the contents removed.

Happened After 1:20 A. M.

Authorities said the robberies, termed the most daring in the history of Frostburg, took place between 1:20 a. m. when the last occupant of the Elks home departed for the night, and 7 a. m. yesterday when a bartender and janitor arrived at the Moose home.

The robbery at the Elks was discovered about 8:30 a. m. when Robert Sweitzer, a member of the order, arrived at the home to open the place for business. The Moose robbery was discovered by George Tennant, an extra bartender, and John Greening, a janitor, who arrived at the home about 7 a. m. They noticed papers strewn about the floor of the barroom and did not enter until the arrival of authorities some time later.

Fuller Davis, governor of the Moose lodge, estimated the loss at the lodge home to be about $2,500, but said he could not be certain until a complete check is made by the secretary, Walter Rank. The Moose loss, however, was partly protected by theft insurance.

No Insurance

The Elks loss, according to members of the lodge, will not be definitely known until a complete check is made. The loss there was not covered by insurance.

Once the thefts were discovered, Ronald L. Kreider, assistant chief of police at Frostburg, was summoned. He in turn notified County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle and State Trooper Glenn D. Polk who are conducting the investigation.

Man Acts To Block Wife's Divorce Suit

A petition was filed in Circuit Court yesterday morning by Charles L. Wotring, Cumberland railroader, to block a suit for divorce and alimony filed by his wife, Mrs. Motie B. Wotring in Mineral County Circuit Court.

Wotring, a widower, said he married again in 1944 and that he and Mrs. Wotring resided at 119 West First street but that she treated him cruelly and deserted him on June 1, 1944.

On January 11 this year, Mrs. Wotring filed a bill of complaint in Circuit Court seeking separate maintenance, and the bill was dismissed by the court, Wotring stated through his attorney, Edward J. Ryan.

In July of this year, Wotring was required by his work to go to Keyser, and he said his wife refused to accompany him but filed suit for absolute divorce and alimony against him in Mineral County court once he went there.

Wotring also said he found his wife in possession of his home here when he returned to this city. The court, in granting a temporary restraining order, said Mrs. Wotring must show cause why he should not be allowed the peaceful possession and occupation of his home without the occupation of others to whom he objects.

Rubber Employes To Resume Work At Kelly Today

Depts. 50-A And 52 Agree To Settle Grievance By Negotiation

Normal tire production at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant, crippled since Monday night when truck and passenger tire builders walked out in protest of what they termed an unfair distribution of work, is expected to resume today as a result of a union announcement that workers of Departments 50-A and 52 voted to return to work at 7 a. m. today and to reach a settlement of their grievance through negotiation.

Earl Johnson, vice president of Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America, announced yesterday that members of the department, at a meeting in the union hall at 10 a. m., voted unanimously to return to work this morning.

He said a union formula for the settlement of the grievance was worked out during the meeting and explained that an attempt will be made to reach an agreement at a meeting with Kelly officials, tentatively scheduled for 1 p. m. today.

Explains Grievance

Johnson said the grievance arose over the demand of the workers for equalization of opportunity to earn a fair day's pay on a comparable basis with the rest of the employes of the department.

A small group, he added, have been exceeding rates by far and thus cutting down the schedule of work on succeeding shifts since all scheduled stock has been used up. When that happens, he added, tire builders on later shifts must transfer to odd sized tires, take day work (hourly rated) jobs or be sent home.

Regis New, Pittsburgh, District 1 field representative, attended yesterday's meeting and will remain here for the settlement of the dispute which he predicted would be resolved today.

Union officials said the walkout was not authorized by Local 26 but added that no action was taken to term the stoppage unauthorized.

Predicts Full Operations

A company spokesman announced last night that full operations will resume today at 7 a. m. and added that he expected normal production schedules will be achieved today.

Only partial operations were being carried on yesterday since, he added, only about 41 per cent of the 7 a. m. to 3 p. m. shift were at their posts. No operations were being attempted in the truck tire room where the dispute arose, or in the calendar room which was closed due to lack of liners.

In a formal statement by the company after the stoppage occurred, the Kelly contended that an "employe working under incentive system should be free to produce and make earnings commensurate with his application of acquired skill and effort."

The goal of "60 members by charter night" was adopted at the last meeting and Wayne George, Fred P. Keyser, Hugh Funkhouser and C. Richard Hollar were named to the charter night committee. Others will be named this week and plans will be completed for the dinner-dance at which the club will make its bow in the community. Representatives of other men's civic clubs in Cumberland will be guests of the Optimists on that night.

Snakes Are Found On Piedmont Avenue

Myers on Saturday broke a broom over a 30-inch long copperhead on the lawn of his home, 218 Piedmont avenue.

Last night Mrs. Carrie Lewis, 207 Piedmont avenue, killed a 32-inch long copperhead with a club near her home. Myers said the latter snake had coiled, apparently to strike at a boy before Mrs. Lewis made the fatal attack. A half grown rat and a mouse were found in the snake's stomach when it was opened, Myers added.

Bargaining Agent To Be Elected At Potomac Edison

NLRB Orders Employe Ballot On Whether They Want CIO Union

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21. (AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today ordered that an election be held by secret ballot among employes of the Potomac Edison Company's Cumberland, Md., district to ascertain representatives for collective bargaining.

The employes are directed to vote on whether they desire to be represented by the Utility Workers of American, CIO.

The board specifies that the election must be held within 30 days. Hearing on the case was held at Cumberland, June 25.

James H. Dean, president of Local 331, Utility Workers Union of America, CIO, said last night that the regular procedure in holding such elections is to set a date agreeable to the company, the union and to the affected employes. The election is then conducted by a field examiner from Baltimore.

The local applied to the NLRB for approximately 30 employes in the line department, the two men of the substation construction and maintenance crew, and two line foremen to be included in the bargaining unit.

Yesterday Dean received notification from the three-man NLRB board in Washington that the election must be held within 30 days of August 20, the date of the directive, and that line foremen and the substation crew will be excluded from the bargaining unit.

Approximately 35 employes will be included—linemen, linemen helpers, groundmen, laborers, and the utility man and janitor at the North Centre street headquarters of the PE Cumberland line department, according to the directive.

Company officials objected to including the foremen, at the hearing held at City Hall June 25.

At present the local includes 60 members, employes at the river plant, the central steam heating plant on Union street, and employes stationed at the Celanese plant, where a power unit is located.

He also said that ex-Waves who enlist in the V-10 program may be sworn in at the same time. It was pointed out that enlistment in V-6 or V-10 adds to pay credit for years of service if the member later goes into active service.

Frank E. Smith, president of the Community Baking Company, was reported "about the same" in Memorial Hospital last night. Attaches added he has been "resting very well."

Is Fined For Assault

Hamilton Nelson, LaVale, was fined $5 and costs on a charge of assault at a hearing before Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in trial magistrates court yesterday.

Charges were preferred by John R. Lancaster, also of LaVale, who said Nelson assaulted his son, Robert, Tuesday. Magistrate Perdew said he was told Nelson kicked the Lancaster boy, who is about 13, with his bare foot. The trouble, it was reported, arose over the quarrel of two boys, one of whom threw grass in the other's face.

Terminal Plans Will Be Submitted "Very Soon"

Bus Representatives Have Decided On Bedford-Centre Street Site, Mayor Says

Plans for a modern bus terminal to be located at the corner of Bedford and Centre streets will be submitted to the Mayor and City Council "very soon," Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday, following a conference with representatives of leading bus lines running into Cumberland.

Although the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission disapproved of the proposed site at a meeting earlier this month and suggested four other possible locations, the bus company representatives indicated that the Bedford-Centre street location was the one which they wanted to use, the Mayor said.

Permits Required

Use of the site would require tearing down the present three-story building at that location, and the Mayor and Council would have to approve that action, Mayor Post said. Further necessary steps would include securing occupancy and building permits to erect the new structure, which will have a frontage of 165 feet on Centre and about 146 feet on Bedford street.

The proposed terminal will be a one-story building of concrete block, with a restaurant and waiting room which will be of attractive appearance as well as convenient to the public, the mayor said.

The present site was selected because it is more centrally located than other locations and because incoming and outgoing buses will not have to cross Baltimore street.

Mayor Post added that company officials informed him they hope to secure the services of a nationally known bus terminal architect to design the new terminal here.

In a discussion of traffic problems, it was stated that buses of the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company will use a driveway circling the terminal at the rear of the building, while buses of the Blue Ridge Transportation Company will use the broad driveway in front of the structure.

Another Meeting Asked

Ample parking space will be provided for nine buses, and there will be room for double parking, which would accommodate considerably more, company officials said.

The officials said they would like to meet with the Mayor and City Council in the near future to discuss further plans for the terminal, although no definite date was set.

Besides Mayor Post and Commissioner Myers G. Light, those attending the meeting were Henry W. Price, district manager of the Potomac Edison Company; Adolf Blunk, president of the Cumberland and Westernport Transit Company, and William B. Ludman, vice president; and A. F. McDonald, Hagerstown, in charge of Blue Ridge operations.

Judge Withholds Decision In Beer License Dispute

Applicant Says There Are No Licensed Places For Negroes In Frostburg

A decision was held in abeyance by Chief Judge William A. Huster in Circuit Court yesterday afternoon following a hearing on a remonstrance against issuance of a beer and wine license to Milton White, negro, for a cafe he operates for colored people in the basement of his home on Beall street, extended, Frostburg.

Some of the remonstrants, all white people, said yesterday that they oppose granting of the permit because the cafe is located in a residential neighborhood and they do not want such an establishment in the locality.

Edward J. Ryan, attorney for White, addressed the court briefly after Judge Huster said he would withhold his decision, and declared that he is opposed to unjust discrimination against colored people. He said he favors the underdog.

Judge Stops Argument

As Ryan completed his remarks, several of the remonstrants stated their opinions regarding the license, and amidst calls for order by Judge Huster, Ryan told them that if they would furnish the money, White could set up an establishment on his (Ryan's) back lot.

The attorney made this statement after the remonstrants asked him if he would like to have the cafe located near his home. As the argument continued, Judge Huster sharply ordered the participants to desist.

It was pointed out during the hearing that there is no licensed place whatever in Frostburg for negroes, and White told the court there is no place a colored man can take his wife unless they go to the back door of saloons.

Mrs. Ruth Todd, one of the protestants, said negroes could buy beer at the Cotton Club, but a search of the records disclosed a license has not been issued to that establishment.

Outside Town Limits

The premises for which White seeks the license is located just outside the Frostburg town limits, but Ryan pointed out that Frostburg police protection would be available because they have authority one mile outside the limits.

Michael Zumpano has applied for a beer and light wine license for an establishment in the same locality, and it was indicated yesterday that a remonstrance also will be filed against his application.

3 Baltimore Men Are Nabbed Here On Check Charge

State Police Wanted Trio In Connection With Case In Frederick

Three Baltimore men wanted by state police on charges of passing bad checks were arrested on McMullen highway yesterday at 6:15 p. m. by State Trooper Glen D. Folk as they drove to Cumberland in a "drive-it-yourself" car from the races at Fairgo.

Folk listed the men as Horace E. Conaway, 44, Edward A. Heinzerling, 38, and Robert T. Snyder, 35. He said he believes the trio also is wanted in other states on bad chack charges.

The trooper said state police here were asked in two teletype messages from Frederick, one Tuesday and one yesterday, to arrest the three Baltimoreans in connection with a bad check charge in Frederick.

The trio, police stated, stopped at a liquor store in Frederick Tuesday en route to Cumberland from Baltimore, where they hired the "drive-it-yourself" car, and that a woman became suspicious of them.

She jotted down their license number when they drove away and when investigation disclosed the check to be bogus, she notified police, officers reported.

A check of the license tag showed it was issued for a "drive-it-yourself" car which had been rented for a trip to Cumberland, and the arrest of the men yesterday followed, police said.

The three men were brought to the city jail here to await being returned to Frederick for identification and questioning.

Lt. Charles W. Magaha, commander of Troop B, of the state police, returned Conaway to Frederick, and Sgt. Elwood O'Hara, of Barracks B, Frederick, took the other two men back to that community.

Marine Platoon Is Not Coming Aug. 28

The Cumberland platoon of the United States Marine Corps will not come home as a group on August 28 as had previously been announced, Staff Sgt. Murrell Brainerd, of the local recruiting office, said yesterday. All plans for their reception have been cancelled. However, members of the platoon should receive individual furloughs in about two weeks.

The platoon was part of the 3,000 men flown out of Parris Island, S. C., yesterday morning. They were transferred to relieve experienced men who are being sent overseas and to make room at Parris Island for the wave of new recruits which arrived the past week. Of the 3,000 men flown out, 1,000 who had completed four weeks of boot training in general service were sent to Quantico, Va. or Camp Lejeune, N. C. Over 2,000 who have completed six weeks of boot training in aviation were transferred to Cherry Point, N. C. They will complete their basic training, be reassigned, and then given 10-day furloughs. All men were transferred on a few hours notice, according to Capt. M. A. Bruder, of the Marine recruiting office in Baltimore.

Capt. Bruder was in Cumberland yesterday to present service citations to an ex-Marine, Pfc Nile Glenn Lechliter, Cresaptown. The Distinguished Flying Cross with a gold star and the Air Medal with five gold stars, presented for "extraordinary achievement and meritorious service," were awarded under the auspices of the recruiting division of the Marine Corps.

Kaylor said, however, that he could not disclose in advance the program for the meeting since he was authorized by Warfield the chairman, to say only that the purpose of the session is to develop co-ordination in the management of natural resources.

There were 18 members of the board and guests present at New Germany last night, and more are expected to arrive this morning to swell attendance to 25 or 30 men.

Kopp Issues Call For More Teachers

An appeal for help in filling 17 elementary teaching positions, including one principalship, was issued yesterday by Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

Kopp termed the situation "really serious," and said it is necessary to staff the schools so the Board of Education can carry out its duty of educating children. He pointed out that the board will "appreciate it" if all persons who can qualify under emergency regulations, which require a minimum of two years' college training, will offer themselves as candidates for positions.

The only teachers available after trying all summer are those living in this locality, Kopp stated, because in other communities the situation is as bad or worse. He pointed out that it may be possible in a number of instances for assignments to be made to teachers within a reasonable distance of their homes where they have home responsibilities.

In addition to Cumberland there are vacancies at Piney Plains, where a principal is needed, Oldtown and Flintstone. The superintendent said he believed it will be possible to fill all vacancies in the high schools with the exception of industrial arts departments where five teachers are needed. Girls' physical education and art teachers also are sought, and a footbell coach is needed at Allegany High School.

Eleven Teams Entered In Pulling Contest

Nine other teams are being entered by Washington County farmers, and McHenry said it still is not too late for Allegany County farmers to enter the contest. Entries will be accepted by Clarence Miller, Midland, or at McHenry's office.

All teams entered must be at the Cumberland Stockyards at 5 p. m. the day of the contest to weigh in, McHenry said.

He added that the deadline for entering cattle for exhibit is now passed.

Motorist Explains How Local Man Was injured

In an accident report filed at police headquarters yesterday, Melvin A. Snyder, 716 Bedford street, explained the circumstances surrounding the injury of a 73-year-old local man last Friday.

The injured man, W. R. Zimmerla, 158 Frederick street, was admitted to Allegany Hospital for treatment of a chest injury and later released.

Snyder explained the accident occurred during the American Legion convention parade and that he was backing his car along the left curb when the front door of the vehicle came open and struck Zimmerla, who was walking on the sidewalk.

The injured man was unable, after the accident, to tell Officer J. Carl Stouffer, who investigated for city police, the name of the driver of the vehicle.
